PREFACE.

FOR twenty-five years the writer has devoted much time to gathering the scattered records of his father's family, and it would seem that this time had been wasted if the material collected was not preserved and made available to others interested.

Doubtless many families and individuals do not receive the prominence to which they are entitled, but the writer has given all the information that he has been able to obtain. If the entire book was as complete as Part III, presumably it would exceed one thousand pages. The proof has been compared with the original sources of information, as far as was practicable, including about twelve hundred letters, family manuscripts and postal cards.

The letters and postals were classified and mounted in books, that they might be thus used; but this method, necessary if accuracy was to be realized, added greatly to the labor of proof reading.

Data furnished by correspondents are often conflicting, and the records not as full as they should be. The present edition has been edited with the greatest care, and the compiler has had long experience, both in business and historical work, where exactness was essential; but it would be remarkable if no errors were found.

The first edition was issued in 1882, and was intended as a pioneer work, but the second edition, which appeared in 1885, was evidently premature, as much important matter was then unknown to the writer.

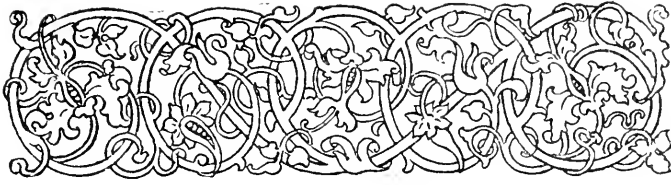

The arrangement of the present edition is influenced by considerations of convenience, and by the fact that the volume is a somewhat elaborate family history rather than a mere genealogy.

Only a small edition has been printed, as the demand for such books is limited, but the writer hopes to perpetuate in these pages the records of an old New England family, and to interest future generations in their forefathers.

NATHANIEL CLARKE

AND

PART I.

THE town of Newbury, Massachusetts, was settled about 1635 by English emigrants. "Some of the principal inhabitants of Ipswich, obtaining leave of the general court to remove to Quascacunquen, began a town at that place, and called it Newbury. Mr. Parker, a learned minister, who had been an assistant of Mr. Ward in the ministry at Ipswich accompanied them." "Mr. Parker, and the people with whom he now removed, came from Wiltshire in England."

(Holmes's Annals of America, p. 227.)

The Indian name of Newbury is usually written Wessacucon.

Careful research has thus far failed to disclose evidence of the birth place or parentage of Nathaniel Clarke, and he does not appear to have been nearly related to any of the Clarks or Clarkes early settled in New England.

According to Savage and other authorities, there were not less than thirty different families of the name of Clark or Clarke who came to New England before 1700. Of several of these races extensive genealogies have been published, and there is much in print relating to others.

The writer has been unable to learn anything of Nathaniel Clarke prior to his marriage in 1663.

From 1665 to 1669 Newbury was divided by a bitter controversy between the friends of the Rev. Thomas Parker and those of Mr. Edward Woodman, men of talents and ability. Mr. Woodman affirmed that "Mr. Parker would set up a Prelacy, and have more power than the Pope, for the Pope had his council of Cardinals." Nathaniel Clarke and many other prominent men were of Mr. Parker's party.

Nathaniel was a witness to a petition, dated 13 March, 1669, to the Court at Ipswich, relative to this church dissension, and his name appears throughout the controversy. The list of church members, dated 1675, contains the names of Nathaniel Clarke and his wife, but they were doubtless members much earlier.

On 11 September, 1666, he signed the petition of Newbury "relative to the King's displeasure."

At the session of the General Court beginning 29 April, 1668, he was admitted a Freeman.

In 1670 he was chosen together with William Chandler "to lay out y^e high way to y^e Ferry place in Amesbury" and the trace of the old road as laid out by them over Bailey's Hill is still visible.

(Merrill's History of Amesbury, pp. 95, 96.)

In 1673 the Court authorized Nathaniel Clarke of Newbury to take and kill sturgeon. (Court Records.)

On 11 October, 1681, he signed a petition for a magistrate for Newbury, and 24 March, 1682, he with three others made an inventory of the estate of George Carr.

The Trade and Navigation Acts were unpopular, and constantly violated. In September, 1682, Edward Randolph, collector of customs, brought suit against several owners of vessels, but failed and appealed to the King in Council. Among those prosecuted were "Nathan^l Clark and Daniel Davison of Newberry Owners of the Ketch Nuberry seized for bringing 40 Pipes of wines directly from the Canary's and unlieuering the same in this Colony before Entry contrary to the 15th of the King." A "Ketch" was a vessel with two masts, usually from 100 to 250 tons burthen.

In 1683 William Morse of Newbury appointed "his loving friends Capt. Daniel Peirce, Tristram Coffin, and Nathaniel Clarke" overseers of his will, and in the will of Anthony Somerby, dated 22 January, 1685, is the following clause: "And Desire my trusty & well beloved freinds my brother Tristram Coffin & my Cousen Nathaniel Clark senr to be the overseers of my last will & testament."

In May, 1684, he was appointed naval officer for the ports of Newbury and Salisbury by the General Court, in answer to a petition of inhabitants of those towns, and at the session beginning 4 June, 1685, ensign of Capt. Daniel Peirce's company at Rowley, vice Stephen Greenleaf promoted. Capt. Peirce and other officers petitioned for these promotions 25 May, 1685, stating that Nathaniel Clarke was the oldest sergeant in the company.

(Massachusetts Records, Vol. V.)

In 1685 the estate of John Hutchins was indebted to "Mr. Nathaniel Clarke of Nubery."

GREAT ISLAND, August 13th, 1687.

To his excellency Edmund Andros :

SIR,—

Your excellency may please to remember I proposed some persons as fitting to serve his majesty in the town of Newbury both in civil and military affairs. On my return to this place I had discourse with several persons, the most considerable of that town, that by want of justices of the peace, nothing hath been done at the meeting of those inhabitants for settling the rates and other concerns of the publick. Mr. Woodbridge, one of the justices is very ancient and crazy and seldom goes abroad; Mr. Dummer the other justice lives six miles from the place and therefore very unfit for that service for the town of Newbury, besides his other qualities in not being of the loyal party as he ought to be. I doe therefore entreat of your excellency, that in the commission of the peace my two friends Daniel Pierce and Nathaniel Clarke may be put, which I assure myself will be for his majesty's service and to your excellency's satisfaction. There are no military commissions sent to that place and therefore I doe entreat your excellency's favour that commissions be sent these following persons. Daniel Davison, captain of horse for Newbury and Rowley. Stephen Greenleaf junior lieutenant. George March cornet. Of the first company Thomas Noyes captain, Stephen Greenleaf senior lieutenant, James Noyes ensign. Of the second company Nathaniel Clarke captain, John March lieutenant, Moses Gerrish ensign. * * * * *

Your excellency's servant

ROBERT MASON.*

* (Mason was of the Governor's Council. For entire letter see Coffin's History of Newbury, p. 149.)

On 2 June, 1690, he took the depositions of Joseph, an Indian, and of Robin, a negro, concerning the supposed treasonable communication of Isaac Morrill with the French. The following fac-simile is from a tracing, and hardly does justice to the original signature.

(Essex County Court Papers, Vol. XLIX, p. 57.)

"At a legall meeting of the freemen & Towne March 1st 1679-80 Nathaniel Clarke propofed for a parcell of the flats on the South east side of the Point of Rocks that was granted to Capt. White about thre Rods broad at hy water mark and fo to low water mark to make a wharf. This proposition was voted and granted but the Townes Inhabitants shall have free liberty to land goods upon it provided they do not let them ly to Damnify the owner, and the wharf is to be made up within thre yeares or else if it be not done then the land is to return to the Towne again." This is from a copy ; the original is illegible.

"March 4, 1682 The Select men of Newbury ordered and appointed Sergt. Nathaniel Clarke to warn Evan Morris out of the towne of Newbury."

"At a Legal meeting of the Select men May 3^d 1682 We the Select men of Newbury do order & appoint Serg. Nathaniel Clarke to answer the Compl^t of the Towne of Topsfeild concerning Euan Morris at the adiournement of the Court of Ipswich which will bee the ninth Day of May 1682 And hereby we do give him full power to present the Cafe."

In 1668 29 shillings were paid to him out of the town rates for services, etc. ; in 1670 £2, 11s. ; in 1672 the town rate was £100, and 5s., 6d. was paid him ; in 1673 17s. ; 1674 £7, 12s., 6d. ; 1675 £8, 18s. ; 1677 £1, 4s. ; 1678 8s. ; 1682 £1, 17s., 6d.

On 1 January, 1684, his tax for the payment of the town debt and for the schoolmaster's salary amounted to 17s., 9d., and in 1685 to 7s., 3d. in money, and 14s., 6d. in "corne" for Mr. Richardson's salary. On 18 November, 1685, "Enfig: Clarke" was assessed 8s., 4d. in "corne" and 4s., 2d. in "mony" as his share of the "Country Rate" On 8 December, 1685, his county tax was 4s., 2d. In 1685 his part of the Town Rate was 4s., and 21 December, he was assessed 4s., 3d. His town rate 4 January, 1686/7, was "£1-0-4"

In 1682 the selectmen were John Bartlett, Nathaniel Clarke, Joseph Bailey and Samuel Ordway, and that year Nathaniel was on a committee chosen by the town to lay out a road "in the bounds of Newbury." This road was voted in connection with one laid out by the town of Andover.

In April, 1682, Nathaniel was one of the persons placed in the new seats in the gallery of the meeting house.

On 10 March, 1684/5, "Serg^t Nathaniel Clarke and William Noyes were Chofen to Serve upon the jury of tryales at Ipswich Court next."

On 5 March, 1686, he was on a committee to divide common lands, and 19 June, 1686, he was chosen one of the committee, composed of the leading men of the town, to arrange the division among the freeholders of a large tract of common land lying above Artichoke River, afterward known as the "Rate lots," and agreeably to the report forty-five acres were set off to him and to his eldest son.

A town record dated 13 February, 1704/5, informs us that in the drawing of lots "for y^e Share of flats" "Enf: Nath^l Clark" 119, Jonathan Clark 21. This doubtless refers to the original shares.

In June, 1686, the selectmen recommended Nathaniel among those "to Serve on juries who are freeholdes."

On 9 December, 1686, the selectmen appointed a committee to investigate the town's right to "Salt Marsh in plum Island" "Cap T^{ho} Noyes & Ensign Nath^l Clark ^wr chofen for y^e S^d service."

In 1687 he signed orders as selectman; his colleagues were Tristram Coffin, Richard Bartlett, Daniel Peirce and Joseph Bailey.

On 25 May, 1688, Capt. Daniel Peirce was chosen first selectman "Ensign Nath^l. Clark chofen y^e Second Select man," Major Daniel Davison third, Ensign Jacob Toppan fourth, and Capt. Thomas Noyes was chosen "Comifion E."

The early Newbury records are rather meagre, are not strictly chronological, and on some pages the ink has entirely faded out.

Nathaniel was not a selectman in 1689 or 1690. He was constable 1667, 1668, tythingman in 1679, 1681 (appointed by selectmen 25 April), 1682 and 1685, selectman in 1682, 1687, 1688, and probably other years. In some years the tythingmen were appointed by the selectmen.

On 30 August, 1688, D. Peirce, D. Davison, Nath'l Clarke and Jacob Toppan, selectmen of Newbury, met with the commissioner, Thomas Noyes, and prepared a list of all the persons above fourteen years of age, and of all the taxable property in town, "according to y^e act of Councill." "Ensigⁿ Clarke" had in his family three male persons over fourteen years of age, and owned 4 houses, 14 acres of plowland, 16 of meadow, 10 of pasture, 2 horses, 1 one year old, 4 oxen, 5 cows, 30 sheep and 3 hogs. Nathaniel, Jr., had in his family two male persons over fourteen years of age, and owned 2 houses, 6 acres of plowland, 4 of meadow, 1 horse, 2 oxen, 2 cows, 12 sheep and 1 hog. The whole rate of the town was £60, 2s., 6d.

Abstracts from Registry of Deeds, Salem. It will be noticed that almost invariably the name is written Clarke rather than Clark in these deeds. As to the spelling of words there was then no standard.

On 10 September, 1664, Nathaniel Clarke of Newbury bought of John Woolcutt of Newbury "and Mary my wife" for £4, 5s. "all that parcel of land which was Henry Travers his portion of devident land lately purchased of Nicholas Wallington containing by estimation Seaven acres" "lying & being in Newbury in the field

(Ipswich Deeds, Lib. II, fol. 391.)

Morse reserved the right to remove his crops and "My wife to dwell in the house untill the last Day of Aprill next." "In witness whereof I the abovesayd Robert Morse An my wife have sett our hands & seales the seaventh day of July in the yeare of our Lord God one thousand Six hundred Sixty Six In the eighteenth yeare of our dread soveraigne Lord Charles the Second of Great Britaine ffrance & Ireland King defens fidi It is also agred before the ensealeing hereof that if Hugh Marsh require to sett a reeke of Hay behind the house in the winter he Shall have liberty prvided he fence it in severally as far as Roberts deed doth alow." (Old Norfolk Deeds, Lib. III, fol. 352.)

Nathaniel Clarke is called ensign in the Newbury records, and was sometimes entitled “Hon^{ble}” when mentioned by his cotemporaries. He died on Monday, 25 August, 1690, aged about 48. Judge Sewall wrote in his famous diary under date of 29 August, 1690, “Nathan^l Clarke of Newbury buried this week, died Aug^t 25”, and also mentions seeing Nathaniel at the funeral of Capt. Gerrish at Salem, Thursday, 11 August, 1687.

Nathaniel lived near the Merrimack River, in what is now Newburyport, not far from the southwest corner of Water and Lime Streets. The wharf and warehouse were a little to the northeast of the present custom house. The Year-book of the Massachusetts Society of Colonial Wars, for 1898, contains a sketch of the life of Nathaniel Clarke by George Kuhn⁸ Clarke.

The following is an exact copy of the original inventory filed with the will in the office of the Clerk of the Courts at Salem. In some instances, however, the writer is unable to decide whether the letter S is intended to be a capital or not. The names of the appraisers do not appear.

In this inventory the signs used to indicate pounds and shillings are lb and s written over the figures. The modern signs are used because it is difficult to reproduce the old forms. The number of words per line in the printed matter varies slightly from the arrangement in the original. For example, the first line of the latter includes the words "adjoyning and".

An Inventory taken this 27 day of September 1690 of y^e estate of Nathaniel Clark of Newbury, prized as money.

Nathaniel Clarke married in Newbury, 23 November, 1663,* Elizabeth, born there 1 November, 1646, died in Exeter, N. H., 15 March, 1716, daughter of Henry and Judith (Greenleaf) Somerby. Henry Somerby was the second son of Richard Somerby of Little Bytham in Lincolnshire, where his family had been eminently respectable for several generations. The mother of Mrs. Clarke was the daughter of Capt. Edmund Greenleaf, who was probably of French origin, and was one of the early settlers of Newbury, having come there from Ipswich, Suffolk, England, not later than 1638. Greenleaf was perhaps a translation of Feuillevert, the original French name of the family.

The births of all Nathaniel's children are recorded in Newbury. They were

 2. ii. Nathaniel² b. 13 Mar. 1666, d. Oct. 1690.
 - iii. Thomas² b. 9 Feb. 1667[-8], d. 25 Apr. 1722.

* The late Mr. Joshua Coffin, historian of Newbury, in an interesting letter to the late Honorable William Cogswell⁶ Clarke of Manchester, N. H., states that Nathaniel Clarke and Elizabeth Somerby were married in the house occupied by himself at the time of writing, and by Tristram Coffin, step-father of the bride, in 1663. The house was visited by the writer in August, 1897. The southeastern part, said to have been built by Henry Somerby, who died in 1652, has been long used for storage, but is now (1897) being put in order. It is a very curious and interesting place. The remainder of the house was built by Tristram Coffin, who married the widow of Henry Somerby, and is in good condition. It contains many relics of the past. "Ould Newbury," by John J. Currier, has a good picture of this house.

The students were then ranked in the catalogue according to the prominence of their families. From the original in the Suffolk County probate files.

The only indication that Mrs. Jenkins may have had children is the reference in this inventory to “2 Childrens Blankets.” From the brief account of Joseph How, the administrator, dated 24 February, 1764, it appears that he had paid

To 12 pr Gloves £1, 19s. To Cash paid Dr Mather £1.
To D^o pd Porters for Carryg Corps &c £1, 2s.
To D^o pd for Coffin £2.

Apparently Thomas Jenkins was not successful in acquiring this world's goods, but on the contrary his widow at her decease possessed no part of the real estate which she inherited from her father.

FROM THE REGISTRY OF DEEDS AT SALEM.

On 23 September, 1737, "Thomas Jenkins of Boston" "Mariner & Judith his Wife formerly Judith Clark one of y^e Daughters of Nath^l Clark late of Newbury in New England" sold for £5 to James Wise of Newbury, Yeoman, all their rights "to a Certain Warehouse and parcel of Land and flatts in Newbury Aforesaid About [?–] Rods broad at High Water mark and So to Lowwater mark which flatts were in y^e Year One Thousand Six hundred and Seventy nine granted to the s^d Nath^l Clark father of me y^e s^d Judith and by the Said Nathaniels Last Will & Testam^t ordered to be Disposed of to be Divided to his [wife] & his Son John & his Three Daughters of which I the s^d Judith am one."

xi. Mary² b. 25 Mar. 1689, d. before 21 Aug. 1690.

Daniel² Clarke was baptized by the Rev. John Richardson on the Sunday following 19 December, 1675, and was the second child baptized by him. Sarah² was baptized by the same minister 24 February, 1677/8, Josiah² 7 May, 1682, and Elizabeth² 18 May, 1684.

The Newbury record of births, which is a copy, calls Josiah "Joseph." The church records prior to 1674 are lost or destroyed. It is probable that all the children of Nathaniel Clarke were baptized.

Mrs. Clarke married 8 August, 1698, the Rev. John Hale, A. M., of Beverly, the same who had been chaplain in the expedition against Canada, and was father of Dr. Robert Hale who married her daughter Elizabeth,² and was admitted to the church in Beverly 17 September, 1699, by recommendation of the church in Newbury. Mr. Hale died 15 May, 1700, aged 64.

"The third public burial place was on the rising ground now occupied by the First Congregational Church. Here the Rev. Messrs. Odlin, and many of their contemporaries were buried. The head stones were—for what reason I cannot divine—leveled and buried above the bones which they commemorated many years ago. Only one of them, sunk several inches below the surface of the earth, remains half visible to remind the present generation that the ashes of their forefathers repose beneath. Removing the earth and long grass with a spade, I succeeded in deciphering the inscription upon the sunken horizontal slate stone slab, 'Mrs. Elizabeth Hale Relict of y^e Reverend M^r: John Hale Late Pastor of y^e church in Beverly and SOMETIME wife to Nathaniel Clark Esq. Late of Newbry Dec'^d who died March ye 15th 1716 aged 71 ye^{rs}.'"*

From documents at Salem it is evident that she was better educated than most women of her time.

Nathaniel Clarke was probably buried in the Old Town graveyard, but the place is unknown to the writer. Mr. Joshua Coffin copied from the records of the First Church in Newbury a list of prominent church members with dates of death and ages at decease. It is therein stated that Nathaniel Clarke was forty-eight years old.

The Essex Antiquarian, Vol. III, pp. 31, 32, gives the inscriptions from the gravestones, in Beverly, of the Rev. John Hale, and of several members of his family, including Elizabeth² (Clarke) Hale-Gilman. The remains were removed to a Hale lot when the Abbott road was built, and some cloth was found in the grave of the Rev. John Hale. Sibley's Harvard Graduates, Vol. I, contains a very good sketch of the life of Rev. John Hale, who by his second wife, Sarah Noyes, was great-grandfather of Capt. Nathan Hale, executed as a spy by the British at New York 22 September, 1776. Mr. Sibley repeats the troublesome error contained in Joshua Coffin's History of Newbury that Nathaniel Clarke, husband of Elizabeth (Somerby), was mortally wounded in the expedition to Canada. It was his son. See Probate papers at Salem.

Prior to the incorporation of Newburyport, 1764, there were families of Clarks in Newbury who were not descended from Nathaniel, and in 1800 his descendants represented a minority of the Clarks in Newburyport. At the present time there are no Clarks or Clarkes of the race of Nathaniel in either Newbury or Newburyport. One family located in the latter place for more than a hundred years, and at one time largely represented, came from Amesbury, and is descended from Edward, one of the early settlers of Haverhill. Other Clarks came from the British dominions, perhaps attracted by the shipping. All who were sprung from Nathaniel of Newbury have been, as far as the writer can learn, people of good character.

Judith Greenleaf, who married firstly, Henry Somerby, and secondly, 2 March, 1652/3, Tristram Coffin, Jr., was the mother of Elizabeth Somerby, wife of Nathaniel Clarke, and consequently ancestress of all the descendants of Nathaniel, and the inscription on her gravestone in the westerly corner of the Old Town burying ground at Newbury ought to be of interest to her children's children through all generations. The stone, like many others of the period, was probably cut and carved in England or Wales, and lettered here. It reads

* Nathaniel² (Nathaniel') of Newbury, was born there 13 March, 1666, died October, 1690, and was probably buried at sea. He married 15 December, 1685, Elizabeth, born 16 October, 1665, daughter of Dr. Peter and Jane (Batt) Toppan, and sister of the Rev. Christopher Toppan, A. M. Dr. Peter Toppan was son of Abraham⁵ Toppan, selectman of Newbury in 1638, whose son Jacob built, in 1674, the house which is still standing in Toppan's Lane. Abraham was fourth in descent from Robert of Linton, near Pately Bridge, in the West Riding of York, where the family continue to the present day among the most respectable of that county.

Lieutenant-Colonel Henry Toppan of the Royalist army, killed at the battle of Marston Moor, 1644, was a first cousin of Abraham Toppan of Newbury, and son of his (Abraham's) uncle Edward, who was a counsellor of Gray's Inn. The family were armigers, that is, entitled to coat armor.

Mr. J. Henry Lea traced with accuracy the ancestry of Jane Batt five generations in England, counting her father Christopher Batt, who came to New England. The Batts were substantial citizens of Salisbury, England. Jane Batt was a great-granddaughter of

* Whenever a name appears as the head of a family with a number prefixed, the surname Clark or Clarke is to be understood in all cases. The number in small type to the right of the name is the number of the generation, and the name following in parentheses is that of the father of the person preceding.

Henry Byley, also of Salisbury. See the New England Historical and Genealogical Register for 1897, '98, and a reprint.

Susanna (Taylor) was the wife of Abraham Toppan, and mother of Dr. Peter Toppan.

Mrs. Elizabeth (Toppan) Clarke married secondly, James Wise of Newbury.

In 1686 the town granted to Nathaniel Clark, Jr., one acre of marsh from Henry Somerby's grant.

In 1690 he went in the disastrous expedition against the French in Canada, and was mortally wounded there on board the ship "Six Friends" in October of the same year.

It is an interesting fact that in consequence of the service of this young man, who lost his life, as did many others, during the long struggle between the English and the French for supremacy in North America, his descendant in the sixth generation, George Kuhn⁸ Clarke, was in 1897 admitted to the Society of Colonial Wars.

The following are from the original papers in the Probate office at Salem.

These are to signify to all whome it may concerne y^t Nathaniel Clark Jn^e of Newbury in N England beeing in y^e late Canada Expedition wounded & aboard the Six ffriends I perceiving him like to dye did among other discourses aske him if he had made his will. This Testament I brought with me to Ne Eng'l & sent word to his relations at Newbury & shortly after Mr. Peter Toppan & his wife came to my house and desired to receive y^e will w^{ch} I delivered to them & putt it into his hand (to y^e best of my remembrance) but am sure y^t between them they had it from me & I delivered it that it might be confirmed and published according to y^e desire of y^e Testator.

Peter Toppan and wife were summoned before Bartholomew Gedney at 11 o'clock, 28 September, 1694.

The widow, Elizabeth, was appointed administratrix 24 July, 1693, and gave a bond for £500 with Peter Toppan and Francis Ellis as sureties. The appraisers of the estate were Tristram Coffin and Henry Lunt.

THIRD GENERATION.

Nathaniel³ (*Nathaniel*²) of Newbury, cordwainer, was born there 29 July, 1689, and was probably the "Mr. Clark" who died there 3 May, 1753.

On 18 September, 1722, Thomas Hale, Esq., was appointed "to answer to Samuel Dole Nathaniel Clark & others relating to a High way in Newbury near crane pond." Nathaniel was a surveyor of highways in 1736, '37, '39, '42, '48, '49, hogreave 1738, '39, sealer of leather 1740.

(Town Records.)

The following deeds are from the Registry at Salem, and in all of them he is described as of Newbury, and his occupation that of a cordwainer. Clark is spelled without a final e in these deeds unless the contrary is indicated.

On 31 May, 1710, John Rolfe of Newbury, shipwright, sold to Nathaniel Clark of Newbury, cordwainer, for £110, "y^t mansion or dwelling house" and one and one-half acres of land "in a field there comonly known by y^e Name of y^e littlefield" in Newbury. Bounded on land "formerly belonging to Nath^{el} Clark Jun^r" and on land of Richard Lowell. A right of way was reserved as follows "& at y^e end of Said house So bought to Come within two foot of Said house from Ezra Cottels dwelling house to y^e s^d house now Sold by me" Wife Martha appeared and released dower. James Wise a witness to this deed.

(Lib. XXII, fol. 158.)

This property was at or near the northeast corner of what is now High and Lime Streets in Newburyport. See map on page 119 of Currier's "Ould Newbury." Mr. John J. Currier thinks that the place shown on the map is the one where Nathaniel Clarke, who died in October, 1690, had lived, and not the Rolfe place.

On 1 August, 1710, he sold "one ffull & just eight part of a ffreehold Lott of Land" in Newbury, near the Merrimac River, to Joseph Brown for £10. There were twenty acres.

(Lib. XXVIII, fol. 198.)

On 14 August, 1710, he and his wife sold to John Greenleaf for £17 all rights which he "Shoomaker and Sarah Clark my wife daughter of Mr. Samuel Greenleafe late of Newbury" had in "one Sixth part of his dwelling house & land by M^r Mayos." also in certain outlying lands.

(Lib. XXXI, fol. 110.)

On 17 January, 1710/11, he sold for £60 "paid well & truly by my Loving uncles Thomas Clark & Henry Clark both of Newbury" all his rights in "thee Estate Real & Personall of my Honourd Grandfather Nathaniel Clark late of Newbury," and also his rights in a "tract of land lying in y^e upper woods in y^e Township of Newbury being a Rate Lott in y^e Eight Division" "Said lot was formerly laid out to my honered Grandfather Nathaniel Clark deced as aforesaid & to my honered father Nathaniel Clark late of Newbury deced" "Except my right in comonage" There were forty-five acres.

(Lib. XXV, fol. 95.)

On 26 February, 1710/11, he sold to James Wise for £40 "all that right Title Interest and benifit that Ever did may or Shall at any time hereafter acruer unto me the Said Nathaniel Clark Except what I now have in possession by virtue of the last will and Testament of Daniel Somersby Late of Newbury" Josiah Clark was a witness.

(Lib. XXIII, fol. 52.)

On 23 March, 1711, he sold to Daniel Thurston for £2, 5s. about one acre of salt marsh "in a place Commonly Called Newbury Neck on y^e South Side of y^e river parker."

On 23 April, 1714, he sold to Samuel Toppan for £21 three or four acres of salt marsh "which s^d lott Joineth on little pine Island” “So running to y^e Island by y^e lott of Thomas Clark.”

(Lib. XXVII, fol. 251.)

On 28 September, 1715, he sold to James Brickett for £14 two and one-half acres of marsh “by Plumb Iland Beach.”

(Lib. XXIX, fol. 211.)

On 4 February, 1715/16, Nathaniel Clark of Newbury sold for £11 paid “by my Uncle Thomas Clark & Henry Clark” both of Newbury. “All y^e rights or priviledges in all or any of y^e lands in y^e Township of Newbury afores^d which did or in any wise might Could or Should have belonged to me y^e above named Nathaniel Clark as I am y^e Eldest Son & Heir of my honoured father Nathaniel Clark deceased or y^t did Could or Should in any wise have belonged to my s^d ffather in by from or under my honoured Grandfather M^r Nathaniel Clark of Newbury deceased as he was a ffreeholder & as he was one who pay^d rates in s^d Newbury by Vertue whereof he had a right in Comon or Undivided land in Newbury afores^d.”

“Together with all y^e land & lotts of land which are or Shall be layd out to y^e aboves^d rights of my s^d Grandfather or my s^d ffathers rights in y^e Township of Newbury” Reference is made to the previous deed to his uncles 17 January, 1710/11, and this one is intended to include everything not therein conveyed.

(Lib. XXXI, fol. 55.)

The following “Land Bank Mortgage” is copied in part as a curiosity. The original contains an extraordinary number of words.

On 13 February, 1716/17, Nathaniel Clark, of Newbury, Cordwainer, mortgaged to the commissioners "appointed by Vertue of an Act of y^e Great Generall Court of y^e s^d province Entitled An Act for y^e making and Emitting y^e Sums of one hundred thousand poundes in Bills of Credit on this province" for £80. (Lib. CXXXII, fol. 22.)

On 14 July, 1718, he sold for £80 in Province Bills, and forty acres of woodland and swamp, to Christopher Toppan of Newbury land “Containing by Estimation Seven Acres & half be it More or Less butted & bounded Northerly on y^e Land of y^e Heirs of Henry Lunt Dece^d Southerly partly on y^e Land now in y^e possession of Stephen Akerman & partly on a Lane or way Runing Down to Merrimack River. NATHANIEL CLARKE

No. 1 is now Buxton, Me., and a committee laid out the first division, twenty-three lots, 17 November, 1735. In "a Raing of lots by letter A," Nathaniel drew on right of his great uncle "Daniel Summersby" (elsewhere described as "heir by will" of Daniel Somerby) lot No. 3, and in "a Raing of lots by letter C," he drew on the right of Jonathan Clarke lot No. 21. There was a Jonathan Clarke in Newbury in early times, and he may have been a brother of the first Nathaniel, and the one on whose right this Nathaniel drew No. 21. It does not appear what became of these lots, and it seems certain that none of Nathaniel's immediate descendants settled on them.

It may cause surprise that sometimes the final e appears in the name of Clark, and sometimes it does not. This is not an inconsistency of the author, but of his ancestors. It has occurred in different signatures of the same person.

Nathaniel died intestate and insolvent, and his son Ebenezer was appointed administrator 5 August, 1754.

There are doubtless old gravestones in existence that would supply missing data for this genealogy, and five burying-grounds were visited, including the one at Sawyer's Hill in West Newbury, in the hope of finding the gravestone of Nathaniel,³ or that of some member of his family, but without result.

He married in Newbury, 7 March, 1709, Rev. Christopher Toppan officiating (intention 22 February, 1709), Sarah, born in Newbury, 3 November, 1692, daughter of Samuel and Sarah (Kent) Greenleaf, and great grand-daughter of Capt. Edmund Greenleaf and of Tristram Coffin, first magistrate of Nantucket. Sarah Kent was daughter of John and Sarah (Woodman) Kent, and grand-daughter of Lieutenant Edward Woodman, member of the first board of selectmen of Newbury, and for four years deputy to the General Court.

The births of Samuel, Elizabeth and Stephen are recorded at Newbury. Rev. Christopher Toppan baptized a child named Sarah Clark on 15 June (26 Jan. ?), 1715, and also another Sarah on 17 June, 1716, and one named Stephen Clark 16 July, 1723.

About 1840 Robert⁶ Clark of Newburyport told Hon. William Cogswell⁶ Clarke of Manchester, N. H., that his grandfather had these brothers, Daniel of Brentwood, N. H., John of Stratham, N. H., Ebenezer of West Newbury and Nathaniel of Haverhill, and a sister Sarah who married Benjamin Dole.

He also said that there was a Samuel or Moses at Stratham, N. H., who was a Deacon, and whom he supposed to have been son of his great-uncle John. These facts were corroborated by Sarah Smith, aged 82, and by her brother. Mr. Clarke took notes of their statements, and these notes have been seen by the writer. Sarah Greenleaf, wife of Nathaniel Clark, was the only daughter of Samuel³ Greenleaf, who died when his children were young. Her brothers were Daniel, John, Stephen and Samuel, and this fact may account for the names of some of her children. The Greenleafs were a prominent family, and many of them held civil and military offices.

Samuel[†] (*Nathaniel*³) of Hampton and Stratham, N. H., died in Stratham, 15 November, 1757: although conclusive evidence is lacking, there seems to be no reasonable doubt of his identity with the child born in Newbury, 23 April, 1710. We have the following important facts bearing upon this question. He was of the right age, and was married in Salisbury, the next town to Newbury, and his eldest child was born there. There seems to have been no other Samuel Clark in Salisbury or Newbury at the time of his marriage. He was a fuller, a family trade, and John[†] Clark, the son of Nathaniel,³ went to Stratham, and apparently worked in the same mill with him. This Samuel was not sprung from any of the families of Clarks whose pedigree has been traced, and the more numerous family of the name at Stratham are of a different race. Some of Samuel's descendants claim that they are by tradition sprung from ancestors who lived in Newbury, and aged members of other branches of the family have said that some of the Clarks at Stratham were of their race. Lastly we have the statement of Robert Clark of Newburyport.

On 15 September, 1737, "Samuel Clark of Hampton, Clothier" sold to Joseph Pike, his partner, land

“in y^e West Division of Hampton” also a “part of, fuling mill” &c. He married 11 January, 1730/7, Mercy, born 4 November, 1713, died in Stratham, 24 April, 1745, daughter of Moses and Mary Merrill of Salisbury, Mass. He married secondly, ——. By his first wife he had four children (see will of Moses Merrill), and two or more by the second wife.

The children were

There was a Greenleaf Clark in Newburyport in 1757, and he may have been of this family. (See p. 56.)

FIFTH GENERATION.

Moses⁵ (*Samuel*⁴) of Stratham, N. H., born in Salisbury, Mass., 24 October, 1737, baptized in Salisbury, 30 October, 1737, by Rev. Caleb Cushing, A. M., died in Stratham, 1819.

He was a clothier in Stratham, probably working in the same mill with his uncle John.

His home was in the east part of the town near a mill pond on "The New Road," and three and one-quarter miles distant from "the great meeting house." (Plan of Stratham made by Phineas Merrill July 17, 1793.)

On 19 July, 1770, he was moderator of the newly-organized Baptist Church, of which he was a deacon. He was probably the Moses Clark, selectman of Stratham, who refused to sign the Association Test. John Clark also refused.

The will of Moses Clark was dated 9 December, 1818, and mentioned wife Mehitable, daughter Mehitable, son Levi, Caroline "Sweasy," the daughter and only heir of his son Daniel Clark, deceased. He remembered the children of his son Moses Clark, but did not name them. Also daughters Elizabeth Doe, Eleanor Piper, Mercy Norris and Abigail Piper. He left to his son Benjamin Clark the "income of all his estate to support him during his life." Names a grandson John Clark. The executor was Levi Barker.

He married 24 November, 1763, Mehitable, born in Stratham, 1741, died there 1835, daughter of Thomas and Eleanor French. Their children were all born in Stratham. They were

He was prominent at college in various societies and oratorical contests, then studied at Princeton Theological Seminary, and was ordained pastor of the Fountain Presbyterian Church in Pueblo, Col., which church he had been instrumental in organizing, and in securing for it a house of worship. While there he was called to the First Presbyterian Church in Florence, Col., but as there was no building for church purposes he held services in a tent. He was a most indefatigable worker, and did not spare his health or strength; often the thermometer was below zero, and he died as the result of pleuro-pneumonia contracted in the performance of his life work. His grandfather Wheeler wrote of his high character, and said that George and his brother had been exemplary grandsons.

In a brief autobiography that he wrote for a college book, he stated that he was descended from Eleazer Wheelock, the founder of Dartmouth College. "When a year old, my parents moved to Troy, N. Y., which, in the main, has been my home ever since. In 1869 my father moved West, to dig his fortune out of the mountain-mines of Montana. In 1875 my mother died, leaving me, a lad of seven, and a younger brother in the care of our grandfather and aunt. I have always had a passion for books and study. I laid the foundation of my education in the public schools of Troy, entering the Troy High School in 1882, at the age of fourteen. While there, I participated in several oratorical contests, winning the first prize, senior year. I graduated in 1886, ranking third in a class of twenty-five."

AND THEIR DESCENDANTS.

Of John⁴ and Ebenezer,⁴ sons of Nathaniel³ Clark of Newbury, Mass., but little is known, not even the dates of their births, or when and where they died. The writer is inclined to think that there may be no descendants of the family name from either John⁴ or Ebenezer.⁴ What has been gathered concerning these men is printed in the hope that some day more will be known of them. The descendants of Stephen⁴ Clark are well ascertained, and are included in this Part because they are few in number, and it is desirable to avoid unnecessary divisions of the book.

John⁴ (*Nathaniel*³) of Kingston and Stratham, N. H., was in the former town but a short time, and then removed to Stratham where he was a clothier. His mill is said to be still standing. He was a member of the Baptist Church. He married in Newbury, 21 April, 1738, Rooksby Greenleaf. Edmund and Abigail (Somerby) Greenleaf of Newbury had a daughter Rooksby born in Newbury, 11 May, 1713, and she was probably the one who married John Clark. The children of John and Rooksby, born in Stratham, were

- i. Rooksby⁵ b. 18 May, 1739.
- ii. John⁵ b. 21 Jan. 1740/41.
- iii. Paul⁵ b. 12 Dec. 1742, d. 27 Oct. 1763, in Charlestown, N. H., and was buried in Stratham, 1763 "Oct. 27 Paul Clark Died at Charlestown & brot home Dead." (See Deacon Samuel Lane's record of deaths published in the New England Historical and Genealogical Register for 1894.)

Children of John Clark died in Stratham, 9 September, 1743, 11 November, 1744, and 23 November, 1744.

Ebenezer⁴ (*Nathaniel*³) of Newbury, now West Newbury, blacksmith, was baptized in Byfield Parish, 11 November, 1722. On 1 November, 1745, Benjamin Dole of Newbury sold to Ebenezer Clark of Newbury, blacksmith, thirteen acres of land. No wife released dower.

(Lib. CI, fol. 2.)

On 15 December, 1762, Ebenezer Clark of Newbury, blacksmith, sold for £19, 13s., 4d. to Nathaniel Bricket of Newbury six and one quarter acres in Newbury bounded "Northerly by said Brickets own Land he purchased of John Greenleaf Esq^r. Easterly by Land formerly Nathaniel Clarks now in possession of me the Said Eben^r Clark Southerly by a high way & Westerly partly by the Crane Neck Rocks or high Way & partly by my own Land where my Barn Stands." Signed "Eben^r Clark." Wife Susanna released dower. (Lib. CXIV, fol. 16.)

On 3 April, 1769, "Abraham Adams Jun^r of Newbury" sold for £2 to Ebenezer Clark of Newbury, blacksmith, two and one half acres of land in Newbury. (Lib. CXXVIII, fol. 152.)

On 3 January, 1785, Ebenezer Clark of Newbury, blacksmith, sold for £30 to Amos Poor, Jr., of Newbury six acres of land in Newbury bounded "East-erly on the land of said Ebenezer." Witness Hannah Clark. Wife Susanna signed. (Lib. CXLIII, fol. 121.)

The same day Ebenezer sold to Amos Poor, Jr., "three quarters of an acre of land with a blacksmith Shop Standing thereon lying in Newbury aforesaid & bounded as followeth Viz. Southwesterly on the highway Northwesterly Northeasterly & Southeasterly on the land of said Amos and the land of Moses Poor." Witness Hannah Clark. (Lib. CXLIII, fol. 121.)

On 19 September, 1788, Ebenezer Clark conveyed for £45 to "my daughter Hannah Clark" "three fourths of all my land Situate in Newbury afores^d upon the road leading from Pearsons Mills to Crane Neck hill so called together with three fourths of the build-ings Standing on said land, said land containing by estimation seven Acres be the same more or less & bounded as follows, northerly upon s^d road easterly & southeasterly upon Josiah Bartlets land till it comes to land I sold to Amos Poor Junior of s^d Newbury thence upon s^d Poor till it comes to the aforementioned road." No wife signed. (Lib. CL, fol. 48.)

On 30 June, 1789, Stephen Kent took a piece of land of Ebenezer Clark of Newbury under an execution for a debt of £13, 7s., 4d.

(Lib. CL, fol. 258.)

On 24 July, 1789, Ebenezer sold to Hannah Clark "singlewoman" three acres of land joining that of Amos Poor, Jr., "also all my Household furniture and all my personal estate." No wife signed.

(Lib. CL, fol. 131.)

In 1757 Ebenezer was a "Training Soldier" under Lieut.-Col. Joseph Gerrish.

He married in Newbury, 1753, Susanna Perry. The children, born in Newbury, were

- i. Michael^s (or Micah) b. Dec. 1753. Presumably the Micah Clark who m. in Newbury, 15 Apr. 1779 (int. 6 Mar.), Abigail Jewell, both of Newbury; Rev. David Toppan, D. D., officiated. The Newbury record of births calls the eldest son of Ebenezer^t Clark, Michael, but the page is missing from the original book, and there is only a modern copy. According to a document in the possession of the Essex Institute, Michael Clark of Newbury was "In the Service at Cambridge in the yeare 1775." (Joshua Coffin papers.) This service was with the army.

STEPHEN CLARK OF NEWBURYPORT
AND HIS DESCENDANTS.

Stephen⁴ (*Nathaniel*³) of Newburyport, Mass., was a carpenter, and was born in Newbury, 9 June, 1723, and died in Newburyport, December, 1804, or 20 December, 1803. He was in "Co^{ll} Gerrish Company against Cape Breton," according to a list of Newbury soldiers dated 28 April, 1746, and was a sergeant in Capt. Benaiah Young's company at Fort William Henry, 9 August, 1756, and 8 February, 1757, had served thirty-two weeks and two days. In 1757 he was in Capt. Richard Greenleaf's company, and his name is among those of Capt. Samuel Gerrish's company, Col. Frye's regiment, who served in Nova Scotia after 1 January, 1760.

(State Archives.)

"Gun List Capt. Sam^l Gerrish's Company Recd of Cap^t Sam^{ll} Gerrish Sixty two Guns. as witness our Hands. Castle William April y^e 28th 1759." Stephen Clark was one of the signers. Coffin Papers, Vol. I, published in the Historical Collections of the Essex Institute, Vol. XXXV.

He married in Newbury, 26 March, 1747 (intention 28 February, 1746/7), Rebecca Watson, Rev. William Johnson officiating.

The children, all born in Newbury, were

2. i. Greenleaf^s b. 17 Oct. 1748, d. 5 (4 T. Rec.) Dec. 1836.
- ii. Mercy^s b. 14 Apr. 1750. She was perhaps identical with the Mary Clark of Newburyport who was "published" to Stephen Atkinson of Newbury, 15 Dec. 1770, as the following births are recorded in Newbury as of children of Stephen and Mercy Atkinson : * 1. *Michael*⁶ Atkinson b. 14 Feb. 1774. 2. *Stephen*⁶ Atkinson b. 6 July, 1786. 3. *Susanna*⁶ Atkinson b. 21 June, 1791.

iii. *Rebecca*⁵ b. 19 Sept. 1752, d. 18 Nov. 1823 (?), in Newburyport. "Of dear old Aunt Becky I have very pleasant memories. A woman of much intelligence, of remarkable insight into character, a great reader of the Bible and Dr. Watts, and withal endowed with a rare and happy faculty of interesting the children, who gathered around her to hear the old, but ever new stories of the Revolution."†

iv. *Judith*⁵ b. 27 Oct. 1754.

v. *Eunice*⁵ b. 27 Feb. 1759, m. Michael Atkinson of Newbury, and had children.

vi. *Susanna*⁵ b. 5 Aug. 1762.

*Greenleaf*⁵ was baptized by the Rev. John Tucker, D. D., of the First Church in Newbury, 23 October, 1748, *Mercy*⁵ 15 April, 1750, and *Rebecca*⁵ 24 September, 1752 (latter date new style).

*The Essex Antiquarian for June, 1900, contains an Atkinson genealogy in which it is stated that Stephen Atkinson was born in Newbury, 28 December, 1744, son of Nathaniel and Elizabeth (Greenleaf) Atkinson, and that Stephen was a shipwright in Newbury. Also that his wife Mercy (Clark) was living in 1791, but that in 1794 he married a second wife, and 3 May, 1797, administration of his estate was granted. 15 December, 1770, is given as the date of the marriage of Stephen and Mercy, but that was apparently the date of publication. In this periodical the children are given as follows: 1. Elizabeth Greenleaf born in Newbury, 28 June, 1771, married March, 1793, Thomas Pettingell of Newbury. 2. Michael born in Newbury, 14 February, 1770, married 17 April, 1794, Joanna Lunt of Newbury, and had two children. 3. Molly born 2 May, 1776. 4. Parker born 8 January, 1780; he lived in Newbury and was a chairmaker, and was drowned 31 August, 1799. (Newburyport Town Record.) 5. Elizabeth Watson born 2 June, 1784. 6. Stephen born 6 July, 1786. 7. Rebecca, a minor in 1799. 8. Susanna born 21 June, 1791.

FIFTH GENERATION.

Greenleaf⁵ (*Stephen*⁴) of Newburyport, was born in Newbury, 17 October, 1748, died there 4 December, 1836. He served in the Revolution, and 24 December, 1776, was first lieutenant of a Newburyport company of sixty-four men, commanded by Capt. Elias Davis, and was also an original member of the "Silver Grays," a noted military company. From the Bureau of Pensions the following facts have been obtained. Greenleaf Clark of Newburyport aged 83 applied for a pension 11 September, 1832. It was allowed for six months' actual service as a sergeant, three months and two days' service as a lieutenant, and one month and fifteen days' service as a captain in the Massachusetts troops in the Revolutionary War. Part of the time he served under Capt. Elias Davis and Col. Timothy Pickering. In 1808 Greenleaf was a surveyor of lumber. Mr. Clark entertained many prominent men at his house, among others, the Honorable Daniel Webster. Mr. George Woods, author of "Gates Wide Open," writing to the Newburyport Herald of March 31, 1863, of the society there in the olden time, says: "Of those in society whom I then regarded as the loveliest of the lovely, were the daughters of Capt. Greenleaf Clark, on Federal Street, Anne and Susan and Sarah, sisters of Mrs. Capt. Salem Woodward, and Mrs. Capt. Samuel Swett,—all of them women of surpassing beauty and culture."

Greenleaf Clark "Gentleman" made his will 27 June, 1836, Parker Noyes, Esq., was named executor.

He gave all his property, which included a house and land, to his wife for life, and provided for the distribution at her decease.

A declaration of the fact that he was a Revolutionary pensioner is recorded with the will, and the date of his death is therein stated as 4 December, 1836.

The inventory was taken 17 June, 1837, by John Moody, Jacob Stickney and Joseph Brainard, and enumerates about sixty-five books, two fire buckets valued at $1, and a long list of other articles.

Greenleaf^s owned pew number 132 in the North Church in Newburyport.

This fac-simile is from an autograph sent to me by one of the family.

His grand-daughter, Mrs. Caroline Rebecca (Swett) Kimball, a most amiable and accomplished lady, wrote that the autograph was not in his "best hand."

SOME INTERESTING FIRE RELICS.

J. G. Clark of 16 Beech street is the possessor of an interesting set of relics of ancient methods of fire fighting, in the shape of two old fire buckets and a big linen bag, all formerly owned in Newburyport by his great-grandfather. The buckets seem to be of rawhide, painted in dark colors. The leather is sewed with a coarse thread, and it is hard to see how in the old days of hand-work the sewing of such coarse material could have been done so well. The two buckets are inscribed with the motto "Peace and liberty, G. Clark, 1784." Mr. Clark's father says that in Newburyport in the time to which these buckets date back about every one owned a few fire buckets, which were kept hung up in a convenient place in the homes of their owners. When the alarm of fire was given generally by the cry upon the streets and the ringing of the church bell, the people seized the buckets and hurried to the burning building. In addition to the fire equipment of every careful householder, was a bag to be used to carry goods out of buildings in danger. The one in the possession of Mr. Clark is about four feet deep, and half as wide when lying flat. It is of some coarse linen material, and into it were crowded all kinds of valuables of small size, and it is even said that babies have been carried out in this way. Capt. Greenleaf Clark, the original owner of these buckets, was an officer in the Revolutionary army.

(Newburyport Evening Herald, Oct. 26, 1897; copied from the Springfield Republican.)

“Stephen Clarke, father of Capt. Greenleaf Clarke, was a soldier in the Colonial wars.

“The fire buckets until recently have been in possession of Mrs. Margaret Noyes, of this city” [Newburyport].

He married 1 October, 1772 (intention recorded in Newburyport, 4 July), Eleanor White of Boston, born in Glasgow, Scotland, 18 July, 1750, died in Newburyport, 8 September, 1840. His children, all born in Newburyport, were

He had seen seven generations of his family, including his great-grandparent. His great-grandmother lived to be over one hundred years old, and his mother died in 1879 aged one hundred years and two months. Other members of this family have lived to a great age. Of Harriet McEwen⁸ Kimball the Boston Herald of July 18, 1895, said, under the heading "A Deserved Tribute,"

It is not often that a prophet is honored in his own country, and among his own kith and kin, but the trustees of the Portsmouth Cottage Hospital in naming the western wing of the new building the Harriet McEwen Kimball Pavilion, have conferred an honor on their distinguished townswoman that is richly deserved by one of the founders of the institution, and the fitness of which will be widely appreciated. Miss Kimball is chiefly known by her religious verse, which has found its way into all representative collections of American poetry, but in her home life she has never allowed her other engagements to interfere with the sick and suffering in old Portsmouth.

He graduated at the Newburyport High School, entered the office of the Newburyport Herald at the age of fourteen, and remained until of age. He was editor and proprietor of the Courier during Whig times, a paper widely read in Eastern Massachusetts and noted for its handsome and correct typography. The Honorable Caleb Cushing, LL. DANIEL CLARK OF BRENTWOOD, N. H., AND HIS DESCENDANTS.

Daniel⁴ (*Nathaniel*³) was born in Newbury, 15 September, 1726, baptized in Byfield Parish, 18 September, 1726; said by Robert Clark of Newburyport to have lived in Brentwood, N. H., and this statement is confirmed by the following deeds on record in Exeter, N. H.

On 21 June, 1751, Biley Hardy of Brentwood sold to Daniel Clark of Brentwood, carpenter, one and one half acres of land in Brentwood on the road to Exeter.

On 21 June, 1751, Joseph Wadleigh of Brentwood sold to Daniel Clark of Brentwood, carpenter, two parcels of land, viz. three acres in Kingston, on the south side of the road to Exeter, and thirty-one rods in Brentwood, on the north side of the road.

On 23 March, 1760, Joseph Wadleigh sold to Daniel Clark of Brentwood, "maltster," three acres of land in Kingston.

Administration (dates not stated in the abstracts sent the writer) on the estate of Daniel Clark late of Brentwood, "gent^m" was granted to his widow, Abigail, who gave bond with Joseph Wadleigh and Nathaniel Stevens, both of Brentwood, as sureties. The inventory included house, barn, malt house, and six and one half acres of land. The appraisers were Robert Smith, Isaac Sanborn and John Lyford.

Among those who had claims against the estate were Moses Clark, Elisha Hook and Betty Clark. On 1 January, 1786, the town of Brentwood paid Daniel Clark for "old pound" 8 shillings.

Daniel⁴ Clark of Exeter married 28 December, 1748 (Brentwood records, 29 December), Sarah, born 29 September, 1721, baptized 3 December, 1721 (Hampton Falls church records), daughter of Caleb and Hannah Swain of Hampton Falls, N. H. Daniel and Sarah were married in Hampton Falls. Caleb Swain mentioned her in his will dated 11 April, 1753, proved 25 May, 1757. Sarah died and Daniel⁴ married secondly, Abigail ———.

He was presumably the Daniel Clark who signed the Association Test in Brentwood in 1776.

All the information as to Daniel⁴ Clark's family has been supplied by Mr. Preston, who has obtained the record of the family contained in Brentwood town books.

PART III.

NATHANIEL CLARK OF HAVERHILL, MASS., AND HIS DESCENDANTS.

FOURTH GENERATION.

Nathaniel⁴ (*Nathaniel*³) of Haverhill, Mass., was born in Newbury, 1728, and died in Haverhill, 7 (5 on gravestone) November, 1805; a farmer. On 18 April, 1757, he was a member of the second company of foot, Major Richard Saltonstall, captain. From "A Muster roll of the Company under command of Cap^t Joseph Eaton in Col^o Johnson's Reg^t of Militia which marched on the Alarm April 19th 1775 from y^e Town of Haverhill to Cambridge," it appears that Nathaniel Clark was a member of this company, and entitled to pay for 70 miles' travel, and 2½ days' service.

(State Archives "Lexington Alarm," Vol. XII, p. 92.)

He evidently did all in his power to further the cause of the Revolution by loaning money to the town on several occasions (23 August, 1779, £24 was due to him), and by serving in 1780 on the committee to collect clothing for the army.

On 20 January, 1762, Daniel Bradley of Haverhill sold to Nathaniel Clark of Haverhill twenty seven and one-half acres of land in Haverhill with buildings.

(Lib. CXX, fol. 9.)

On 28 April, 1763, Nehemiah Jewett of Rowley sold to Nathaniel Clark of Haverhill, cordwainer, four and three-quarters acres of land in Haverhill.

(Lib. CXVIII, fol. 158.)

There is no inventory on file, but a receipt for legacies, dated 10 November, 1805, signed by David, Nathaniel, Theodore and Greenleaf Clark.

The following are fac-similes of the signatures of three of these brothers. That of Theodore, which will appear later in this book, is from a different document, and the cut had been made before the writer discovered this receipt.

The farm of Nathaniel^l included the land now occupied by the Hill Dale Cemetery, and the house is about one mile and a half in a direct line from the Haverhill city hall, in the direction of the West Parish, with which he and his family were connected. The view of the house, on the opposite page, shows it as it is now, with its large chimney gone. In this house Nathaniel lived, and later it is said to have been the home of his son Moses.⁵ From 1660-94 the farm belonged to Stephen Webster. In the Second burying-ground of the West Parish are seven slate gravestones in a row, all in good condition, with footstones. Beginning with the northerly stone the inscriptions are as follows :

Nathaniel married in Bradford, 18 February, 1753, Mary, born 8 October, 1733, died in Haverhill, 13 June, 1817 (see gravestone), daughter of David and Dorcas (Gage) Hardy of Bradford, Mass. David Hardy was son of Joseph and Mary (Burbank) Hardy, and grandson of John Hardy, who with his brother William came to New England in the family of Governor Winthrop, and was assigned land in Ipswich by him, but not liking the place removed to East Bradford, and lived on the site where the Marden house now is. Mary Burbank was granddaughter of John Burbank, an early settler in Rowley.

Dorcas Gage was daughter of Samuel and Mary (Watson) Gage, and granddaughter of Daniel and Sarah (Kimball) Gage, whose father was Sergeant John Gage of Rowley. Sarah (Kimball) Gage was a daughter of Henry Kimball of Rattlesden, Suffolk, England, later of Ipswich and Wenham, Mass., granddaughter of Richard Kimball of Rattlesden and his wife Ursula, daughter of Henry Scott of that place, and she (Sarah) was also a granddaughter of John Wyatt of Ipswich, Mass., whose daughter, Mary, married 1640 Henry Kimball. It is known that the wife of Henry Scott was Martha Whotlock.

FIFTH GENERATION.

David⁵ (*Nathaniel*⁴) of Sandown, N. H., "Clothier" and farmer, was born in Haverhill, 27 November, 1755 (perhaps the David Clark who was baptized 30 November, 1755, by Rev. Thomas Barnard, although for some reason it was recorded in the church records in Newbury),* died in Sandown, 16 March, 1833. He was a cloth dresser at Allen's Mills, Salem, and later removed to Sandown where he served the town as selectman five years, 1799-1803 inclusive. David was a soldier in Capt. Aaron Kinsman's company of Col. John Stark's regiment, New Hampshire, eight months from 8 May, 1775, and was first under fire at Bunker Hill. In January, 1776, he enlisted in Capt. Mighill's company of Col. Loammi Baldwin's regiment, Massachusetts, and was discharged at Morristown, N. J., in February, 1777. He had been in the battle at Trenton, N. J., 26 December, 1776, and in that of 2 January, 1777, when the British were repulsed in attempting to cross the bridge at Trenton; was also in the battle of Princeton, N. J., 3 January, 1777, as well as in skirmishes at or near Quibbletown, N. J.

At the battle of Bennington, 16 August, 1777, he was a soldier in Capt. Daniel Runnel's company, with whom he served from 20 July to 28 September, 1777, in Col. Moses Nichols's regiment of General John Stark's command. The above is condensed from the records of the Pension office at Washington, but as the pensions were granted for service of nine months or more in one enlistment the applicants under that law did not state the particulars of their shorter service. Tradition says that David crossed the Delaware with General Washington, and was one of his body-guard, and that during his service in Capt. Runnel's company he was a non-commissioned officer. Daniel Clark of Farmington, Me., his grandson, stated that when a boy of eight years, or less, he asked his grandfather if he ever killed anyone in battle. The latter replied "I cannot tell, we do not know, my boy, whether we kill or not in battle. But once I saw a British soldier raise his gun and fire at me. He hit the butt of my musket and shattered it. I stooped down and picked up the gun of a fallen comrade, aimed at him and fired. I do not know whether I killed him or not, but he fell and I never saw him afterwards."

* Rev. Thomas Barnard, A. M., was minister of the Second Church in Newbury, later the First Church in West Newbury, from 1739-51, and it is probable that David was baptized in Newbury.

David Clark had a robust constitution which enabled him to endure many privations. His old homestead, now owned and occupied by his grandson Amos Sabin⁷ Clark, is kept in excellent repair. "The old-fashioned, tall eight-day clock stands like a grim sentinel in the corner of the kitchen, telling off the seconds, minutes, and hours, numbering the days of the month, and showing the changes of the moon. We noticed at the top of the dial the full face of the moon; this indicated correctly that the moon was full. Mr. Clark said his grandfather paid 60 silver dollars for the clock. By the side of the clock stood an old-fashioned chair which had been used more than 100 years. In one of the front rooms the four walls are made in panels of nice workmanship of white pine; there could not be found a knot in all the panelling."

Under date of 18 May, 1901, Amos S. Clark wrote "I am still living in the house built by my Grandfather David Clark about 115 years ago. The outward view of the house is the same as when first built, except I have had new windows put in and projection added to the eaves." "The house is yet in excellent condition having always been well cared for." Mr. Clark enclosed a photograph from which the illustration opposite was made.

There is in possession of James Francis^s Savage of Lowell, Mass., the old three-cornered cocked hat which his great-grandfather wore in the service of his country. Mr. Savage has also the bayonet from David Clark's gun. "Mrs. Anna (Woodman) Clark, wife of David Clark, sustained a most excellent reputation as a Christian woman, being of the Methodist persuasion. The family pew was at the head of the centre aisle, in front of the pulpit on the right as one enters the church. Tradition says that the train of Mrs. Clark's dress reached from the pew to the church door." "Nearly two miles from this old church is the cemetery where rests the remains of David Clark." "On the gravestone of dark slate, with an urn, is inscribed

Mr. | DAVID CLARK | died | March 16, 1833, | Æt. 77.

*Mortals, how few among your race
Have given this thought its weight
That on the present moment hangs
Your everlasting fate.*

On Mrs. Clark's gravestone is the following :

Mrs. | ANNA, | wife of Mr. David Clark | died March 14, 1826, | Æt. 64.

DAVID CLARK PLACE, SANDOWN, N. H.

Owing to moss the verse at the bottom was illegible." (See valuable articles by S. S. Griffin in The Derry News December 26, 1890, January 2, 1891, and January 9, 1891.) Mr. Griffin visited the old mansion and graveyard Christmas morning 1890.

The capitalization of these inscriptions is made to conform to the lettering on the stones.

The verse on Mrs. Clark's gravestone, as copied by her great-grandson, James Francis Savage, Esq., reads

*Sleep, precious dust, in calm repose,
Thy toils and pains are at a close,
Thy happy soul with Jesus rests
In heavenly mansions with the blest.*

On 5 February, 1795, David Clark signed a request addressed to Rev. John Webber to continue as pastor in Sandown, and was presumably the David Clark who in 1824 bought a saw-mill in Pembroke on the "South-east side of Suncook river at Buckstreet." He kept a saw-mill there, and built a grist-mill a few feet south of the old saw-mill, taking the water to it in a flume. In 1829 he deeded both mills, and the house which he had built, to David Clark of Plaistow, John Clark of Chester and Nathaniel Clark of Sandown. David and John sold their interests a few years later to John Richardson of Haverhill. David's Clark was a Methodist, as are many of his descendants.

He married in Salem, N. H., 21 June, 1781, Anna, born there 28 March, 1762, died 14 March, 1826, daughter of Nathaniel and Anna (Wheeler) Woodman of Salem, N. H.*

* He was son of John and Anna (Adams) Woodman, and fourth in descent from Lieut. Edward Woodman of Newbury. Anna Wheeler was a daughter of Jonathan and Anna (Plummer) Wheeler, and fourth from John Wheeler and Francis Plummer, the latter of Newbury, and the descendants of both Nathaniel⁵ (*Nathaniel*⁴) of Plaistow, N. H., was born in Haverhill, Mass., 1766, and died in Plaistow, 19 March, 1846. At the age of fifteen, 14 March, 1781, he enlisted with the consent of his parents for three years as fifer in Capt. Nehemiah Emerson's company, 10th regiment, Mass. Thomas Page enlisted at the same time as a drummer, and it is said that their youth and skillful execution drew the attention of General Washington, to whom Capt. Emerson remarked, "they are pretty boys"; a compliment of which they were ever after proud. They were with the same captain till the close of the war. Nathaniel was a member of the Legislature in 1808.

The following is from the records of the Bureau of Pensions at Washington, D. C.

Nathaniel Clark. Date of Enlistment or Appointment, March, 1781. Length of service, 3 yrs. Rank, private and corporal. Officers under whom service was rendered, Captain Emerson, Colonel Tupper. State, Mass. Battles engaged in, wounded in battle near King's Bridge, N. Y. July, 1781. Residence of soldier at enlistment, probably Haverhill, Massachusetts. Date of application for pension November 30, 1819. Residence at date of application Plaistow, Rockingham Co. N. H. Age at date of application 53 years.

The above was furnished by D. I. Murphy, First Deputy Commissioner.

The record of the service of Nathaniel as given in the official Massachusetts Soldiers and Sailors in the Revolution is as follows:

"Private, Capt. Jonathan Ayer's co., Col. Nathaniel Wade's (Essex Co.) regt. ; enlisted July 15, 1780; discharged Oct. 10, 1780; service, 3 mos. 7 days; company raised to reinforce Continental Army for 3 months; also, receipt dated April 10, 1781, for bounty paid said Clark by the town of Haverhill to serve in the Continental Army for the term of 3 years, agreeable to resolve of Dec. 2, 1780; also, Private, Col. Benjamin Tupper's (10th) regt.; enlisted March 18, 1781; service 9 mos. 14 days; also, same regt.; service from Jan. 1, 1782, 12 months."

In 1798 Abijah Eaton of Atkinson, N. H., sold to Nathaniel Clark of Plaistow, clothier, and James Haseltine, Jr., two hundred acres of land in Atkinson and Haverhill.

(Lib. CLXIII, fol. 186.)

On 17 March, 1815, James Haseltine of Haverhill, bricklayer, sold to Nathaniel Clark and Nathaniel Clark, Jr., both of Plaistow, for $1,045.60 thirty-one acres and one hundred and fourteen rods of land partly in Haverhill and partly in Atkinson joining "land I this day sold to Greenleaf Clark," and land of Nathaniel Clark. Also bounded on "the road which leads from Haverhill to Atkinson Meeting house."

(Lib. CCVII, fol. 41.)

On 10 April, 1815, the grantees in the above deed sold to Isaac and Jonathan K. Webster, both of Haverhill, one-third of an acre of this land.

On 17 March, 1815, James Haseltine sold to Greenleaf Clark, Esq., of Atkinson, sixteen acres and one hundred and four rods of land.

(Lib. CCVII, fol. 41.)

The farm of Nathaniel,⁵ and of his son Nathaniel⁶ and grandson Nathaniel Haven,⁷ is in Plaistow, a short distance southeast of Atkinson depot, and extends to the railroad. The house was built in 1802, and is large. The picture opposite shows the old grist-mill, still used, at the extreme right. The ancient cloth mill, which Nathaniel⁵ operated, no longer exists. There is a pretty stream with a fall of about eight feet.

In the graveyard of the North Parish of Haverhill, but on the New Hampshire side, is a large, well-kept lot, with a conspicuous and handsome monument, bearing on its south face the names of Nathaniel,⁵ his wife, Abigail Woodman, and their daughters, Anna and Elizabeth, with the years of their births and deaths. On the west face of the monument are the names, and years, of Col. Nathaniel⁶ and his wife Betsey Brickett. At the base is the surname: CLARK. On the north face are the names of Nathaniel H.⁷ and his daughter, Fannie Kimball⁸ Clark. A suitable stone marks each grave.

North of this lot is that of David⁶ Clark, where he rests together with his wife, Eliza P., their son, David Oliphant,⁷ and their son-in-law, Samuel P. Foote. These graves are marked by large white stones.

This graveyard was laid out in 1734.

The will of Nathaniel Clark of Plaistow was proved 7 April, 1846.

He married in Salem, N. H., 10 May, 1787, Abigail Woodman, sister of his brother David's wife, born in Salem, N. H., 27 June, 1765, died 3 April, 1844.

Theodore⁵ (*Nathaniel*⁴) of Pittsfield, N. H., was born in Haverhill, Mass., 27 April, 1772, and died in Pittsfield, 7 December, 1829. He bought land in Pittsfield, settled there, and built one of the first mills in the Suncook valley, and was a cloth-dresser and farmer. Whether he held public office in Pittsfield, such as selectman, is unknown to the writer. The house which he built, and which was his home, and where he died, was a two-story house, and the second south of the town hall, on the same side of the road. In 1870 Capt. Knowlton occupied the house, and in 1901 Dr. F. H. Sargent; but the house has apparently undergone changes, and a picture, from the photograph lately taken, would be of but little interest. Theodore Clark's widow lived in a house which Jeremiah Clough later inhabited for many years.

Theodore was a man of strong principle, integrity and business ability, and owned a large portion of the village, including where the railroad station now is, and valuable timber lands. While working at the mill-dam he cut his knee severely with an axe, and after suffering for eight months, and enduring two amputations, he died, leaving his projects incomplete, and his affairs to be settled by others. With skillful surgery it is thought he might have recovered. He was buried in the old graveyard, on the rising ground back of the town hall in Pittsfield.

There are three head-stones and four foot-stones, which mark his grave and that of his wife and two daughters, both of whom died of consumption. The graves are under two trees not far from the wall, or from the iron fence. The inscriptions read :

(Willow and urn.)

In | memory of | Mr. | THEODORE CLARK, | who died Dec. 7, | 1829, | aged 57.

(Willow and urn.)

SALLY | daur. of | Theodore and | Sally Clark | died Oct. 9, | 1834, |
Æ 21 years.

(Willow and urn.)

JULIA | daur. of | Theodore and | Sally Clark | died Oct. 11, | 1834, |
Æ 16 years.

These last two inscriptions are almost illegible.

The fac-simile is from his signature to an ordinary receipt, which may have been carelessly written.

He married 19 May, 1800, Sarah, born 5 September, 1783, died 27 May, 1856, daughter of John and Sarah (French) Eaton* of Pittsfield, N. H. The children, all born in Pittsfield, were Soon after he went to Kansas, completed his legal studies, settled in Salina in 1866, and was county solicitor 1867, '68, and for the four years following was a member of the State Senate. At the organization of the 14th judicial district he was appointed by Governor Harvey judge thereof, which office he held from 1872-85 by repeated elections. Greenleaf⁵ (*Nathaniel*⁴) of Atkinson, N. H., was born in Haverhill, Mass., 5 May, 1779, and died in Atkinson, 12 January, 1821. He was a master mason and farmer, held the office of selectman, and was a justice of the peace. On 6 September, 1809, Samuel Eaton of Haverhill, yeoman, sold to Greenleaf Clark of Haverhill, bricklayer, twenty-one acres and forty rods of land in Haverhill, joining land of said Clark. William Cogswell was a witness.

(Lib. CCVII, fol. 42.)

Greenleaf Clarke had a large and fertile farm, with a substantial wooden house, of which there is a picture on the opposite page, and here his son, the Honorable Greenleaf Clarke, passed his life. The farm is a short distance north-west of Atkinson depot, and next to the David Clark place, which is also a fine farm, with a large brick house. The latter farm is nearer the railroad, and is opposite the "Noyes place," with its brick house, which is the home of the widow of William⁷ Clarke Noyes, a nephew of David Clark. Julia (Cogswell) Clarke was born on the Cogswell farm, which is on the same road as the Clarke farms, and north-west of them.

On 15 February, 1821, Julia, widow of Greenleaf, was appointed administratrix of his estate, and on 10 August, 1831, William Cogswell was made guardian of all of the children, naming them, of Greenleaf Clarke, late of Atkinson.

Greenleaf married 1 March, 1810, Julia, born 20 February, 1789, died 9 January, 1860, daughter of Dr. William and Judith (Badger) Cogswell of Atkinson. "Doctor William Cogswell of Atkinson and Judith Badger of Gilmantown were married July 22^d: 1786." (Gilmanton Ch. Rec.)

Mrs. Clarke was an intellectual woman, and before her marriage had been preceptress of Atkinson Academy. She married secondly, 12 December, 1822, Amasa Coburn and had four children, all of whom died young except Mary, who married Reuben D. Mooers of Manchester, N. H., and had one son, who died young.

The Cogswells, with whom this branch of Clarkes are connected by more than one marriage, are descended from John Cogswell, who was in Ipswich, Mass., in 1635, and whose English home is known. For an extended account of this family in England and America see the elaborate Cogswell Genealogy, by Rev. Ephraim Orcutt Jameson, A. B. John Cogswell was the ancestor of a distinguished race. Mrs. Greenleaf Clarke's father, Dr. William Cogswell, was a surgeon in the Revolution, chief medical officer of the United States Army, 20 June, 1784-12 August 1785, founder of Atkinson Academy, and for a long time president of its trustees. Her brothers were Rev. William Cogswell (Dartmouth 1811), who received the degree of A. M. from his Alma Mater, from Harvard and Brown 1816, and that of D. D. from Williams in 1833; he was a member of the Massachusetts Historical Society, and a professor at Dartmouth; Joseph Badger Cogswell, trustee of Atkinson Academy, etc.; Rev. Nathaniel Cogswell, A. M. (Dartmouth 1819), overseer of Harvard College five years; Thomas Cogswell, judge of the Court of Common Pleas, 1841-55, and holder of many important official positions; Francis Cogswell, A. M. (Dartmouth 1822), overseer of Harvard College, and president of the Boston & Maine Railroad Company, etc.; George Cogswell, A. M., M. D. (Dartmouth), presidential elector for Massachusetts, 1852 and 1868, member of Governor Banks's Council in 1858, '59.

Mrs. Clarke's sister, Hannah Pearson Cogswell, married William Badger, who was Governor of New Hampshire 1834, '35, presidential elector in 1824, '36 and '44, and filled other important offices. He was a first cousin of Mrs. Clarke, and son of Honorable Joseph Badger, a soldier of the Revolution, and later brigadier general of militia, and grandson of Brig.-Gen. Joseph Badger of Gilmanton, N. H., member of the Provincial Congress, colonel of the 10th regiment, member of the convention which adopted the Constitution, brigadier general 1780, judge of probate 1784-97, member of the Governor's Council 1784, '90, '91.

The wife of Dr. William Cogswell was Judith, daughter of Brig.-Gen. Joseph and Hannah (Pearson) Badger, and his (Dr. William Cogswell's) mother was Judith, sister of Brig.-Gen. Joseph Badger, and daughter of Joseph and Hannah (Peaslee) Badger. The latter was daughter of Col. Nathaniel Peaslee. Dr. William Cogswell was the son of Nathaniel Cogswell of Haverhill, Mass., and Atkinson, N. H., who married 31 January, 1739/40, Judith, daughter of Joseph and Hannah (Peaslee) Badger, just mentioned.

Giles and Elizabeth (Greenleaf) Badger of Newbury, 1643, were the ancestors of these Badgers, and consequently of the Clarkes, who are so closely connected by marriage with their descendants. This branch of the Clarkes have even more Greenleaf blood than others of the race, who can trace to Capt. Edmund Greenleaf through two or three lines.

The children of Greenleaf,⁵ born in Atkinson, were 19. i. William Cogswell⁶ b. 10 Dec. 1810, d. 25 Apr. 1872.

The Carleton lot is east of the Nathaniel Clark lot in the burying-ground of the North Parish of Haverhill. Here are buried Col. 1779, | Died | Jan. 12, 1821.

* The date of the birth of Greenleaf Clarke was given as 5 May, 1779, by his son, Col. Greenleaf Clarke, and has so appeared, unchallenged, in two editions of this genealogy.

SIXTH GENERATION.

John⁶ (*David*⁵) of Chester, N. H., was born in Salem, N. H., 25 (24 Town record) May, 1784, died 15 May, 1863. He was a dealer in lumber; came to Chester in 1806, and bought the Deacon Adam Wilson place, and later other large tracts of land. He owned a saw and grist mill, and in 1833 started the first clapboard and shingle mill in town, and did a large business as a farmer and lumber merchant. At his decease he had twelve hundred acres of land, several mills, dwelling houses and a store. He was a representative to the Legislature in 1859. When he was the Republican candidate for the Legislature, his son, George Pickering,⁷ was on the Democratic ticket for the same place. The first balloting resulted in a tie, but John won on the second ballot, by the vote of his son, it is said.

Mr. Clark was a cornet in a troop of cavalry, and his holsters and flint-lock pistols are preserved.* Formerly a troop of horse and a company of artillery were attached to each militia regiment in New Hampshire; Chester's militia was included in the 17th regiment; the office of cornet corresponded to that of ensign in the infantry. Mr. Clark kept a tavern. He and his wife are buried in Auburn. For portraits of John⁶ Clark† and of his wife see the History of Chester, N. H., by Chase.

John married in Chester, 12 November, 1812, Elizabeth, born 5 July, 1787, died 14 March, 1868, daughter of Deacon David and Mary (Dinsmore) Currier. David Currier was born in Leslie, Scotland, in 1756, came to America in 1774, and was a soldier in the Revolution, and was in the battles of Bunker Hill and Bennington.

Rev. Nathan Bradstreet, A. M., officiated at the marriage of John Clark and Elizabeth Currier.

Their children, born in Chester, were

24. i. George Pickering⁷ b. 25 Aug. 1813, d. 1 May, 1890.
- ii. John Currier⁷ b. 10 July, 1815, d. 28 Apr. 1816.

* James Francis⁸ Savage has the holsters and one pistol, and he also has a horse-pistol that belonged to Nathaniel.⁶ Mr. Savage has quite a collection of such articles.

† Although his descendants spell their surname Clarke, and write the name that way when referring to earlier generations, it appears that Clark was the form used in the Chester records, and in the family Bible.

- iii. Mary Anne⁷ b. 12 Mar. 1817, d. 12 Jan. 1892, in Lowell, Mass., m. 14 Dec. 1843, Isaac Aylsworth Savage b. in Edinburgh, Saratoga co., N. Y., 28 Dec. 1814, son of Hiel and Hannah (Corey) Savage, (the latter "b. in North Kingstown," R. I.), and grandson of Hiel Savage, a Mass. Revolutionary soldier. Isaac A. Savage graduated from Wesleyan University in 1841; the same year he joined the New England Conference, Methodist Episcopal Church; in 1841, '42 he was stationed in South Boston, 1843, '44 at Harvard Street, Cambridgeport, 1845, '46 in Saugus, 1847, '48 at Worthen Street, Lowell, in 1849, '50 at Pyncheon Street, Springfield, 1851 at Bromfield Street, Boston, 1852 in Holliston, where he d. 16 Feb. 1854. His ministry was brief, but characterized by a warm devotion to his work. A scholarly preacher, he was likewise a successful pastor. He was a member of the Phi Beta Kappa society. Mrs. Savage was "a woman of extraordinary good sense, discernment of character, practical judgment, business capacity and unflagging energy and fortitude under trials." "Her life was indeed devoted to her children." "A Christian, gentle and womanly, of rich graces of character." She was left a widow when her children were very young, and brought them up faithfully and well. The children of Isaac A. and Mary Anne⁷ (Clarke) Savage were 1. Edward Aylsworth⁸ Savage b. in Saugus, Mass., 16 May, 1846, d. in Derry, N. H., 26 Nov. 1872. Although young, he had won a high reputation as a teacher of music, and was instructor at the Pinkerton Academy and Adams Female Academy, and organist at the First Presbyterian Church in Derry. 2.

James Francis⁸ Savage b. in Lowell, Mass., 24 Feb. 1849; graduated at Dartmouth College 1872, and was afterward principal of the high school in Zumbrota, Minn. He later came East, and was for a time connected with the Boston Daily News. In 1876, after studying in the School of Law of Boston University, he was admitted to the Suffolk bar and was associated with his brother, a short period in Detroit, Mich., and from May, 1878–1890, in Lowell, Mass., under the firm name of J. F. & C. W. Savage, with the exception of a period from October, 1883, when he practiced in Ware, Mass. He is a member of the Alpha Delta Phi fraternity. Mr. Savage is much interested in historical and genealogical researches, and has published some of the results of his investigations. He has been clerk of the Police Court in Lowell since 4 March, 1885. He m. 13 July, 1887, Mary Caroline Smith of Lowell, and has Miriam⁹ Savage b. 10 Apr. 1888. 3. Charles Wesley⁸ Savage b. in Holliston, Mass., 14 June, 1852; attended the high school in Cambridge, Mass., and entered Dartmouth College in 1870, but in 1871 he became a member of the sophomore class at Harvard University, from which he graduated in 1874. While there he was a member of the Everett Athenæum. In the fall of that year he became professor of Latin and mathematics in Johnson College, Quincy, Ill. In 1875, '76 he was principal of Frances-town Academy, Francestown, N. H. While in Quincy he began the study of law in the office of Honorable Orville Hickman Browning, and later studied in Detroit, Mich. In June, 1877, he received the degree of LL. B.

from the School of Law of Boston University, and 2 October, was admitted to the Wayne County bar at Detroit, Mich., where he began practice in partnership with his brother. On 1 May, 1878, he removed to Lowell, Mass., and continued there in active practice. He was a member of the Alpha Delta Phi fraternity. When the board of registrars of voters was created in Lowell he was appointed a member, and was the chairman for several years. He was a trustee of St. Paul's Church, and clerk of the trustees for a long time. Mr. Savage was fond of genealogical and literary pursuits, and accomplished a great deal in spite of ill health. He died of consumption in Lowell, 28 Feb. 1890, after an illness of nearly sixteen years, and had made a long and brave struggle against disease. The writer met him from time to time, and marvelled at his courage. For portrait and sketch see "Harvard College, Class of 1874," published 1899.

He was a cavalry man in the militia, and his son has his cap, sword and horse-pistol. With the exception of David⁵ Clark and his wife, and Mary, first wife of Nathaniel,⁶ who are buried in the old graveyard, all of this family, so far as indicated by gravestones, are buried in the new cemetery in Sandown. He married 20* January, 1813, Mary, born 22 January, 1785, died 27 September, 1818, daughter of Jonathan and Mary (Batchelder) French of Danville, N. H. * In the second edition the date of this marriage appears as 1 January, 1813, on the authority of Amos Sabin Clark, but James Francis Savage thinks that 20 January, 1813, is correct, as the latter date is from the family Bible. The town and family records frequently do not agree.

The children of Nathaniel,⁶ all born in Sandown, were 26. i. Abner⁷ b. 2 Jan. 1814, d. 29 May, 1890.

John⁶ (*Theodore*⁵) of Pittsfield, N. H., where he was born 4 October, 1802, and died 6 January, 1885. Farmer and fuller. He was a captain in the militia of New Hampshire, and was an active Whig until the party ceased to exist. For sixty-one years he never failed to attend town meeting, or to cast his vote at a State election, and for twenty-one years he was parish clerk of the Congregational Church. He was buried on the 9th in the new cemetery in Pittsfield, where rest the remains of his wife, two daughters and a grandchild.

Rev. Mr. Greeley of Gilmanton officiated at the funerals of John⁶ and of his wife.

The remains of the child, Sarah Caroline, who died of scarlet fever in 1836, were removed soon after her mother's death in 1876 from the old graveyard to her father's lot in the new cemetery, and her light-brown hair was found to be well preserved. She was a bright, pretty child, with blue eyes, and the only one of the family that had light hair.

The photograph from which the portrait opposite was made was taken about 1870, and the fac simile is of his signature in his eighty-second year.

The following is an extract from a notice of him in the local paper (The Analecta, January 10, 1885):

DEATH OF A VALUED CITIZEN.

On Tuesday morning, January 6, at 10.30 o'clock, passed from earthly cares one of the oldest citizens, Mr. John Clarke, aged 82 years, 3 months, 2 days. Death's instrument in his removal was the dread disease, pneumonia. Deceased was the oldest native resident of this town.

Mr. Clarke was a member of the Congregational church, and for many years its efficient clerk. His penmanship at that time is said to be a model of neatness and precision. Possessing a strong constitution, and maintaining careful regimen and good habits, he was able at the last to fight for seven weeks a disease which generally proves fatal in much less time.

A strong characteristic in his actions was his substantially deciding in the right, and holding to a decided opinion. No one thought of questioning his decision. In his dealings he was square and upright, and he won the high respect of all who knew him.

The house in which he lived for sixty years, with the exception of a single year, about 1844, when he rented and occupied a farm in Northwood, N. H., was built by him when he was first married, and was on land that had belonged to his father. Within the past sixteen years (1901) the house has been greatly changed, and the front only presents an appearance similar to what it did in Capt. John's lifetime. The outbuildings are either new or made over, and it seems hardly worth while to have in this book a picture of the house as it is. The pond near the house is still (1901) known as Clark's Pond, and is almost the only familiar object to the writer.

He married 2 March, 1825, Asenath, born in Loudon, N. H., 19 February, 1801, died in Pittsfield, 10 May, 1876, daughter of Stephen and Mary (Sanborn) Wells.* Stephen Wells was a soldier in the Revolution, and is said to have been one of Washington's body-guard during the winter at Valley Forge, and had the rank of lieutenant either in the Continental Army or in the militia. He was born 28 January, 1753, and died in Loudon, N. H., 19 November, 1835; his wife was born 23 January, 1763, and died 5 September, 1827.

John⁶ Clark's children, all born in Pittsfield, were

- i. Mary Ann⁷ b. —, 1825, d. 16 Mar. 1895, in Exeter, N. H., m. 8 July, 1840, Samuel E. Brown and had i. Mary Elliott⁸ Brown b. 7

* She was daughter of Benjamin⁶ Sanborn of Deerfield, N. H., who was fourth in descent from Lieut. John Sanborn² of Hampton, N. H., who was son of John, who came from Derbyshire, Eng. The mother of Benjamin⁶ Sanborn was Mary⁴ Sanborn, a granddaughter of Lieut. John² Sanborn, and also of Capt. Samuel Sherburne, the Indian fighter, who was killed by the Indians, 4 August, 1691. Mary (Sanborn) Wells's mother was Theodate Batchelder, and her (Mary's) ancestry included the Coffins, Taylors, Beans, Pages, Hutchinses, Dearborns, Wards, Swetts, Weares, Smiths, and other Hampton families. She was also descended from Ambrose Gibbons. Her grandfather, "Squire" Peter Sanborn of Kingston, N. H., who was a member of the Third Provincial Congress in 1775, is said to have walked twenty miles in one day in January, 1810, when nearly ninety-seven years old. The prominence of the Sanborns in New Hampshire is too well known to require any comment.

 them is Worster or Worcester. Mrs. Sarah

Caroline⁷ (Clarke) Rowell was educated at Pittsfield and Berwick academies, and before her marriage taught school very successfully in Loudon and Chichester, N. H., and in Lynnfield, Mass. She also taught, it is said, at the Pittsfield Academy. See "The Analecta" (Pittsfield) July 5, 1889.

37. viii. Stephen Wells⁷ b. 30 June, 1837, d. 24 Apr. 1889.

ix. Anna Greeley⁷ b. 24 Dec. 1838, m. 17 Dec. 1859, Solon Greenleaf Blaisdell b. in Danville, Vt., 11 Feb. 1834, son of Greenleaf C. and Emeline (Babbitt) Blaisdell. In 1849 Solon went to Pittsfield, N. H., and learned the saddler's trade, but attended Phillips Academy in Danville when he had the means. On 11 August, 1856, he left New York for San Francisco, by steamer "George Low," having a rough passage; had considerable success mining, but in July, 1859, he returned to Pittsfield. On 5 September, 1862, he enlisted from Pittsfield as fourth sergeant of company F, 12th regiment, N. H. Vols., soon became first sergeant, was slightly wounded 3 June, 1864, and was commissioned second lieutenant 18 May, 1865. He was present at the capture of Richmond, and was honorably discharged; resumed his business at Pittsfield, and was town clerk there for two years. On 3 October, 1870, he went to California, and in May, 1873, removed from San Francisco to San Diego, where he was in the harness business two years. From 1875 to 1886 he had an apiary in Poway, from 1886 to 1896 he was a florist in Coronado, and then went to Denver, Col. for his health, but returned to California, and died at the residence of his son, Dr. Frank Ellsworth⁸ Blais-dell, at Mokelumne Hill, Calaveras County, 6 April, 1897. The funeral was at the Episcopal Church there, and his remains were interred at Mokelumne Hill. In Poway he had extensive ranches, and in 1882 was elected county supervisor for two years.* The children, all born in Pittsfield, were 1. Frank Ellsworth⁸ Blaisdell b. 13 Mar. 1862; widely known as a naturalist. He graduated at the Cooper Medical College in November, 1889, and had a successful practice in Mokelumne. "Frank, when he came from Cape Nome — where he went on a collecting trip — accepted a position in the Cooper Medical College in San Francisco." [Letter of Anna Greeley⁹ (Clarke) Blaisdell, dated San Diego, June 17, 1901.] He had been offered this position previously, which is that of instructor in embryology and comparative anatomy. He m. at Mokelumne Hill, 18 Feb. 1894, Ella Kelley, dau. of Samuel Churter and Emily Caroline Peek, and has Frank Ellsworth⁹ Blaisdell, Jr., b. 31 Mar. 1896. Mr. Peek is a prominent citizen and owns much land at Mokelumne Hill, and his daughter was born there. Some of his land contains veins of gold. 2. John Clarke⁸ Blaisdell b. 16 Sept. 1864, d. in San Francisco, 17 June, 1871. 3. Emeline Greeley⁸ Blaisdell b. 10 Apr. 1866, d. in Pittsfield, N. H., 16 Aug. 1866. 4. Elmer Sargent⁸ Blaisdell b. 30 Sept. 1867, d. in San Francisco, 1 July, 1871. Elmer was named by his uncle John Theodore⁷ Clarke for a friend of his.

* Mr. Blaisdell found the position of supervisor difficult, owing to the fact that the county, San Diego, contained 14,500 square miles, nearly 1,000 square miles more than the combined areas of the States of Vermont, Rhode Island and Delaware.

Greenleaf⁶ (*Theodore*⁵) of Pittsfield, N. H., where he was born 14 October, 1809, and died 10 August, 1875. A farmer. When about twenty years of age he was shot in the face and chest by a half-witted boy who had got possession of a gun, and these wounds are said to have affected his health many years later, and that the throat trouble of which he died was caused by them. His niece, Mrs. Mary A. C. Brown, wrote a graphic description of seeing him brought home wounded, and an account of the accident, in a letter dated 13 January, 1883. The monument in his lot is one of the handsomest and most massive in the new cemetery in Pittsfield. The inscription reads

William Cogswell⁶ (*Greenleaf*⁵) of Manchester, N. H., was born in Atkinson, 10 December, 1810, and attended the academy there. He graduated with honor at Dartmouth College in 1832, and received the degree of A. M. ; was principal of Gilmanton Academy one year, at the same time reading law, which he continued at the Law School of Harvard University and with Stephen Carr Lyford, A. M., of Meredith Bridge, N. H. ; admitted to the bar in 1836, and practiced four years in Meredith, when he was made county solicitor on the creation of Belknap County and held that office from 1840-44. In the spring of 1844 he moved to Manchester, and in 1846 was one of the committee of seven chosen by the town to obtain from the Legislature a city charter ; in August, 1846, Mr. Clarke was a candidate for first mayor of the new city, but withdrew his name after the first election, a majority then being necessary to elect, no candidate receiving more than a plurality. From 1846-48 he was chief engineer of the fire department ; in 1854 he was again the Democratic candidate for mayor, and in 1858 a member of the board of aldermen. He was also a member of the State Constitutional Convention of 1850, city solicitor 1849-51, judge of probate for Hillsborough County from 1851 to 1856, when the political changes caused his removal ; was offered a seat on the supreme bench in 1855, which he declined ; first treasurer of the Manchester and Lawrence Railroad Company, 31 July, 1847—8 February, 1849, when he resigned, its attorney at different periods, and clerk of the company from 28 February, 1854, until his decease ; an original director of the Manchester and City banks, serving for the former from 1845 to 1849, and for the latter from 1853 to 1863 ; trustee for twenty years of the Manchester Savings Bank, and for many years of the Athenæum, until it was succeeded by the present City Library, when he was elected a trustee and clerk of the board; also trustee of Gilmanton Academy, and served on the board of visitors to the United States Military Academy at West Point in 1854. At his decease he had been a trustee of the City Library for eighteen years. In 1863 he was appointed attorney-general of New Hampshire for a term of five years, and again in 1868, and filled the office with distinguished ability until his death.

Mr. Clarke was a Democrat until the Civil war, when he became a Republican. On 17 June, 1863, he was temporary chairman of the great mass meeting, said to have been attended by thirty thousand people, at Concord, N. H. He read the call for this gathering, the purpose of which was to sustain the administration in the prosecution of the war. Previously Mr. Clarke had been instrumental in organizing the Democrats who were in favor of the war as a Union party, and in 1862 and 1863 they ran a separate ticket. He was one of the earliest members and first officers of the Second Congregational or Franklin Street Church; a gentleman of fine presence, integrity and honor, an experienced lawyer, and a faithful public servant. He died suddenly in Manchester, 25 April, 1872, and his funeral was attended by many eminent men. There were many tributes to his high character, and the resolutions of the Manchester Bar contained these words: "He was a faithful officer, a wise counsellor, a respected citizen, and a Christian gentleman. He was courteous in manner, efficient in duty, upright in character, and an ornament to his profession." The Hillsborough County Bar and the Manchester Common Council also passed resolutions expressing appreciation.

The History of Manchester, 1875, contains a portrait and sketch of Mr. Clarke, as does also the volume entitled "Successful New Hampshire Men," 1882.

He married 1834, Anna Maria, born 12 October, 1811, died in Lake Village, N. H., 19 April, 1883, daughter of Stephen Leavitt and Anna (Norton) Greeley. Her father was fifth in descent from Andrew Greeley of Salisbury, Mass. Mrs. Clarke was an intellectual and most estimable lady. The children were Francis⁶ (*Greenleaf*⁵) of Andover, Mass., was born in Atkinson, N. H., 28 March, 1814, and died 10 July, 1852. He studied medicine with Dr. George Cogswell of Bradford, for two years, and with Drs. Channing, Lewis and Warren one year. He graduated from the Medical School of Harvard University with honor in 1835, having taken the "Boylston Prize" for the best dissertation on a given subject connected with medicine; settled in Andover as a physician in 1835, but was obliged to give up practice because of failing health. In 1845 he became connected with a manufacturing company at Ballardvale. He died of consumption after a long illness, which he had endured with patience and fortitude. He married 9 July, 1839, Sarah Fisher, born 7 March, 1817, died 8 June, 1849, daughter of Abraham and Mary (Sykes) Marland. Mr. Marland was born in Ashton Parish, Lancashire, England, and came to Andover, Mass., in 1807, where he engaged in manufacture; later he founded the Marland Manufacturing Company. He was a prominent citizen and zealous Churchman, and through his exertions the first Episcopal Church in that town was organized. His daughter, Mary Sykes Marland, was the wife of Francis Cogswell, brother of Mrs. Julia (Cogswell) Clarke.

The children of Francis were Greenleaf⁶ (*Greenleaf*⁵) of Atkinson, N. H., where he was born 7 May, 1816, and died 18 August, 1888. He was educated at the Atkinson Academy, and was principal of the Lynn High School when a young man, but returned to Atkinson, and was justice of the peace and quorum, representative to the Legislature 1842, 1843 and 1877, councillor from the 1st district 1850 and 1851, on Governor Hubbard's staff, with the rank of colonel, in 1842. In 1846 he was a selectman. He was appointed by the Governor and Council special commissioner of the Boston and Maine Railroad in 1846 and served until 1856 inclusive. He was again appointed in 1880 for four years. In 1876 he was a member of the Constitutional Convention, and in 1878 was elected to the Senate for two years from the 21st district, as a Republican, and served on the Senate committees on railroads, finance, corporations and agriculture. He was the treasurer of the trustees of Atkinson Academy, from 1866 until his death a member of that board, and in 1887, as its president, he made the opening address at the centennial celebration of the Academy. The Honorable Nathaniel Haven⁷ Clark also spoke on that occasion, representing the Governor.

Greenleaf Clarke was a grantee and surveyor, and afterward director, of the Manchester and Lawrence Railroad Company, and a leading trustee of the New England Agricultural Society. He was not only an extensive farmer, but was interested in the lumber business, and did considerable land surveying. In religion he was a Congregationalist, and was a Royal Arch Mason. "In private and public life his influence was always exerted for good, his word was unquestioned, and his integrity and character above the breath of suspicion." His funeral was on Tuesday afternoon, and was "probably the largest private funeral ever seen in town." He was buried in the old graveyard in Atkinson on the 21st.

The Haverhill Bulletin paid the following tribute to the deceased :

Greenleaf Clarke was a typical product of the New England farm. He was a man in whom native capacity and shrewd sense united with an honest purpose to command a general respect and liking. Of strong convictions, but fair-minded, frank, hearty, even-tempered, he had many and warm friends and scarce an enemy. Few men in southern Rockingham have been more, or more deservedly, prominent. An active politician he was given opportunities for the conduct of civil affairs; a man of good judgment, his advice was sought in matters of moment; with a character of unclouded integrity, he was intrusted with the management of funds and estates. And in whatever situation he was placed he acquitted himself with credit. Outside of our own townsmen we shall miss no more familiar figure than his from our public streets. And to some of our citizens, themselves born not far from his birthplace, his death will bring a more personal loss, and renew that sense of loneliness which, in the nature of things, advancing years emphasize to all of us, and with increasing force.

He married 15 March, 1855, Sarah Jane, born 2 July, 1829, died in Atkinson, after an illness of two years or more, 10 April, 1888, daughter of Silas and Lucy (Noyes) Noyes of Atkinson. Mrs. Clarke was a lady of high character and much esteemed.

The children, all born in Atkinson, were

- i. Sarah Noyes⁷ b. 3 Apr. 1856.
- ii. Mary Coburn⁷ b. 9 Dec. 1857.
- iii. Greenleaf⁷ b. 5 June, 1862. In 1888 he was of the firm of Tarbox & Clarke, wholesale grain dealers in Boston, and in 1900 he was connected with Poore's Farm Agency, real estate and insurance brokers, in Haverhill, Mass.

DR. MOSES CLARKE.

The daughters of Col. Greenleaf Clarke have sold the old homestead in Atkinson and now live on Grove Street in Exeter, N. H. At the centennial celebration of Atkinson Academy, 1887, a poem by Sarah Noyes Clarke was read. (See the published account of the exercises of the day.)

Moses⁶ (*Greenleaf*⁵) was born in Atkinson, N. H., 18 January, 1818. His earlier education was acquired at the academy in his native village, which he left to enter, in 1837, Pembroke Academy in Pembroke, N. H., graduating 1 August, 1838; among his classmates was Governor Charles Henry Bell, LL. D., of Exeter, N. H. The succeeding year Moses taught an academy in Danvers, Mass., and in the summer of 1840 went to Meredith Bridge (now Laconia), N. H., where he resided four months with his brother, William Cogswell Clarke, studying medicine with the late Dr. Josiah Crosby of Manchester, N. H., then at Meredith Bridge. Thence he went to Dartmouth Medical College, receiving his degree in November, 1842. While at Hanover he was a member of a private class instructed by Prof. Dixie Crosby, M. D., LL. D., Prof. Edmund Randolph Peaslee, M. D., LL. D., and Prof. Oliver Payson Hubbard, M. D., LL. D. As a student Dr. Clarke was not very fond of books, but had a practical mind and retentive memory, which enabled him to turn to account whatever he saw done or heard described; yet he was a faithful, diligent student, and a favorite with all his instructors.

Soon after graduation he began to practice in Derry, N. H., where he remained until the fall of 1844, when he went to Wethersfield, Conn., and took the practice of the late Dr. Archibald Welch. Dr. Clarke moved, early in 1845, to Cambridge, Mass., settling in Ward Three (East Cambridge), where he spent the remainder of his life. For many years he had been a sufferer from a pulmonary disease, but the resolute courage with which he persevered in a large and increasing practice rendered the extent of his disease unsuspected. He continued active in his profession until January, 1864, when the loss of both voice and strength compelled him to relinquish it. He died on the morning of Sunday, 27 March, 1864, and was buried in Cambridge Cemetery. From numerous tributes to his memory the following have been selected :

He was admitted to the Massachusetts Medical Society in 1845, and was one of its councillors in 1854. He was one of the most active members of the Middlesex South District Medical Society from its organization in 1851, and was one of its censors from 1857 to 1863, and twice represented it at the meetings of the American Medical Association. He was the city physician of Cambridge from 1851 until his death. From 1848 to 1862, excepting the years 1855, 1860 and 1861, he was a member of the School Committee of Cambridge, and for many years was the secretary of the Board. From 1861 until the time of his death, he was one of the vice-presidents of the East Cambridge Five Cents Savings Bank.

He was chairman of the standing committee of the Evangelical Congregational Society of East Cambridge from 1852 until his death, and, in connection with his work as city physician, he devoted a part of every Sunday to the religious instruction of the inmates of the almshouse,—a practice which he continued after the condition of his throat rendered speaking laborious and exhaustive.

MRS. LAURA WOOLSEY (DWIGHT) CLARKE.

To Dr. Clarke's nobility as a man and skill as a physician, his associates in public and private life bear ample witness. Resolutions passed by the Board of Overseers of the Poor of Cambridge speak in the highest terms of his fidelity in the discharge of his duties as city physician; and his fellows of the Middlesex Medical Society paid a warm tribute to his memory. He devoted a great deal of time to the schools, and was unceasing in his efforts to get good teachers, in detecting whom he had a rare faculty.

Dr. Clarke married in Northampton, Mass., 9 September, 1844, Laura Woolsey, born 5 June, 1817, daughter of Col. Cecil and Mary (Clap) Dwight of Northampton. Col. Dwight was son of Major Timothy Dwight, A. M. (Yale 1744), born at Fort Dummer, 27 May, 1726, the first white child born in what is now Vermont, and who owned three thousand acres of land in Northampton and vicinity. The Major's father was Col. Timothy Dwight of Northampton, the builder and first commander of Fort Dummer, 1724-26. The latter was son of Nathaniel Dwight of Hatfield, an able man, and grandson of Col. Samuel Partridge of Hatfield, Mass., and of Capt. Timothy Dwight of Dedham, Mass., the latter a son of John Dwight of Dedham, 1634. The distinguished Timothy Dwight, A. M. (Yale 1769), S. T. D. (Princeton 1787), LL. D. (Harvard 1810), president of Yale College 1795-1817, was an elder brother of Col. Cecil Dwight, and their mother, Mary Edwards, was daughter of the noted Rev. Jonathan Edwards, A. M., perhaps the greatest theologian in the history of New England, and his wife, Sarah, daughter of Rev. James Pierpont, A. M.

Mrs. Clarke was sister of William Cecil Dwight, M. D. (A. M. Yale 1844), and of Rev. Timothy Dwight, A. M. (Amherst 1827). She was also connected with the Hookers and Woolseys, names inseparably identified with the religious history of Massachusetts and Connecticut, and with the growth of Yale College.

Dr. Clarke made her acquaintance when residing in Derry, N. H., and while she was principal of the Adams Female Seminary, which position she held from 1841—. She was long ill with consumption, and died in Cambridge, Mass., 16 January, 1858, and was buried in Northampton with her two children.

He married secondly, 28 September, 1859, Frances Lucy Elizabeth, born in Worcester, Mass., 22 April, 1833, died 19 December, 1859, daughter of Simeon and Lucy (Shepard) Hastings of Worcester.

Dr. Clarke married thirdly, 17 February, 1864, Mary Watson, born in Worcester, 13 January, 1818, died 4 November, 1897, sister of his second wife and widow of Lysander C. Clark of Worcester.

The children of Moses⁶ Clarke were

- i. William Cogswell⁷ b. 16 Aug. 1845, d. 12 Aug. 1847.
- ii. Laura Dwight⁷ b. 10 Nov. 1847, d. 1 July, 1853.
43. iii. Maurice Dwight⁷ b. 2 Nov. 1851.
44. iv. Charles Cecil⁷ b. 15 Apr. 1854.

John Badger⁶ (*Greenleaf*⁵) of Manchester, N. H. was born in Atkinson, N. H., 30 January, 1820, died of heart disease, (as did his brothers William Cogswell and Greenleaf,) in Manchester, N. H., 29 October, 1891. His Christian name he derived from the Badger family, noted in the annals of New Hampshire, from which he was descended. (See p. 135.) Mr. Clarke was such a remarkable man, and so much has been written about him, that it is difficult to select items for a brief sketch of his life. The following has been gathered from different sources.

Mr. Clarke passed his boyhood on the farm that had been his father's. He studied at Atkinson Academy, and entered Dartmouth College at the age of nineteen, from which he graduated with high honors in the class of 1843, outranked in scholarship only by the late Professor John Newton Putnam, A. M. In his senior year Mr. Clarke was president of the Social Friends Society, and in 1863 of the Tri Kappa Society; he received the degree of A. M. from his Alma Mater.

After leaving college, he was for three years principal of the academy in Gilford (now Laconia). While teaching, he commenced the study of law in the office of Stephen C. Lyford, Esq., and continued his studies in Manchester with his brother, William C. Clarke, until admitted to the bar of Hillsborough County in 1848. On 2 February, 1849, he started for California via the Isthmus of Panama, where he was detained eleven weeks, and bought for the Manchester party of forty-three, in company with a gentleman from Maine with twenty men, the brig Copiapo, in which they left the isthmus for California with one hundred and fifty-eight passengers, Mr. Clarke being supercargo. He remained in California a little more than a year, practicing law and working in the mines.

He then spent about four months in Central America, returning home in February, 1851. He went to Salem, Mass., with the intention of establishing a law office there, but returned to Manchester and opened an office, practicing with success, until February, 1852, when, at the request of Mr. Joseph C. Emerson, he took charge of the editorial department of the Daily Mirror. The property was sold at auction 20 October, 1852, and Mr. Clarke was the purchaser of the Daily and Weekly Mirror, and of the job printing establishment connected therewith, of which he was for many years the sole owner and manager. Subsequently he purchased the Daily and Weekly American (in which the Weekly Democrat had been previously merged), and the New Hampshire Journal of Agriculture. These were all combined with the Mirror, and the name of the daily changed to Mirror and American, and the weekly from Dollar Weekly Mirror to Mirror and Farmer. After these additions to the Mirror, Mr. Clarke found it needful to enlarge both the daily and weekly papers several times.

At the outset he aspired to make the Mirror one of the leading newspapers of the country, cost what it might, and he realized his aspirations. When Mr. Clarke took possession of the Mirror, the weekly paper had but a few hundred subscribers, while now it has a larger circulation than any other paper of its class published in New England, out of Boston. Previous to the war the Mirror had been non-partisan politically, but at the time of the war Mr. Clarke came out boldly on the side of the Administration, and his paper has ever since advocated the principles of the Republican party.

In connection with the newspapers, Mr. Clarke built up a very extensive book and job printing business, and to this he added a bookbinding establishment. He published many valuable works of his own and others; among his publications were "The London-derry Celebration," "Sanborn's History of New Hampshire," "Clarke's Manchester Almanac and Directory," "Clarke's History of Manchester," "Successful New Hampshire Men," and several smaller works.

Mr. Clarke refused to be a candidate for office, because he believed that office-holding would interfere with his influence as a journalist, but was a delegate to the Baltimore Convention that nominated Abraham Lincoln for the second Presidential term, and was one of the National Committee of seven (including ex-Governor William Claflin of Massachusetts, ex-Governor Marcus L. Ward of New Jersey, and Honorable Henry T. Raymond of the New York Times), who managed that campaign. He was connected with the College of Agriculture; a trustee of the Merrimack River Savings Bank from its organization in 1858; a master, for three years, of the Amoskeag Grange No. 3; for two years lieutenant-colonel of the Amoskeag Veterans, and was twice elected commander, but declined. Nine times he was elected State printer:—in 1867, 1868, 1869, 1877, 1878, and in 1879 for two years, and three times since.

Mr. Clarke was greatly interested in elocution, and for two years gave to the Manchester High School forty dollars each year in prizes for public speaking and reading. In 1874 he offered one hundred dollars a year for five years to Dartmouth College for the same object. In October, 1879, he also proposed to give forty dollars a year for five years for superiority in elocution in the high and grammar schools of Manchester, and in February, 1882, Mr. Clarke offered to add twenty dollars a year for the next two years. The result of this liberal encouragement has been a great interest and improvement in reading and speaking in the public schools of Manchester, and a permanent fund of fifteen hundred dollars accrued from the exhibitions at the end of the five years, thus insuring a perpetual income for the Clarke prizes.

He gave considerable attention to farming, and did much with voice and pen to bring about an improvement in the breeds of horses and other stock in the State. His admiration for good horses and his fondness for hunting were so much a part of his life that any sketch of him without allusion to them would be incomplete. He was the first president of the New Hampshire Game and Fish League, serving fifteen years, and was the prime mover in its organization. Throughout the hunting sections of New Hampshire, Vermont and Maine, Mr. Clarke was well known, and there are many reminiscences of his coon hunting expeditions.

In 1872 being obliged by the advice of physicians to abstain from all business for several months, he visited Great Britain, France and Germany.

He was for years a liberal supporter of the Franklin Street Congregational Church, Manchester, a constant attendant upon its worship, and was elected to various offices in that society.

Colonel Clarke was a man of fine physique and commanding presence. He was tall, portly and robust; his face was fair, his forehead full and high, his eye bright, and he walked erect with an elastic step; he dressed in good taste and could adapt himself to any company. He was a kindly, generous man, and an enthusiastic believer in athletic sports, to the support of which he constantly contributed. He frequented the theatre, the circus, and the agricultural and mechanical exhibitions. "He enjoyed life better than any man I ever knew. He looked on the bright side of things. When he succeeded he rejoiced; when he failed he said 'It will be my turn to win next time.'" "He was possessed of a brave, earnest, and sound mind, and never wasted his energies or time upon aspirations which might be barren of results." "As a horseman Colonel Clarke possessed a national reputation." No other man in New Hampshire had owned so many valuable road and family horses as he, and his judgment concerning them was excellent. He organized the New Hampshire Horse Breeders' Association, and was vice-president of the New England Horse Breeders' Association.

A portrait and sketch of Colonel Clarke is contained in the History of Manchester, and also in the volume entitled "Successful New Hampshire Men."

Several clergymen officiated at his funeral, Monday, 2 November, at 1.30 P. M. from the Franklin Street Church, and the remains were placed in Valley Cemetery.

John Badger⁶ Clarke married 29 July, 1852, Susan Greeley, born in Gilmanton, July, 1819, died 10 May, 1885, daughter of Enoch and Dolly Folsom (Robinson) Moulton of Gilmanton, N. H. Mrs. Clarke was descended from John Moulton who was in Hampton in 1638, and also included in her family connections the Thurstons, Gilmans, Lampreys, Towles, Beans, Philbricks and other old New England families.

Mr. Clarke married secondly, 1 July, 1886, Olive, born 26 May, 1841, daughter of Joseph Noyes and Olive (Whittier) Rand of Warner, N. H. Mrs. Olive (Rand) Clarke was appointed trustee of the State Industrial School 3 April, 1888, and still (1897) holds that position.

The children of John Badger⁶ Clarke are

Amos Sabin⁷ (*Nathaniel*⁶) of Sandown, N. H., was born there 30 October, 1837, and was educated in the district schools and at Tilton Academy. He was chosen a member of the school committee in 1860 and 1861, selectman in 1864 and 1865, and in 1867 town clerk, and has held that office continually ever since, with the exception of the years 1869, 1870 and 1871, a service of thirty-one years. He was town treasurer five years, 1884 to 1889, and in recent years has been town auditor, trustee of the public library, etc. He lives on the old homestead (see p. 116), and is a farmer, and also runs the large grist mill. He owns many acres of land. His half-sister, Elizabeth Ann (Wheeler), widow of Benjamin Foster of Salem, N. H., formerly kept house for him, and in 1896 his aunt, Mary R. Allen, aged ninety years, lived at his house. The family are Methodists. For a sketch of Mr. Clark's life see the Biographical Review, Rockingham County, 1896, p. 76. He was a member of the Legislature in 1876 and 1877.

DAVID CLARK'S CLOTH MILL IN SANDOWN, N. H.

In reference to the picture opposite this page, Mr. Clark wrote under date of 16 September, 1901: "I have had a photograph taken of the old mill where Grandfather David Clark carried on the clothing business when he first came to Sandown. The exterior of the mill is the same now as then, except that an ell has been taken away from the rear (the building is used now only as a grist-mill)."

Mr. Clark married in Lowell, 22 March, 1899, Hattie May, daughter of Rufus Henry and Mary Boardman (Hill) Gilman; the former born in Exeter, N. H., and the latter in Exeter, Me. Rufus Henry Gilman was a soldier in the Civil war, and died in the service.

Daniel⁷ (*Daniel*⁶) of Farmington, Me., was born in Kingston, N. H., 29 September, 1819, and died in Farmington, 5 June, 1900. He attended the academy in Farmington in 1837, returned to New Hampshire in 1839, but went again to Farmington in 1843, married and settled in Mercer, Me. In 1860 he became a resident of Farmington. In March, 1893, Mr. and Mrs. Clark entertained those persons who resided in Farmington prior to 1850, and who still lived there. The local paper gave an account of the occasion.

Mr. Clark has been United States mail contractor, and was one of the veteran stage and livery proprietors of the State, under the firm name of D. Clark & Son. He married 4 January, 1843, Sophia Stewart, born 14 April, 1822, died 12 August, 1873, daughter of Samuel and Betsey (Brown) Church of Farmington.

Nathaniel Haven⁷ (Nathaniel⁶) of Plaistow, N. H., was born there 26 February, 1826, and died there 27 April, 1899; lived on the old homestead, and was the seventh in direct line who had borne the name Nathaniel. In 1876 he was a member of the Constitutional Convention, and in 1878 of the Legislature; in November, 1884, he was elected senator for two years from June, 1885, and in 1886 he became a member of the Governor's Council. On 9 September, 1885, he was appointed one of the three commissioners on behalf of New Hampshire to settle the boundary question between that State and Massachusetts; the same year he was one of the three vice-presidents of the New Hampshire Agricultural Society. It is said that Mr. Clark held many town offices, as have other members of his family, but the writer has no data.

There is a portrait and brief sketch of his life in a book entitled "New Hampshire Men," and published by the New Hampshire Publishing Company, Concord, George H. Moses, editor.

Nathaniel Haven Clark married 16 December, 1851, Elizabeth, born in Atkinson 25 September, 1824, daughter of Joseph Badger and Judith (Peaslee) Cogswell.

Mrs. Clark's brothers were William Cogswell, M. D. (Dartmouth 1845), who was president of the Massachusetts Medical Society in 1876, '77, and member of the Governor's Council in 1877; Francis Cogswell, for many years superintendent of schools in Cambridge, Mass., and who received the degree of A. M. from Harvard in 1881. She is first cousin of John Bear Doane Cogswell, A. B. (Dartmouth 1850), LL. B. (Harvard 1852) member of the General Court four years, and president of the State Senate (Mass.) three years; and of William Cogswell, A. M., the well-known member of Congress from the Essex district, who was a brevet-brigadier-general of volunteers, mayor of Salem five years, and representative to the General Court five years. He received the degree of LL. B., in course, from Harvard in 1860, and that of A. M., honorary, from Dartmouth in 1878.

The Cogswells, Badgers, Pearsons and Peaslees have so intermarried that a tabular pedigree alone will show the relationships. Mrs. Elizabeth (Cogswell) Clark is niece of Mrs. Julia (Cogswell) Clarke. One curious complication of relationship in this family is caused by the marriage of Brig.-Gen. Joseph Badger and Hannah Pearson, the latter a daughter of the General's step-mother, Mrs. Hannah (Moody) Pearson-Badger, by her husband, Ebenezer Pearson. In consequence of this alliance many of the Clarkes and Cogswells are descended from both wives of Joseph Badger, the merchant. (See p. 135.)

The children of Nathaniel Haven⁷ Clark were

- i. Elizabeth Cogswell⁸ b. 12 Mar. 1853, m. 24 Dec. 1873, Albert Clinton Barrows of Haverhill, Mass., druggist, b. in Derry, N. H., 26 Apr. 1850, son of Freeman Quimby and Hannah (Pearson) Barrows. Children: 1. Nathaniel Haven⁹ Barrows b. 7 July, 1877, m. 6 Feb. 1901, Julia Sutherland Rutter of Washington, D. C. 2 and 3. Betsy Brickett⁹ and Sally Tyler⁹ Barrows (twins), b. 15 Oct. 1883.
- ii. Susan Moody⁸ b. 18 Aug. 1858.
- iii. Faunny Kemble⁸ b. 12 Apr. 1860, d. 18 Oct. 1861.
- iv. Harriet Frances⁸ b. 4 Feb. 1864, m. 18 Sept. 1895, Herbert Edwin Gage, b. in Boxford, Mass., 9 Aug. 1865, son of Roscoe Winsor and Abby Rebecca (Cole) Gage. No children. Herbert E. Gage graduated at Dartmouth College in 1887; he is a civil engineer in the employ of the Boston and Albany Railroad Company, and resides in Allston.

Greenleaf⁷ (Nathaniel⁶) of St. Paul, Minn., was born in Plaistow, N. H., 23 August, 1835; attended school in Plaistow and later fitted for college at Atkinson Academy. He graduated from Dartmouth College in 1855, and soon began to read law in Portsmouth in the office of Albert Ruter Hatch and Horace Webster.

In 1857 Mr. Clark graduated from the Law School of Harvard University, and received the degree of LL. B.; the same year he was admitted to the Suffolk Bar, practiced for a while in Roxbury, and in the autumn of 1858 located in St. Paul, where he became an assistant in the law office of Michael Ames, with whom and with Honorable Moses Sherburne he soon formed the firm of Ames, Sherburne & Clark. In 1860 this firm was dissolved and Mr. Clark formed a partnership with Samuel R. Bond, who removed from the State in 1862, when the firm of Bond & Clark ceased. After three years of practice without a partner, Mr. Clark joined with the distinguished Horace R. Bigelow, and the firm of Bigelow & Clark soon acquired a very large business. In 1870 Charles E. Flandrau, who had been a justice of the State Supreme Court, was added to the firm, which continued until the appointment of Greenleaf Clark as a justice of the Supreme Court of Minnesota in 1881. He served only about a year, but several noted cases came before him, such as the question of the constitutionality of the laws for the adjustment of the Minnesota State Railroad Bonds, and the decisions were of great importance.

In 1885 he formed a partnership with Homer C. Eller and with his (Judge Clark's) nephew, Jared How, under the firm name of Clark, Eller & How, and remained in business with them until his retirement from practice in January, 1888. The earlier firms of which Judge Clark was a member were attorneys for the St. Paul and Pacific Railroad Companies, for the Minnesota Central Railway Company, for the St. Paul and Chicago Railway Company and for the Southern Minnesota Railroad Company. Many great problems of railroad law were dealt with successfully by these firms, and also subsequent to 1882 Judge Clark was eminent for his ability in adjusting consolidations and contracts of railroads. He was a leader of the Bar in the Northwest, "both intellectually and morally honest," possessed in the highest degree with a love of justice, and recognized as a great lawyer. In 1879 he was appointed a regent of the University of Minnesota, which office he has continued to hold, by successive reappointments, to the present time.

He was born in Atkinson, N. H., 17 January, 1833; he married 3 December, 1861, Philetta, born 7 September, 1840, daughter of Joseph and Eliza (Martin) Thayer of Napierville, Ill., and had

Y., and has Robert Jerome⁹ Clark b. in Dodge Centre, 21 May, 1901. David G. Clark is a merchant.

Nathaniel Sibley⁷ (*Nathaniel*⁶) of Springvale, Me., was born in Union, Me., 16 September, 1847, married 28 September, 1874, Cora Matilda, born 12 March, 1851, died 21 August, 1887, daughter of Eben Stone and Nancy (Stone) Messer, and had

- i. Frank Herbert⁸ b. 4 Mar. 1877, in Union, Me. He was prepared for college at the Cushing Academy in Ashburnham, Mass., graduated at Williams in June, 1901, and is a member of the Phi Beta Kappa society. Soon after graduation he went to Chicago to enter the employ of the Western Electric Company.

Frank Algeroy⁷ (*Nathaniel*⁶) of Springvale, Me., born in Union, Me., 31 December, 1855. He was educated in the town schools, and during the last illness of his father, who was a trader and farmer, he carried on the farm for three years. Both of his parents died before he was twenty years old, the farm passed into the possession of his older brother, and on 25 March, 1877, Frank went to Springvale and entered the employ of J. A. Butler & Co., as clerk and office boy. After the decease of the senior member of the firm Mr. Clark became a partner, but sold his interest in November, 1896, and in December with J. A. Butler and E. F. Davenport started a new factory for the manufacture of children's shoes. Mr. Davenport left the partnership in 1890, and in 1897, owing to Mr.

Clark's ill health, the firm of Butler & Clark was dissolved. Mr. Clark was instrumental in forming the Butler Spring Water Company, which supplies Springvale, and is its superintendent and treasurer. In 1900 he became foreman of the packing and shipping department of the Shaw-Goding Shoe Company.

From his early years he has been greatly interested in music; at fifteen he sang alto in the choir of the Congregational Church and at twenty baritone in the Methodist Church. Although a Universalist he has been the principal chorister of the Free Will Baptist Church since 1879, and has composed several hymns for use in its service. He was made a member of Friendship Lodge No. 69, I. O. O. F., in 1878, has held most of its offices, been treasurer since 1890, and for three years was district deputy of the Grand Lodge.

For three years Mr. Clark was treasurer of the Springfield Agricultural and Mechanical Association, and also takes much interest in town affairs, doing what he can for the welfare of the community. For this genealogy he has contributed valuable material.

Mr. Clark is one of the highly respectable minority of the descendants of Nathaniel Clarke of Newbury who are Democrats; fifty years ago, as far as the writer can learn, the Democrats had a large majority in the family.

Frank Algeroy Clark married 1 July, 1880, Fannie Albertina, born 26 August, 1860, daughter of Albert Francis and Mary Emily (Perkins) Warren.

Child:

- i. Avon Julian^s b. 17 Feb. 1893.

Samuel Greeley⁷ (*John*⁶) was born in Pittsfield, N. H., 17 June, 1827, and died in Bristol, R. I., Tuesday, 19 April, 1887; he was buried in Mount Auburn Cemetery, near Boston, the 22d. He obtained his early education in the public schools of his native town, and at Phillips Exeter Academy, where he was a student from January, 1845, to December, 1847, made a brilliant record for scholarship, and was the president of the Golden Branch Society. Entering Harvard University as a sophomore in 1848, he graduated first scholar in the class of 1851. At the college exhibition 16 October, 1849, he gave an English version from Cicero's "De Legibus," and at that of 15 October, 1850, an English oration on "Sir Robert Peel."

While at Exeter and Cambridge he taught in various places, including Raymond, N. H., and was at one time an usher in the Boston Latin School. He began the study of law in the office of Honorable Daniel Webster and John P. Healey, being brought into frequent contact with Mr. Webster during the last year of that great statesman's life. Mr. Clarke was admitted to the bar of Suffolk County, but practiced only a few years, his health having been seriously undermined by close application; he was for many years a justice of the peace. From 1865-70 he resided in Harvard, Mass., and was for four years a member of the school committee, and did much to improve the schools of that town.

As a member of the Public Library Committee he prepared the catalogue which was issued from the press in 1868, and is the first printed catalogue of the Public Library in Harvard. (See the History of Harvard, p. 425.)

His extensive travels included four visits to Europe; the first from February, 1854, to the summer of 1855, was devoted to the more familiar countries. The second was made in the barque Clifton from New York 2 December, 1874, for Messina via Lisbon; the third was early in 1876, and the last in the winter of 1876-77. He also took a voyage in the ship Electra from Boston in November, 1872, to California via Cape Horn, and returned overland. On 9 November, 1875, he sailed from New York in the barque Witch for Port Elizabeth, Cape of Good Hope, and came home by steamers via England. He not only took pleasure in exploring out-of-the-way places, but well understood the science of navigation, and made the necessary mathematical calculations with ease.

Endowed with a peculiar talent for acquiring languages, he spoke French, German, Italian, Spanish and Portuguese. For the classics he had a remarkable fondness all his life, and read both Greek and Latin, not laying aside this favorite occupation until shortly before his death, a Latin book being one of the last volumes which he read. He was also a student of the old Anglo-Saxon language. The best English literature, and the beauties of nature, whose lover he was, furnished him additional resources. Although widely read in general history, and greatly interested in the events and men of the past, he cared comparatively little for the details of local history or for genealogy, tastes for which are highly developed in his son and young granddaughter, who also have his liking for general history. He was made a Mason in the Lodge Mary's Chapel, Edinburgh, Scotland, and was a member of the Psi Upsilon and other college societies; also a communicant of the Episcopal Church, and a constant attendant upon its services. He was an enthusiastic sportsman, and his interests were remarkably varied. When a young man he was adjutant of the 18th regiment of New Hampshire militia, and rendered some service at the beginning of the Civil war in recruiting and drilling men.*

The fac-simile is from his signature as a justice, written in December, 1870, presumably with a quill, which he always preferred to a steel pen, and constantly used.

S. G. Blake,
Justice of the Peace for County of Worcester

Mr. Clarke was five feet and nine inches tall, and strongly built, with a tendency to stoutness as he advanced in years. He possessed great strength in his hands and wrists, and in his younger days could easily

* Among the ancestors of Mr. Clarke were deputies to the General Court of Massachusetts from Newbury twelve years, and from Salisbury five years; to the Assembly of New Hampshire from Hampton twelve years, Kingston three years and Portsmouth one year. There was also an "Assistant" Governor of N. H. (Gibbons), and a marshal of the old County of Norfolk (Page), a delegate to the Third Provincial Congress in 1775 (N. H.) (Sanborn), and a chief magistrate of Nantucket. There are also included ancestors who held the following town offices in Colonial and Provincial times, viz.: town clerk of Hampton, N. H., four years, selectmen there nearly sixty years, and deacon nineteen years; selectmen of Newbury, Mass., nine years, deacon there twenty years; selectman of Haverhill, Mass., and Portsmouth, N. H., one year each; selectman of Kingston, N. H., several years, and deacon there forty years; deacon in Deerfield, N. H., for a period unknown to the writer.

take a barrel of flour and put it in a wagon. His head was large, and his hair thick, black and curly; his hair did not become thin, and was but slightly turned to gray when he died. The same was true of his father, and both had the prominent Clarke chin, and good-sized mouths.

Samuel Greeley⁷ Clarke had brown eyes, a broad nose, and for beard wore side whiskers only, as did his father, during all the years that the writer remembers them. For sketches of his life see the New England Historical and Genealogical Register for July, 1887, and the History of Harvard, Mass., by Henry Stedman Nourse, A. M.

He married in Boston, 24 September, 1857, Martha Anne, born in Boston, 6 February, 1827, died in Needham, Mass., 30 September, 1891. Rev. Ezra Stiles Gannett, D. D., officiated at their marriage. She was the only daughter of Honorable George Horatio Kuhn of Boston, one of the most prominent business men of that city, who filled many positions of trust, and served in both branches of the Legislature. Mr. Kuhn was fourth in descent from Jacob Kuhn,* who was from the Duchy of Württemberg. Mrs. Clarke was remarkably well educated for her time, had been much in Europe, was interested in many good causes; her disposition was sunny and her life most useful and unselfish. She was buried in Mt. Auburn, 3 October, 1891. The Revs. Solon Wanton Bush and Charles Adams Allen officiated at her funeral, which was at her home in Needham, on a beautiful autumn afternoon.

* See "Jacob Kuhn and his Descendants," in the New England Historical and Genealogical Register for October, 1897, vol. 51, and reprint, with additions, issued in March, 1898, by George Kuhn⁸ Clarke.

Mrs. Kuhn was Martha, daughter of Major Walter and Martha (Tufts) Frost of Cambridge, Mass., and granddaughter of Deacon Gideon and Sarah (Ireland) Frost. Elder Edmund Frost, who settled in Cambridge in 1635, was an ancestor of Mrs. Kuhn, and she was descended from several old families resident in Middlesex County, particularly in Cambridge and Medford, and from some of the founders of Salem, Ipswich and Charlestown. Children :

Benjamin Wells⁷ (*John*⁶) a farmer of Northwood, N. H., was born in Pittsfield, 2 November, 1828, died in Northwood, 23 July, 1897, at 8.40 P. M., and was buried the following Monday in Northwood. At the funeral, which was at 2.30 P. M., Rev. William A. Bushee read an original poem of eight verses, which was printed.

These verses were in recognition of the kindness and faithfulness of the deceased, who, incapacitated by his injuries in the war for an active life, was yet often able to serve as a nurse for the sick.

He was town clerk 1868-71. He enlisted 29 August, 1862, in company F, Capt. John F. Langley, 12th regiment, N. H. Vols., Col. Joseph H. Potter, and served three years in the army of the Potomac. He was in the first battle of Fredericksburg, at Chancellorsville, Gettysburg, Port Royal, Bermuda Hundreds, Drury's Bluff, Cold Harbor and the capture of Richmond, besides two small battles. He served under Generals McClellan, Burnside, Hooker, Meade and Grant; was wounded in the thigh at Cold Harbor about 5 A. M., 3 June, 1864, and remained on the field till after 9 P. M. He said "it was a hard place;" sent to Washington, and was in a hospital four months, when he rejoined his regiment to be discharged, but his comrades persuaded him to remain and go home with them. Col. Potter then commanded a brigade, and detailed him to carry the mail, furnishing him with horses and doing all in his power to make him comfortable, and he entered Richmond with his regiment, although he had been sick and lame for many months. He was honorably discharged in Richmond, 21 June, 1865. He never recovered from his injuries during the war.

He married 7 November, 1849, Mary Ann, died in Northwood, 28 March, 1900, daughter of Jonathan Elliot and Mary (Wendell) Brown of Northwood; Mrs. Clarke was buried in Northwood, 1 April.

John Theodore⁷ (*John*⁶) of Southbridge, Mass., was born in Pittsfield, N. H., 20 October, 1833. He graduated at Phillips (Exeter) Academy in 1854, and at Dartmouth College in 1858, from which he has the degree of A. M. He taught in Hopkinton and Walpole, Mass., 1858-61, then became the principal of Nichols Academy at Dudley, Mass., and, after leaving Dudley, he was for several years principal of a private school at Orange, N. J. About 1880 he went to Chicopee, Mass., and was superintendent of schools there for four or five years, and later held that position in Walpole, N. H., and in Braintree, Mass. Since 1893 he has been superintendent of schools in Southbridge, Mass. He married 16 March, 1863, Ellen A., born in 1836, daughter of John and Esther C. (Bates) Jewett of Dudley, Mass., but has no children.

Stephen Wells⁷ (*John*⁶) of Manchester, N. H., was born in Pittsfield, N. H., 30 June, 1837, and died in Manchester, Wednesday, 24 April, 1889, and was buried in the Harmony Grove Cemetery in Portsmouth the 27th. He was named for his maternal grandfather, a soldier of the Revolution.

Stephen attended school in Pittsfield till he entered Phillips Exeter Academy in 1854, where he was president of the Golden Branch Society, and later made an excellent record for scholarship at Dartmouth College, where he graduated in July, 1862, and from which he received the degree of A. M. After leaving college he was instructor in Greek and mathematics for upward of a year at Nichols Academy in Dudley, Mass., of which his elder brother, John Theodore Clarke, A. M., was the principal. He then taught in various places until 1867, when he accepted a position as assistant in a high school at Portsmouth, N. H., becoming principal in 1874, when the high schools of the city were consolidated into one. He was very faithful as a teacher, and took a prominent part in benevolent work and in public affairs. His health failing he resigned as principal of the high school in January, 1881, his resignation taking effect in February, and the same year removed to Manchester, where he engaged in business as an optician. He was elected a member of the School Board of that city in the autumn of 1885, and devoted himself to the interests of education with characteristic fidelity, at the same time doing his utmost to further every good object, and to render service to the community in which he lived.

Although in feeble health he was prominent in many societies and organizations, including the Masons, the Odd Fellows, and the Knights Templars, and gave himself with untiring zeal to the religious work of the Methodist Church, of which he was a consistent member. As his strength failed he won the admiration of all who witnessed his wasted body made subject to his undaunted will, continuing his labors on the School Board, and discharging his many duties until shortly before his death.

A fine classical scholar, a man of the highest integrity, courteous to all, and faithful to every obligation, when most men would have despaired of accomplishing anything, he gained a place in the affections of his associates and of the entire community, and his decease called forth the warmest tributes to his memory. For sketch of his life see the New England Historical and Genealogical Register for July, 1889. (Vol. 43.)

On May 12, 1889, there was a memorial service of the Sunday School of St. Paul's Church, of which school Mr. Clarke had been for seven years the superintendent. (See local papers May 13.)

He married in Portsmouth, N. H., 5 May, 1868, Jane Annie, born in Elliot, Me., 1 November, 1842, daughter of Daniel and Elizabeth (Libby) Hill.

Mrs. Clarke died at her summer home at Old Orchard beach 17 July, 1901. The funeral services were held there at 4 o'clock on the 19th, Rev. Dr. McLaughlin, pastor of St. Paul's Methodist Episcopal Church officiating, and the remains were placed in the family lot in Harmony Grove Cemetery in Portsmouth. She was a devoted member of the Methodist Church, and in the home circle and in the community had led an exemplary Christian life. See "The Manchester News" for Friday, 19 July, 1901.

He matriculated in the Medical School of Harvard University in 1878, and graduated in 1881; he spent a year and a half in the Boston City Hospital and three months in the Boston Lying-in Hospital, and then, in March, 1883, settled in Haverhill, Mass., where he has since resided. For two years following its establishment, 1888, '89, he was one of the surgeons of the Haverhill City Hospital, declining a re-appointment, but resumed the position in 1894, and has been for the past seven years chairman of the staff. Since 1890 he has been a member of the board of consulting physicians of the Danvers Lunatic

Hospital and president of the board from 1896. He has been the president of the local board of examining surgeons under the United States pension laws from its formation in 1893. In 1886 he became a member of the school board of Haverhill, to the duties of which office he has given much time and attention, serving for a number of years as chairman of its finance committee, also of the committee on the training-school, and of the committee on evening schools. He was a prominent candidate for the Republican nomination for representative to Congress in the Sixth District in 1895. Dr. Clarke is a member of the Haverhill Whittier Club and its president since 1898; a trustee of Atkinson Academy, Atkinson, N. H.; a member of the Monday Evening Club of Haverhill, of the Harvard Club of Haverhill, of the Harvard Medical Alumni Association, of the Boston City Hospital Club; a contributing member of the Haverhill Post of the Grand Army of the Republic, and a member of the North Congregational Society of Haverhill. Charles Cecil⁷ (*Moses*⁶), was born in Cambridge, Mass., 15 April, 1854; he fitted at the Cambridge High School for Harvard University, from which he was graduated in 1874, and was a member of the Everett Athenaeum, the Pi Eta and the Phi Beta Kappa Societies. He went to China, immediately after graduation in the employ of the Chinese Government, as an officer in the Chinese Imperial Maritime Customs Service, and was stationed at the ports of Shanghai, Hankow, Wuhu and Tientsin from September, 1874—April, 1882. He then had his two years' leave, which he passed in the United States.

In April, 1884, he returned to China, and was for five years at Shanghai and at Kiungchow in the island of Hainan.

After two years spent in the United States and in Europe, he returned to China in April, 1891, and took charge of the customs service at Lungchow. At the end of five years came his two years' leave, and on his return to China in June, 1898, he was stationed at the custom house of Soochow, and also acted as post-master.

See "Harvard College, class of 1874," for sketch of his life to 1899.

He married in Cambridge, Mass., 9 January, 1884, Nellie Maria, born in Boston, 16 November, 1854, died in Shanghai, China, 3 February, 1886, daughter of George Putnam and Maria (Copeland) Carter of Cambridge.

Mr. Carter's family belonged in Lancaster, Mass., but he located in Roxbury and later in Cambridge, where he was a member of both branches of the city government, representative in the General Court 1865 and 1866, and was of the Governor's Council in 1878 and 1879. He was one of the State Commissioners of Health, Lunacy and Charity, and at the time of his death, 4 September, 1883, was chairman of the water board of the City of Cambridge. Rev. George Ware Briggs, D. D., officiated at the marriage of Charles C. Clarke and Nellie M. Carter.

Mr. Clarke married secondly, at St. Leonards-on-Sea, Sussex, England, 19 September, 1896, Marion Scott.

Arthur Eastman⁷ (*John Badger*⁶) of Manchester, N. H., was born there 13 May, 1854. He was educated at Phillips Exeter Academy and at Dartmouth College (1875), and entered the Mirror office in the fall of 1875 to familiarize himself with all branches of newspaper work.

After mastering the details of the composing and press rooms, he acquired further experience in the job department and in reading proof; he then became city editor of the Mirror, and for a number of years did all the local work alone, but subsequently with an assistant; later he assumed the duties of general and State news and review editor, remaining in this position several years, and then taking charge of the agricultural department and other features of the Mirror and Farmer, assisting at the same time in the editorial, reportorial, and business departments of the Daily Mirror. For four years he was legislative reporter of the paper at Concord, and for one year he served as telegraph editor. In these various capacities he acquired an all-round experience such as few newspaper men possess, and upon his father's death became the manager of both papers and of the job printing and bookbinding business connected with the establishment, and has since conducted most successfully the extensive concerns of the office, besides doing almost daily work with his pen for both papers.* He is also public printer of New Hampshire.

Mr. Clarke has inherited his father's energy, great capacity for work, and executive ability. He was a member of the Manchester Common Council, 1879-80. represented Ward 3 (Manchester) in the Legislature for two years from June, 1881, was adjutant of the 1st regiment, N. H. N. G., for a number of years, was statistician of the department of agriculture for New Hampshire during Garfield's administration, colonel on Governor Tuttle's staff, and is president of the New

* Addison Archer's "Interviews" regarding the circulation, etc., of the leading newspapers in New Hampshire, 1899, contains some interesting items as to the Manchester Mirror and American and the Mirror and Farmer.

Of the former it says: "It is edited with conspicuous ability," "is generally conceded to have the largest local circulation in Manchester." "It has been for many years the leading republican paper of New Hampshire." "It is clean, conservative and respectable." The daily Mirror and American has a circulation of some 7,000 copies, and even more on Saturdays, when a larger paper is issued.

"The Mirror Farm" consists of forty acres, is very successfully conducted by Col. Clarke, and many practical experiments are made there. "Colonel Clarke keeps a stable of fine horses and a kennel of hunting dogs." The circulation of the weekly Mirror and Farmer is upward of 36,000, and no expense has been spared to make it a model paper in all its departments, thoroughly practical and edited by experts. The special horse edition is a recognized authority, and has an extensive circulation not only in New England, but in such States as Kentucky. Horse breeding in New Hampshire practically dates from the introduction by the late Col. John Badger Clarke of the blood of the trotting stallion "George Wilkes." In advancing the circulation of the Mirror and Farmer, ten "Wilkes colts" were given away in one year.

Many important improvements in agriculture, such as the use of the silo and ensilage, have been greatly assisted by means of the Mirror and Farmer, and there are two pages devoted to women and the household. All important news is furnished to the farmer in a condensed form, and his interests are constantly advanced.

The department devoted to the rod and gun was established some years since.

Hampshire Press Association and the New Hampshire member of the executive committee of the National Press Association, and is a member of the Boston Press Club, the Algonquin Club (Boston), the Manchester Press Club, the Coon Club, the Calumet Club of Manchester, and the Amoskeag Grange. He is Past Exalted Ruler of Manchester Lodge of Elks, ex-president of the Derryfield Club, a member of the Manchester Board of Trade, and a director of the Northern Telegraph Company.

From his school days Colonel Clarke has been an enthusiastic student of elocution, and has attained conspicuous distinction in reading and reciting, carrying off high honors at Phillips Exeter Academy and at Dartmouth College. He has gratuitously drilled a number of pupils of the Manchester public schools who have won first prizes in the annual speaking contests. He gives yearly prizes for excellence in elocution to the schools in Hooksett, and is often invited to judge prize speaking contests at educational institutions. Ever since he became associated with the Mirror, he has had charge of its dramatic and musical departments. He has written interesting and valuable interviews with many distinguished players, which have been extensively copied by the press of the country.

Denman Thompson received from Colonel Clarke's pen the first noticeably long, analytical and complimentary criticism of his work that was ever vouchsafed to this eminent actor; it was given when Mr. Thompson was an obscure member of a variety company. Mr. Clarke has always been fond of athletic sports, and has won distinction in many lines. He organized and was captain of a picked team of ball players in Manchester that defeated the best club in the State for a prize of $100; is one of the finest skaters, both roller and ice, in New Hampshire; with a shot-gun, rifle, and revolver, he is an expert, and holds a record of thirty-eight clay pigeons broken out of forty in the days of the Manchester Shooting Club, a score that was never equalled by Manchester marksmen. He held the billiard championship of Dartmouth College, and upon his return to Manchester in 1875 defeated the best players in the city, winning substantial prizes. He is a devotee of hunting and fishing.

Besides the great Mirror printing establishment, Colonel Clarke conducts the Mirror farm, located just outside the city limits, and here experiments in many directions are tried under his supervision. The whole management of the Mirror office and its immense responsibilities rests upon him, and his personal attention covers every detail. He has traveled abroad extensively and has embodied his impressions of foreign lands in a most interesting book entitled "European Travels."

Colonel Clarke is a member of the Franklin Street Society (Congregational) and of the Franklin Street Young Men's Association.

He married in Cambridge, Mass., 25 January, 1893, Martha Cilley, born in Concord, N. H., daughter of Dr. Nathaniel and Elizabeth Ann (Cilley) Bouton of Concord, and widow of Jacob G. Cilley of Manchester.

Mrs. Clarke was in 1895 State regent of the Daughters of the American Revolution, and since 1898 has been president of the Society of Colonial Dames of New Hampshire. She has also been president of the Audubon Society of New Hampshire since 1897, and was its founder. There is a portrait of her in the Granite Monthly for February, 1900.

William Cogswell⁷ (*John Badger*⁶) of Manchester, N. H., was born there 17 March, 1856, and was educated at the Manchester High School, Phillips Andover Academy, and at Dartmouth College, where he was a student in the Chandler Scientific School. After completing the course at college in 1876, he entered the office of the Mirror and American and learned the printer's trade. In 1880 he removed to New York City and spent a portion of that year in acquiring a knowledge of the business of newspaper advertising. Returning to Manchester, he entered the service of the daily Mirror and American as a local reporter, and later was promoted to be city editor, a position which he held for about eight years, conducting in the meantime several special departments for the daily and weekly editions of that newspaper. During these years he made the horse department of the Mirror a special feature, and to his efforts in this direction is due the high reputation which that paper justly holds among the horsemen of New England. This department he still conducts, as well as that devoted to field sports, for which he writes under the nom de plume of "Joe English."

He was a member of the Manchester School Board from 1884 to 1890. In 1891 he served as a representative from Ward 2 in the Legislature, and was chairman of the Committee on Fisheries and Game.* In

* For the past twenty years the members of the Legislature of New Hampshire have been elected for terms of two years, and the mayors of Manchester now serve for a like period.

HON. WILLIAM COGSWELL CLARKE, MAYOR OF MANCHESTER, N. H.

1894 he was nominated by the Republicans of Manchester for the office of Mayor, and was elected by a large majority, despite the fact that at the two preceding elections the Democratic candidate had been successful. He was re-elected in 1896, and again in 1898 and in 1900, each year by a handsome plurality, the last time by 2,157 votes, leading the entire ticket, and upon the completion of his present term will have occupied the Mayor's chair for a period of eight years — a longer service by far than that of any of his predecessors, as none of them served three consecutive terms. The years of his mayorship were notable for their public improvements. Five new school buildings were erected, including one for the high school; a steel bridge, sixty feet wide and paved with stone blocks, was built across the Merrimack River to replace the wooden structure which was carried away by the memorable freshet of 1896; a modern system of street paving was inaugurated; the City Hall building was remodeled and refitted; a police patrol system was installed, and is in successful operation.

During Mayor Clarke's first term the fiftieth anniversary of the incorporation of the city was fitly commemorated by a celebration which continued for three days (7, 8, and 9 September, 1896.) Mayor Clarke was the presiding genius of this celebration. From the day when the first plans were roughly sketched, down to the hour of the closing exercises, his was the brain that conceived, the mind that directed, the hand that executed. As chairman of the Celebration Committee he won golden opinions from his fellow citizens for the rare executive ability which he displayed.

Mr. Clarke retains a business connection with the John B. Clarke Company. He is a member of the Derryfield and Calumet Clubs, the Manchester Board of Trade, the Amoskeag Grange, the Young Men's Christian Association, and the Passaconaway Tribe of Red Men; and is also a member of the Franklin Street Congregational Society. For a number of years he has been a trustee of the New England Agricultural Society and vice-president of the New England Trotting-horse Breeders' Association. He was one of the organizers of the New Hampshire Trotting-horse Breeders' Association, and its secretary for three years. He was for several years clerk of the Manchester Driving Park Association, and has represented New Hampshire most creditably on several occasions at the biennial congress of the National Trotting Association. From his youth up he has displayed great interest in athletic sports, and while a collegian took an active part in them. He was captain of the Dartmouth College base-ball team in 1876, and at one time held the amateur long-distance record of the State for throwing the base-ball—358 feet 11 inches. In his later years he has taken a deep interest in all field sports, and has a wide reputation as an accomplished wing shot.

Genial and kindly in manner, courteous in his treatment of all, the master of direct and forcible speech, a ready and graceful writer, no man was ever more fully equipped for the larger political honors which Mr. Clarke's friends predict will be his. His name has been prominently mentioned in connection with the governorship of New Hampshire, and he is a promising candidate for Congressional honors.

He married in Manchester, 1879, Mary Olivia, born in Manchester, 1859, daughter of Elliot Greene and Submit Roberts (Scott) Tewksbury of Manchester.

The children, both born in Manchester, are

George Kuhn^s (Samuel Greeley^t) of Needham, Mass., was born in the historic Lee mansion on Brattle Street, Cambridge, 7 July, 1858, and was baptized 30 November, 1860, by the Rev. Cyrus Augustus Bartol, D. D., of the West Church, Boston. From his seventh to his twelfth year his parents lived in Harvard, a pleasant farming town in Worcester County, and in April, 1870, removed to Needham, and occupied the ancient parsonage house built for the first minister of the town in 1720, and here the family have since resided.*

The subject of this sketch was educated in the public schools of Harvard, and at Chauncy Hall School, Boston, in the latter of which he was a pupil for five years from 9 September, 1872 — June, 1877, and after graduation studied the classics with a tutor.

While at Chauncy Hall School, he took special interest in the military drill, which was then a prominent feature of the school, under the instruction of Brig.-Gen. Hobart Moore. George K. Clarke was adjutant of the school battalion, which numbered among its officers boys who in later life rose to high rank in the military service of the State and Federal governments.

In 1878 and 1879 he travelled in Maryland, Virginia, North Carolina, South Carolina and Georgia, visiting the principal cities and historic places. He began the study of law in 1880, and in October, 1881, entered

* George Kuhn Clarke has been singularly identified with ancient houses; the Lee mansion, his birthplace, was built in 1660, and is the second oldest house in Cambridge, and he is part owner by inheritance of the Cooper-Hill-Frost-Austin house, the oldest house in that city, built by his ancestor, Deacon John Cooper in 1657. His maternal ancestors were selectmen of the town of Cambridge one hundred and twenty-two years, assessors one hundred and twelve years, and deacons of the First Church there about ninety years. The Dedham Historical Register for July, 1890, and for April, 1899, contains accounts of the Townsend house in Needham, his present residence. The house in Harvard in which the family lived for five years, is also an eighteenth century house, modernized with additions.

the middle class of the Boston University School of Law, where he took the degree of LL.B. in June, 1883, and 2 January, 1884, was admitted to the bar of Norfolk County, and the same month commissioned a justice of the peace, which office he still holds (1901).

During the winter of 1883-84 he attended lectures at the law school as a resident graduate, and in May, 1884, began to practice.

In 1887 his maternal uncle, who had a considerable business as a trustee and agent for the care of property, desired him to become his associate, and he assumed duties to which he has since devoted his time, occupying until 17 March, 1900, the office in the Union Building, 40 State Street, Boston, which had been the place of business of his mother's father, and later of her brother, since 15 August, 1838.

From 6 April, 1892, to 17 February, 1900, he was secretary of the Bar Association of Norfolk County, and a member of its council; is a member of the corporation of the Suffolk Savings Bank (Boston), and has served on the committees on accounts, and committees to examine securities, of various corporations. On 1 February, 1897, he was elected a director of the Boylston Market Association, succeeding his uncle, William Putnam Kuhn, who had served nearly thirty-four years, and whose father, Honorable George Horatio Kuhn, had held the same position an equally long time. With the interval from 21 November, 1896, to 1 February, 1897, the family have been represented continuously in this board of directors for more than sixty years.

In 1883 Mr. Clarke was moderator of a town meeting, and in 1884 and again in 1885 was elected assessor without opposition, and is said to have been the youngest officer the town of Needham has had in modern times.

In 1885 he declined to serve as assessor, and was appointed a registrar of voters for a term of three years, but resigned in the spring of 1886 to again become assessor, and was re-elected in 1887, but in 1888 was too much engaged in other business to accept election. For many years he has been interested in all matters relating to taxation, and in 1895, 1898, 1899, and 1900, served as chairman of the board of assessors, and is a member of the Association of Massachusetts Assessors. He was selectman and overseer of the poor, member of the board of health, town agent, etc., in 1896, and has been a trustee of the Free Public Library of Needham since 2 April, 1894, and chairman from the spring of 1897. Prior to the establishment of the Public Library in 1888 he was secretary of the Needham Library Association for some years.

He was clerk of the First Parish in Needham five years, 1891-96, and a member of the parish committee from 20 April, 1891, to January, 1895; he has held many positions in the organization of his political party, and 14 October, 1896, was nominated by the county convention for the office of special county commissioner, but declined to be a candidate.

From early youth he has been interested in historical and genealogical researches, and has published three editions, 1882, 1885, and 1902, of the genealogy of the descendants of Nathaniel Clarke of Newbury. He is the author of several pamphlets, and has contributed upward of one hundred and fifty historical or genealogical articles to periodicals and newspapers, and has also written many book reviews, etc.

In July, 1899, he went to press with a volume (236 pp.) entitled "Epitaphs from Graveyards in Wellesley (formerly West Needham), North Natick, and Saint Mary's Churchyard in Newton Lower Falls, Massachusetts. With Genealogical and Biographical Notes." This work was ready for distribution in February, 1900, and represented much patient investigation.

His membership in the New England Historic Genealogical Society dates from 4 September, 1878, and he has done considerable literary work for this society, and was in its council from October, 1892, to January, 1897; has also been its recording secretary, and served on many committees. For ten years, 1889-99, he was on the committee on the rolls of membership, and virtually the registrar of the society, which has nearly one thousand members. In 1889-92 this committee consisted of three, but 1892-99 of Mr. Clarke only.

On 5 March, 1890, he was elected a corresponding member of the Dedham Historical Society; 24 November, 1897, a resident member of the Historical Society of Old Newbury, and in 1898 became a life member of the Harvard Historical Society. On 6 January, 1900, he was elected an honorary member of the Dover Historical Society.

He is a member of the Twentieth Century Club of Boston, of the Massachusetts Library Club, of the Society of Colonial Wars, of the Sons of the American Revolution, of the Sons of the Revolution, and of two alumni associations. He has all his life been greatly interested in the drama, and a frequenter of the theatres; since 1874 he has never failed to obtain a programme of an entertainment which he attended, or lost one, and his collection of play-bills is large.

In 1886 he built a house on land owned for many generations by his maternal ancestors, in Cambridge, Mass., and with occasional exceptions, has made this his winter home. The place at Needham contains twenty acres of land, and Mr. Clarke has found much pleasure and recreation there.

The portrait, which is the frontispiece of this book, is from a photograph taken when he was thirty-five years old.

He married 16 March, 1881, Ellen Melissa, born in Richmond, Me., daughter of Harrison and Elizabeth (Prentiss) Dudley of Cambridge. Harrison was fourth in descent from James Dudley, an officer in the French war, and from Mercy Folsom, daughter of Deacon John Folsom of Exeter, N. H. The parents of James were Stephen and Sarah (Gilman) Dudley, the latter daughter of Honorable John Gilman. Stephen Dudley was son of the Rev. Samuel of Exeter, and nephew of Joseph Dudley, who was governor of Massachusetts from 1702 to 1715, under the Second Charter, and father of Chief Justice Paul Dudley. Rev. Samuel Dudley of Exeter was the eldest son of Thomas Dudley, second governor of Massachusetts, who was born in England in 1576, died in Roxbury, 1653, and was governor of Massachusetts five years, and deputy governor thirteen. Among the descendants of Governor Thomas Dudley have been men noted for their ability, and the family is connected by marriage with many of the most illustrious in New England. Mrs. Clarke is descended maternally from Valentine Prentiss, who came to America in 1633. She is an active member of the Daughters of the American Revolution, Daughters of the Revolution, Brown- ing Club of Boston, Women's Alliance, etc.

Edward Wight⁸ (Stephen Greeley) of Englewood, N. J., was born in Manchester, N. H., 20 October, 1862, and died in Englewood, on the morning of 11 April, 1892, after an illness of a few days, and his remains were interred at Brookside.

He graduated from Columbia College in 1883 with a good record, and then took a post-graduate course, receiving the degree of A. M. in June, 1884. In the autumn of that year he entered the College of Physicians and Surgeons of New York, from which he graduated with distinguished honors in 1887, and then entered upon his duties in the surgical division of the New York Hospital, preferring this to Bellevue, and remained there the full term till December, 1888. During the last six months of his term he was resident house surgeon, and in charge of a surgical division of the hospital.

Dr. Clarke had shown great originality and skill in his profession, was devoted to it, and had every prospect of becoming eminent. His home was in Tenafly until the winter of 1890-91, when he removed to Englewood, to a house which he had built. In both of these places he practiced successfully. At the time of his death he was intending to remove to New York City. For a sketch of his life see the "Englewood Press" for April 16, 1892, the "Record," Tenafly, N. J., April 14, 1892, and other newspapers.

He married in Tenafly, 13 December, 1888, Virginia Lee, born 15 June, 1862, daughter of Dr. Hardy Murfree and Harriet Banks (Gilbert) Banks of Englewood. Dr. Banks is a prominent physician.

The children of Dr. Clarke are

There is considerable scroll work on this stone; no foot stone.

The stones erected to his memory and to that of his son, Daniel, are of yellowish sandstone, and much better preserved than some similar ones in the same graveyard. On some of them the inscriptions have entirely scaled off.

Thomas² married Sarah, born 14 September, 1670, died February, 1703, daughter of Col. Thomas and Martha (Peirce) Noyes, and granddaughter of the Rev. James Noyes, who was born in Choulderton, Wiltshire, England, in 1608.

Thomas² married secondly, in Newbury, 17 October, 1705 (intention 30 September), Lydia, born 5 August, 1667, daughter of Samuel and Mary (Cutting) Moody, and granddaughter of William Moody, who was one of the first settlers of Newbury.

Rev. Christopher Toppan, A. M., officiated at the marriage of Thomas Clark and Lydia Moody.

All the children were born in Newbury, and several of them were baptized by Mr. Toppan.

Toppan officiated at the marriage of Nathan Noyes and Sarah Clark. Child: Daniel⁴ Noyes b. 3 Mar. 1718. The cause of death was said to have been apoplexy, which attacked him while on his way to visit his daughter, Mrs. James Heath. His great grand-daughter, Harriette Eliza⁷ Noyes, wrote the Memorial History of Hampstead (1899), and is now writing the History of Atkinson.

Thomas Clark Adm

Sworne: Jan. 14 1723

The bond of Thomas Clark, cordwainer, as administrator, is dated 6 January, 1723/4, £2000, with Samuel Moody and Joseph Noyes as sureties.

The final division of the estate was made 13 February, 1723/4, and the heirs were Thomas Clark, Nathan and Sarah (Clark) Noyes, Joseph and Martha (Clark) Noyes. Their signatures were well written, but are badly faded, otherwise fac-similes would appear on this page. The autographs of Sarah and Martha have been found by the writer only on this one document, viz., the agreement as to the division of their brother Daniel's estate. Apparently the sister, Anne, then a minor, received no share.

Daniel's gravestone is the second east of his father's in Newbury.

Daniel⁴ (Thomas³) of Newbury, Mass., later of Bos-cawen, N. H., was born in Newbury, 24 March, 1727, and died in what is now Webster, N. H., 19 October, 1796.

On 20 May, 1760, Daniel Clark and Ambrose Berry were chosen surveyors of hay by the town of Newbury.

Daniel inherited six acres of land, called Brown's Garden, from his step father Edward Richardson of Newbury in 1756, which land the latter had bought of one Greenleaf.

On 11 February, 1755, the proprietors of what was afterward the town of Boscawen met at the house of Daniel Clark in Newbury, and 9 October, 1765, he removed to Boscawen.

In 1776 he signed the "Association Test" there, and was probably the Daniel Clark who enlisted as a soldier from Boscawen for the Bennington campaign 1 July, 1777.

In a list of Newbury soldiers, 1744-46, under date of 18 July, 1746, the name of Daniel Clark appears. The title to this list or roll is "An account of the men in the service since the war Commenced."

FROM THE REGISTRY OF DEEDS AT SALEM.

On 29 September, 1752, Moses Noyes, Jr., of Newbury "Joyner" sold to Daniel Clark of Newbury, cordwainer, twenty two rods of land in Newbury "with y^e Dwelling House and Barn thereon which Land is bounded Easterly upon the Highway or Country Road" "Southerly on land of Eliphalet Jaques, Westerly on land of M^r. Jonathan Parsons, Northerly partly on M^r Parsons & partly on John March Jun^r."

(Lib. XCVIII, fol. 82.)

On 20 March, 1756, Daniel Clark of Newbury, "Cordwainer," sold to Jonathan Parsons of Newbury, "Clerk" for £4 five rods of land "being the Rere of My Lott where I Dwell" Wife Mehetabel released dower.

(Lib. CIV, fol. 11.)

The same day Rev. Jonathan Parsons sold to Daniel Clark for £40 fifteen rods of land bounded south "by Said Clark's own Land."

(Lib. CIV, fol. 10.)

On 27 July, 1765, Daniel Clark sold to Stephen Pettingell of Newbury, yeoman, for £16, 13s., 4d., one acre and eighteen rods of land in Newbury. Wife Mehetabel.

(Lib. CXVIII, p. 134.)

On 1 October, 1765, Daniel Clark of Newbury, cordwainer, sold to Nathan Peirce of Newburyport "Shop-Keeper," for £143, 6s., 8d., twenty nine and one half rods of land in Newbury bounded "Easterly with the Country Road" "Northerly bounded partly with y^e Land belonging to the first Parish in Newbury where the Town House Stands and partly by the Rev^d M^r Jonathan Parson's Land" "Westerly by Land of Eliphalet Jaques partly and partly by Land of the Rev^d M^r Jonathan Parsons afores^d." This deed included the house. Wife Mehetabel signed her release of dower.

(Lib. CXVI, fol. 256.)

The above described property was the home of Daniel Clark. A portion of this house, now known as the Ilsley House, is probably two hundred and twenty five years old, but Daniel Clark built an addition in 1756; see "Ould Newbury" by John James Currier, pp. 189-197, for a picture of the house, and an account of it. The house is on the westerly side of High Street, near the boundary between Newbury and Newburyport, and several of the family, including the first Nathaniel Clarke, lived in this vicinity.

Fac-simile of Daniel's autograph as surety on the bond of Lydia Clark. (See p. 244.)

Daniel^t married in Newbury, 28 January, 1752 (intention 11 January), Mehetabel, born 1734, died in Webster, N. H., 2 January, 1815, daughter of John and Mary Hale of Newbury. Rev. John Tucker officiated at the marriage of Daniel Clark and Mehetabel Hale.

All of Daniel⁴ Clark's children were born in Newbury except the three youngest, who were born in Boscawen, where their births are recorded in the town records.

Other children of Daniel⁴ Clark and all the Atkinson family were buried in Boscawen.

"The children of my father's sisters resemble their fathers more than their mothers. As my age advances I think I can see in the glass a resemblance of Aunt Corser. She always lived about one mile from us; was a member of the Congregational Church. I was too young when my father died to remember his looks. Phebe Atkinson lived in Boscawen six miles from us; she too was a member of the Congregational Church. Her only daughter Hannah left one only child E. P. Gill." "She (E. Phebe Gill) died very suddenly Jan. 17, 1888, aged 57."

"My father's sister Anne was married and left many years before my birth. When I was old enough to use the pen a little, I found in the house a poem she composed for Mrs. Priscilla Plumer on the death of her husband who was killed by the limb of a tree in 1788." "This poem, which I copied, is about all I know as to Anne Clark."

"On a strip of old paper I find the names of Thomas Clark, Elizabeth Mace and Richardson. I remember once when I was very young, grandmother Clark undertook to tell me something about grandmother Richardson, but I did not understand it." (Letter of Mary⁶ (Clark) Morrill aged 90 years, written April 21, 1890, and enclosing a copy of the poem which is of some length.)

Parker⁵ (*Parker*⁴) of Machias, Me., was born in Ipswich, Mass., 3 April, 1748, and died in Machias, Me., 25 March, 1823; graduated at Byfield academy and studied medicine at Harvard College. He was appointed surgeon at Fort Cumberland, Nova Scotia, and was practicing there when the Revolutionary war began. He took arms on the side of the colonies, his property was confiscated, and he became a refugee. Entering the American army as surgeon he served until the close of the war. There is evidence that he was actually imprisoned at Halifax, but made his escape. After the war he resided in Machias, Me., and for many years was the only physician there, and very successful.

The following is from the Memoir of Jonathan Eddy of Eddington, Me., by Joseph Whitcom Porter: —

Resolve 29 June, 1775. Land granted to "Parker Clarke, 500 Acres." "A Return of the Refugees of Nova Scotia, who left that Province in the year 1776, with their former places of Residence in the United States or Elsewhere, June, 1785." No. 20. Dr. Parker Clark former and present residence, Mass. "A Rate Bill for the Plantation called Eddinton on Penobscot River, for the year 1791." Parker Clark, a non resident, tax 3*s.*, 7*d.*

Col. John Allan says in his diary under date of 30 May, 1777, written in Machias: —

“During our stay there came Mr. Coffin, who escaped from Halifax, imparted a good deal of intelligence, among other he informed that Dr. Clark, Faulkner, &c had escaped from prison.” A postscript to a letter dated at Auke Paque 24 June, 1777, written by Col. Allan, states “Docts Clark &c some others who were Prisoners in Halifax have arrived here.”

It appears that Dr. Clark had much to do with the Indians during the war, and had occasion to traverse the wilderness in their company. (See “Eastern Maine and Nova Scotia in the Revolution,” by Frederic Kidder.)

On 14 July, 1817, Parker Clark of Machias, Washington County, “Physician,” and Samuel P. Clark, also of Machias, yeoman, sold to Joseph Pearson of Newbury for $240 their interest in thirty acres of marsh land in Ipswich; said Parker’s share was one third part as heir of Dr. Parker Clark, and Samuel P. Clark’s share was one fifteenth part as heir of Lydia Abbot of Andover. The wife of Parker was Judith, and the wife of Samuel P., was Lydia.

(Essex Deeds, Lib. CCXIV, fol. 140.)

The same day John P. Clark of Newbury, mariner, deeded to Joseph Pearson, miller, for $20 his share of the same marsh “being one undivided fifteenth part of three lots called Lang reach Cellar and garden.”

(Lib. CCXIV, fol. 140.)

Mrs. Sophia Fellowes⁷ (Clark) Flint wrote that Dr. Clark owned “a massive silver tankard which was in Machias, Me., at the time of his death.”*

* The Clarks at Machias have a coat of arms which is said to be over a century old, and it differs somewhat from that in the possession of the descendants of Greenleaf⁵ Clark of Newburyport. The latter was painted by Paul⁵ (*Daniel*⁴). He lived in that part of Boscawen now Webster, N. H. ; was born in Newbury, Mass., 23 May, 1762, died in Boscawen, 12 January, 1808.

On 8 August, 1791, he subscribed twelve shillings for the purchase of books for a library, which was the beginning of the Boscawen Public Library. He married 1791, Phebe, born 29 October, 1762, died 15 (14) September, 1819, daughter of Jabez and Phebe (Abbott) Abbott of Concord, N. H. Paul's only child was John Coles, Senior, and is doubtless quite old, but has no value except as a curiosity. A branch of the family descended from Nathaniel² Clarke has a coat of arms, and a lady of the race of Henry² Clark also has one. All these are said to be the Clark-Clarke coat of arms. The writer has not seen the drawing last mentioned, but the first three differ in blazon. In the absence of a special grant of armorial bearings by the College of Arms, the English Government's official "Heralds' College," to an ancestor, which grant has been duly recorded, it is idle to claim anything of the kind.

If the English ancestry of Nathaniel Clarke of Newbury should be ascertained in the future, it might appear that his family were armigers, and his descendants entitled to use a coat of arms. Our English ancestry in the male line is not known to us at the present time. As to the right of certain English families to use coat armor, acquired by "immemorial usage," there is no occasion to consider the matter in this book.

- i. Mary^b b. 30 Sept. 1800, d. 18 May, 1891, in Webster, N. H., m. 28 Feb. 1846, Calvin Morrill of Boscawen, b. 6 Dec. 1805, d. in Webster, 14 May, 1875, son of Joseph Hobson and Lydia Jacques (Pearson) Morrill; but had no children.

The following are extracts from a letter of Mrs. Mary Morrill dated 7 January, 1890:—

“When my grandfather first came to Boscawen he kept tavern awhile in what is now Penacook, after that came to Boscawen Plain and lived in a small house just below the church, working at shoemaking. He buried several small children. Several years later my father came, and in 1791 married Phebe Abbott of Concord. The house being too small for two families, he moved into a house with another family and purchased a lot in North B. Was about building a house there when his father persuaded him to come with him to West B., now Webster. They purchased this farm in 1793, where Grandfather died Oct. 19, 1796, aged 69.” “I was born Sept. 30, 1800. My father died Jan. 12, 1808, aged 45, when I was little more than 7 years old. I never had brother, sister, nor child. Grandmother died Jan. 2, 1815, aged 80. I think my father had a brother Thomas who died young. My mother died Sept. 14, 1819, aged 56.

“My father’s oldest sister Susannah, Mary for whom I was named, & Sarah died young. Anna married Lemuel Kezar of Wentworth, N. H., died leaving 2 sons & 3 daughters.” Mrs. Morrill then told of her other aunts, and of her husband, who graduated from Dartmouth College in 1829, and who intended to become a minister, but because of his feeble health was obliged to lead an out of door life, and lived on the farm where his wife was born, and where she died. Mrs. M. has been of very great assistance in the preparation of this genealogy, and wrote remarkable letters for a woman ninety years old. She stated that her grandmother Clark always wrote her name Mehetabel as found in Genesis, xxxvi: 39.

"My father's great grandfather's name was Thomas." "You have been led to think of me more highly than you ought to think for there was not so much required of teachers so long ago." Writing of the prominent men who had been her pupils she said "They all remember me with interest." (Letter of May 17, 1890.)

"When I made an appearance in the world for the first time I suppose my parents were very happy having waited for me so many years, not knowing I should live to a greater age than any of the name." "My grandfather Clark died Oct. 19, 1796, aged 69." "Jabez Abbott of Concord, father to my mother, died Jan. 7, 1804, aged 71. I had a dear good mother." "In looks I was all Clark. My hair was brown until bleached by age, not many years since." "I can sit at my table, read and write, but fear to read as much as I would like lest it should wear too heavily on my eyes." (Letter of June 18, 1890.) "On the 144 page of the history you will find my father's name among the subscribers to the Boscawen Social library." (Letter of September 3, 1890.) "I sometimes think, that one reason for which my life has been prolonged may have been to furnish records which no other person can do, who is now living." (Letter of February 26, 1891.)

The fac-simile is from her signature to a letter dated 20 October, 1890, when she was in her ninety-first year. On 20 April, 1891, she wrote her last letter to George K. Clarke, and it showed no deterioration.

She sometimes wrote her name

Mary C. Morrill

in full.

The following are extracts from a local paper:—

"September 30th was the ninetieth birthday of Mrs. Mary Clark Morrill, the oldest person in town. Quite a number of friends called upon her during the afternoon, leaving tokens of their good will, and all were agreeably entertained with her good sense and quick repartee. Mrs. Morrill enjoys good health with the exception of lameness and retains her mental faculty to a remarkable degree, especially memory. She spends much of her time in reading and writing. Her penmanship is excellent, and her thoughts grammatically expressed. She is always anxious to learn the news of the day, which she notes in her diary."

"Mrs. Mary C. Morrill, the oldest person in town, died the 18th inst., at the age of 90 years, 8 months* and 18 days. Mrs. Morrill (Mary Clark) as she is remembered by many of the older people, was the daughter of Paul Clark, who came to this town from Newbury, Mass., and bought the farm where Mrs. Morrill was born and died. Her father died when she was quite young, her mother a few years later. Being left alone, for many years she taught in the district schools of this and other towns, and is remembered by many of her former pupils as a faithful teacher who sought not only the cultivation of the mind but tried to instill moral principles in the heart, giving constant heed to Solomon's admonition about sparing the rod, etc.

"Mrs. Morrill was long a teacher in the Sunday school and a constant attendant at church until after the death of her husband in 1875. Since then on account of lameness she has been mostly confined at home, but she was always interested in the affairs of the church, to which she willed her property, and of the town to the minutest detail.

REV. JOHN CLARK AND HIS DESCENDANTS.

Rev. John^r Clark, A. M., of Exeter, N. H., was the fourth son of Nathaniel (see p. 29), and was born in Newbury, 24 January, 1670, died in Exeter, 25 July, 1705. In the absence of an autograph it is uncertain how he spelled his surname, but he was called by others Rev. John Clark.

He graduated at Harvard College in 1690, and among his classmates were Paul Dudley, afterward Chief Justice of the Supreme Court of the Province, Peter Burr, a Justice of the Supreme Court of the Connecticut Colony, the Rev. Benjamin Wadsworth, President of Harvard College, and the Rev. Samuel Mather. John's rank was tenth in a class of twenty two arranged according to the prominence of the families of the students. The following is from the Newbury records:—

12 May, 1693. "Towne voted that Mr. John Clarke be called to assist Mr. Richardson in the work of the ministry at the West end of the towne to preach to them one year in order to farther settlement and also to keep a grammar schoole."

5 July, 1693. "The towne in theyr votes for the choyce of a minister for the west end of the towne in order to a full settlement in the work of the ministry And m^r John Clark^e was then Chofen and not one vote against him." As a matter of history it is a fact that a number of men signed a remonstrance against calling a minister for the West End.

From the Newbury records it further appears that the Rev. John preached in Newbury, as on 20 November, 1695, the town referred to the selectmen the question of settling with him. He was then of Exeter and wished to be paid for his services in Newbury.

On 16 October, 1693, Capt. John Gilman, Capt. Peter Coffin and Capt. Robert Wadleigh were empowered to agree with Mr. Clarke to come to Exeter, and to fix his salary for the first half year.

In February, 1694, Mr. Clarke received a call at Newbury, which he declined. A salary of "twenty pounds in money and fifty pounds in graine was voted to y^e reverend Mr. John Clarke so long as he carry on the work of the ministry."

In January, 1695, the people of Exeter voted to build a new meeting house.

Most of the members of the church in Exeter, including Mrs. Elizabeth Clark, were dismissed on 11 September, 1698, from the church in Hampton.

The most ancient volume extant of the records of the present "First Church of Christ in Exeter" commences thus: "The order of proceeding in gathering a particular church in Exeter. After conferring together, and being mutually satisfied in each other, we drew up a confession of faith, and the terms of the Covenant, which we all signed, the Sabbath before ordination. And having sent for the Rev. Mr. J. Hale, (who preached the ordination sermon), Mr. Woodbridge, Mr. Pike, Mr. Rolfe, Mr. Cotton and Mr. Toppan, who accordingly came; and on the twenty-first of September, 1698, Mr. Hale, Woodbridge, Pike and Cotton, laid on hands; Mr. Pike praying before the imposition of hands; Mr. Woodbridge gave the charge; Mr. Cotton gave the right hand of fellowship; and we were by the elders, and messengers of the several churches, owned as a church of Christ, and John Clark declared to be a minister of Christ Jesus." The language and punctuation of this extract from the records appears to have been modernized. Mr. Clark was to have £60 the first half year with use of the parsonage lot, and a certain meadow; £10 was afterward added for firewood and for fencing the land.

The people also agreed to furnish a parsonage, which Mr. Clark released them from in 1699 for £100.

He was also to have one hundred acres of land if he lived in Exeter ten years, and if he died in less than ten years from his settlement his heirs were to have the land.

He was a man of high character and ability, and although he died at the early age of thirty five was prominent among the preachers of New England.

The town voted to pay his widow the full amount of his salary, and to erect a tomb, which twenty years later they repaired.

The following lines are on his tombstone at Exeter :

" A Prophet lies under this stone,
His words shall live tho' he be gone,
When Preachers die what rules the Pulpit gave
Of Living are still preached from the grave,
The Faith & Life which your dead Pastor taught,
Now in one grave with him Sirs bury not."

The copies of this inscription do not agree as to certain words, punctuation, etc., and the writer has never seen the original, which is said to be covered with earth.

“1705 July 25 M^r John Clark, minister of Exeter, deceased with extreme vomiting &c. in less than 24 hours after he was taken. A good man much wanted and much lamented.” (Pike’s Journal, N. H. Historical Collections, Vol. III, p. 55.) See also the History of the First Church in Exeter, by Perry, 1898, pp. 50-55.

The Rev. Richard Brown, who was born in Newbury in 1675, referring in his diary to those who fitted him for college, wrote: “Then came Mr John Clark of Exeter, a worthy man under w^m I studied one year.” The author of the History of New Hampshire Churches, speaking of him, said: “His family connections were highly respectable.” “He died in the strength of manhood.” His name appears in connection with the ordination of the Rev. John Emerson at Newcastle, N. H., in 1704. Mr. Clark owned land in Charlestown, Mass., and had other property.

On 6 December, 1694, John Clark of Exeter sold to Stephen Dow for £10 fifty acres of land in Haverhill joining Gill’s land. Wife Elizabeth.

On 10 February, 1696, John Clarke of Exeter “Clerke” sold for £5 to “My Brother Thomas Clarke of Newbury” “Cordwainer” all rights in the “Rate lott formerly laid out unto my Father Nathaniel Clarke.” Wife did not sign. Henry Clarke a witness.

If the record of this deed is to be trusted, both John and Henry wrote their surname Clarke.

(Essex Deeds, Lib. XVII, fol. 39.)

On 5 May, 1702, Benjamin Rolfe of Newbury sold to John Clark of Exeter for £84 twelve acres of upland in Newbury. Henry Clark and Elizabeth Clark witnesses.

(Lib. XV, fol. 169.)

On 22 December, 1704, Thomas Chubb of Attleborough, County of Bristol, sold to John Clark of Exeter for £30, 6s., part of his home lot in Beverly.

(Lib. XV, fol. 262.)

On 6 April, 1705, John Clark of Exeter sold the same land to Robert Hale for £30, 6s. (two and three fourths acres).*

Judge Sewall knew Mr. Clark well, and several times referred to him in his famous diary.

“ Mr. Clark left four children, and an estate appraised at about a thousand pounds, of which his ‘library of books’ was valued at twenty pounds. He was a man of piety and much usefulness, and had evidently attached his people to him in an extraordinary degree.” (Bell’s History of Exeter, p. 176.)

Mr. Clark married 19 June, 1694, Elizabeth, born in Windsor, Conn., 30 April, 1673, daughter of Rev. Benjamin and Mary (Ward) Woodbridge. Elizabeth’s father was the son of Rev. John Woodbridge of Newbury, and Mercy, daughter of Governor Thomas Dudley. Her mother was daughter of Rev. John Ward of Haverhill, whose wife was Alice, daughter of Nicholas Edmunds of Alkham, Kent, and whose father was the Rev. Nathaniel Ward, born in Haverhill, England, 1570, came to New England from Standon in 1634,

* It is possible that the John Clark named in one or more of the last three deeds was not the minister, as there was another John Clark in Exeter.

and was the first minister in Ipswich; in 1646 he returned to England and was settled in Shenfield,* where he died in 1653. He was the author of the "Simple Cobbler of Agawam," and other works, and drew up the "Body of Liberties" adopted by the colony in 1641, and which is the basis of the State Constitution. His father was another Rev. John Ward. Mrs. Clark's great uncle, Rev. Benjamin Woodbridge, was an eminent and learned man, who was M. A. in 1648 and S.T.D. later, at Oxford, England, and his name heads the first class (1642) of Harvard College in New England, which fact would show the prominence of his father's family at that time. The Rev. John and Rev. Benjamin were sons of Rev. John Woodbridge, B. A. Oxford, 1603, M. A. there 1606, rector of Stanton Fitzwarren, Wiltshire, England, an eminent divine, and Sarah, his wife, daughter of Rev. Robert Parker, a learned minister. Rev. John Ward, whose daughter married Rev. Benjamin Woodbridge, graduated from Emmanuel College, Cambridge, England, in 1626, and was M. A. in 1630. His father, Rev. Nathaniel Ward, * Shenfield, where Rev. Nathaniel Ward began his labors about 1648, was only four or five miles from Stondon Massey, of which he had been rector before he went to America. The memoir of the Rev. Nathaniel Ward, by John Ward Dean, contains pictures of the churches at these places. That at Stondon Massey was dedicated to SS. Peter and Paul, and has a wooden spire and three bells; that at Shenfield to the Virgin Mary, and "A spire of wood rises to a considerable height." At the latter church Mr Ward preached for upward of four years. When a young man he travelled on the Continent and had held Prince Rupert, Count Palatine of the Rhine and Duke of Bavaria, in his arms, when Rupert was a child barely old enough to talk. Rev. John Ward, father of Rev. Nathaniel, was B. A. at Christ's College, Cambridge, England, in 1581-82, M. A. in 1586. He was minister of Haverhill, Church of St. Mary the Virgin, and of Bury St. Edmunds in Suffolk, St. James the Apostle; and perhaps later of Writtle in Essex, All Saints'. Rev. John Ward, the younger, grandfather of Mrs. Clark, was at one time minister of Hadleigh in Essex, St. James' Church.

also graduated at Emmanuel College, Cambridge, and was B. A. in 1599/1600, M. A. 1603.

The sermon preached at Rev. John Clark's marriage was in the possession of the late Joshua Green, M. D. Its title is "A Meet Help, or a wedding sermon, preached at New Castle, in New England, June 19, 1694, At the Marriage of Mr. John Clark and Mrs. Elizabeth Woodbridge. By Mr. John Cotton, Pastor of the church at Hampton." Text, Heb. 13: 4. This sermon made thirty printed pages.

Benjamin³ (*John*²) of Newcastle, N. H., was born in Exeter, June, 1695, and died prior to 1731. He "Own'd y^e Coven^t." 15 October, 1721, and his son William was baptized by the Rev. John Newmarch, A. M. (Harvard 1690), pastor of the Church in the Lower Precinct of Kittery. Benjamin was a taxpayer at Newcastle in 1728, and was a proprietor of Gilmanton. He was a captain and owned one half a brigantine valued at £450. His widow was appointed his administratrix 28 December, 1730. He married in Kittery, 30 November, 1720, Jane, born in Kittery, 2 June, 1701, died 6 February, 1765, daughter of William and Margery (Bray) Pepperell, and sister of Sir William Pepperell, Bart., and had

- ii. Benjamin⁴ b. 18 Sept. 1727, d. 2 Aug. 1728.
- iii. Benjamin⁴ b. —, d. young (Kittery records).

The Rev. John Newmarch officiated at the marriage of Benjamin Clark and Jane Pepperell.

William Pepperell of Kittery, in his will dated 19 July, 1733, bequeathed to his grandson William Clark £100, to his grandson Benjamin Clark £50, and to his daughter Jane Clark £500, besides what he had already given her. She was also in remainder to property after the decease of her mother.

(Maine Wills, pp. 347-349.)

The widow of Benjamin Clark is called Jane Clark in the will of her mother, Margery Pepperell, dated 1 January, 1739.

(Maine Wills, p. 461.)

Mrs. Clarke married secondly, William Tyler, merchant of Boston, who died 1 July, 1758, and was buried in King's Chapel yard, by whom she had no children. She married thirdly, 21 August, 1760, Rev. Ebenezer Turell, A. M., of Medford, Mass., born in Boston, 5 February, 1701, Harvard College 1721, ordained at Medford, 25 November, 1724, died 8 December, 1778.

Mrs. George Eugene Belknap of Brookline has portraits of William and Margery (Bray) Pepperell, parents of Mrs. Clark, and these portraits, judging by the illustrations made from them for the Historical Collections of the Essex Institute, July number, 1901, are exceptionally creditable as works of art. See the publication referred to for biographical sketches of the Pepperells, etc. The old Bray house at Kittery, in the parlor of which William Pepperell and Margery Bray are said to have been married in 1680, is in good condition, and was a fine house in its day.

Rev. Ward³ (*John*²) was born in Exeter, N. H., 12 December, 1703, and died there 6 May, 1737. He graduated at Harvard College in 1723, and taught the grammar school in Exeter 1723, '24, where he had a grant of fifty acres of land in 1725. He received the degree of A. M. from his Alma Mater, and was ordained first minister at Kingston, N. H., 29 September, 1725. The church was gathered 17 September, 1725, with eighty one families in the parish. The list of heads of families made by Mr. Clark begins with the "Squire's" name, and those of military officers follow his. Among the names is that of Ebenezer

Webster, ancestor of Daniel Webster. The church records give "a list of the Communicants at the first gathering of the church at Kingston at the Fast before the ordination of the Rev. Mr. Ward Clark." These were twenty-three in number, twelve males and eleven females.

The author of "The New Hampshire Churches," from which a portion of the preceding is taken, said: "Mr. Clark was evidently a man of much business tact and a very influential and active man in the affairs of the town and church. His policy was to encourage additions to the church, and during the first year of his ministry, it was voted that 'Members be admitted without being obliged to make Relations.' For several years the additions to his original salary of £80 amounted to £20, and he had liberal grants of land." His salary had been increased to £90 before his settlement.

He took the oath of allegiance to George II in 1728, and the previous year he was a proprietor of Gilmanton. (Provincial Papers, N. H.) Rev. Jacob Chapman of Kingston wrote of him: "He had a strong Calvinistic creed, but was liberal in the use of it. An able and useful man." In the records it is said: "He lived beloved, and died respected by his people." His name frequently occurs in the records of other towns; for example: on 13 August, 1734, he was one of the Ecclesiastical Council held at Salisbury, Mass., to consult about the settlement of a minister in Chester.

Rev. Ward Clark died in Exeter after a long illness, aged thirty-four, and was buried there 10 May, 1737; at the funeral the senior deacon of the Kingston church, Moses Elkins, fell dead.

The will of Rev. Ward Clark was dated 11 March, 1736/7, and proved 7 June, 1737.

Mr. Clark gave his house for the use of the ministry* and made bequests to the poor. He mentions in his will William, son of his brother, Benjamin. Also John, eldest son of his sister, Deborah Dean of Exeter, "to brother and sister Dean my negro slave for 7 years he then to be free." Cousin Jane Dean and Sisters Sarah and Abigail Pierce were legatees, as were Lydia, only daughter of Sister Elizabeth Pierce deceased, and Mary, daughter of Brother Frost, "who was born and named after my wife deceased," and other children of Brother Frost. Capt. Thomas Deane† and sister Jane Clark, widow of his brother Benjamin, were the executors. The Pierces were sisters-in-law of Rev. Ward Clark.

Rev. Ward Clark was one of "Prince's subscribers," and in his class of forty three at Harvard College he is fourteenth in the list.

Ward Clark

He married 20 November, 1727, Mary, born 13 September, 1702, died 27 July, 1735, daughter of Charles, Jr., and Sarah (Wainwright) Frost of Kittery, Me. Her father was son of Major Charles Frost of Kittery, who was killed by the Indians 4 July, 1697, and the Major's younger son, Honorable John Frost, was a prominent man, and married Mary, sister of Sir William Pepperell, Bart. Major Frost's father was Nicholas,

(Lib. LXXVIII, fol. 50.)

The following is from the historical address on the one hundred and fiftieth anniversary of the gathering of the Congregational Church, Kingston, N. H.:—

April 19, 1725, marks the date of the call of the town of Kingston to Mr. Ward Clark. He was not only to be the minister of the town, but the first pastor of the church.

The ordination sermon was preached by Rev. John Odlin of Exeter, step-father of the candidate. The text was from I Timothy, 6: 11, 12. The subject was "Christian courage necessary for a Gospel Minister." It was afterwards printed at Boston, and "Prefaced by two of the Reverend Presbyters who assisted at the Ordination." The two members of the Council referred to, were Rev. Caleb Cushing of Salisbury, Mass., and Rev. Nathaniel Gookin of Hampton. In this preface it is observed that the sermon was preached "not by the young gentleman who was then ordained, but by one of his fathers in the ministry." Mr. Clark was an active, public-spirited man, beloved as a pastor by his parishioners, and much attached to the people of his charge. Some of the noble elms that beautify the spacious green here are said to have been planted by his hand.

During his ministry the town erected in 1732 its second meeting house. A tower, one hundred feet in height, was built for it some years later, and a bell is said to have been presented by the King of England, but tradition avers that it came no further than Boston, from which place an inferior one was sent here as a substitute. The first meeting-house stood for many years after the erection of the new one, and was used for holding town meetings as late as 1764. The bell was used not only during Mr. Clark's ministry, but that of his successor. In 1768 the town voted "to buy a larger bell for the meeting-house."

In June, 1735, a terrible disease called "the throat distemper," first made its appearance in Kingston. Of the first forty seized with it not one recovered, and in about fourteen months one hundred and thirteen died, ninety-six of whom were under ten years of age; this included nearly all the young children in the town. The wife of Rev. Ward Clark and his two children were among the victims of this scourge. Prof. William Franklin Webster once told me, that when he was in Germany, he found in a German medical work the statement that the first recorded instance of the appearance of this specific disease in the whole world, was in this town.

In his will he left a bequest, the same being a considerable portion of his estate, "to the beloved people of his charge," the income of which was to be applied to the support of the gospel. After the number of churches increased, a lawsuit was entered upon, and the Court decided that the legacy of the first minister, Rev. Ward Clark, left "to the beloved people of his charge," belonged to the whole town. Since then the income of the whole parsonage property has been divided among the different denominations, according to the will expressed, annually, by the several tax payers. During Mr. Clark's pastorate one hundred and thirty persons were received to the church, and four hundred and seventy one baptized.

PART VI.

HENRY CLARK OF NEWBURY, MASS., AND GREENLAND, N. H., AND HIS DESCENDANTS.

Henry² Clark, the fifth son of Nathaniel¹ (see p. 29), was born in Newbury, Mass., 5 July, 1673, removed to Hampton, N. H., about 1727, and four or five years later to Greenland, N. H., where he died 9 June, 1749. He appears to have been a prominent citizen, for he was styled Mr. in the records, — a title which meant something in those days. In 1743 his tax was £2, 6s.

FROM NEWBURY TOWN RECORDS.

In 1687 a petition was addressed to the selectmen asking them “to grant to us Liberty to ffitt up the hinder feat in the gallery at the north end of the meeting houfe for us to fet in.”

Henry Clark was one of the nineteen signers.

In 1700 he was chosen for the “Jury of Tryalls at next Newbury Court.”

On 16 December, 1700, at “The placing of y^e new Meeting houfe” “The north fore seat of y^e Gallery” was assigned to Henry, and of the “womens feates” one in the front gallery to his wife.

Henry was a tythingman 1701, '04, '14, '23, highway surveyor 1712, '18.

On 9 May, 1709, he was chosen a juror for the Superior Court, 13 May, 1713, a juror for the Superior Court to meet at Ipswich, and in 1717, "Leiu^t" Henry Clark was a grand juror for the year. On 10 May, 1721, "Leiu^t" Henry Clark was chosen a grand juror for the Superior Court to be held at Ipswich.

On 4 April, 1710, it was voted to have a way "thrû y^e Littlefield provided y^e f^d way be laid out two rods wide the whole length from Ezra Cottles house to y^e way by Henry Clarks next Merrimack River."

On 6 March, 1708/9, Henry had receipted for £23, 1s. in full for damages.

On 13 May, 1724, "Lieu^t" Henry Clark was chosen a juror for the Superior Court to meet at Ipswich, and 14 September, 1726, a juror for the Inferior Court of Pleas to be held at Newbury.

Either he or his son Henry was admitted to the church in Greenland in 1740.

The following are brief abstracts of the deeds recorded at Salem, in which he is a grantor or grantee.

On 27 August, 1697, Benjamin Woodbridge of Boston, "Clerke," sold to Henry Clarke of Newbury, cooper, for £80 nine and one half acres of upland in Newbury bounded northeasterly by the "highway by Merrimack River." Also four acres of "Fresh Meadow and part thereof Salt Marsh" in the "great Meadow." (Lib. XXI, fol. 11.)

On 5 January, 1708/9, Nicholas Gillman sold Henry Clark for £14 "my whole right in the Wood lot, Rate Lot and Commonage at Newbury." Wife Sarah appeared.

(Lib. I., fol. 52.)

On 29 June, 1710, Henry Clark sold to Thomas Crease of Boston for £20 one fourth of an acre of land, also "part of a River Lott formerly laid out to y^e Right of my Hon^d Father Nathaniel Clark containing near five Sixth parts of s^d Lott" on highway near Merrimack River. Wife Elizabeth released dower.

(Lib. XLIX, fol. 197.)

On 16 December, 1712, Nathaniel Coffin, "Merchant Tailor," and Henry Clark, "Coopper," both of Newbury for £4, 6s. paid by "Leu^t Stephen Jaques" of Newbury sold "thirty foot of river Lott (so called) viz a lott of four foot laid out to Jacob Garland being the 120 and Twenty six foot of the Lott laid out to Ensign Nathaniel Clark viz that side next to the above mentioned lott as they are bounded in the records of Lands."

(Lib. CII, fol. 38.)

On 10 March, 1712/13, three deeds were executed by Henry Clark of Newbury, cooper. In the first he sold to Richard Bartlett for £37 "One Messuage or Tract of Upland Scituate Lying & being in y^e Towne ship of Newbury in y^e County aforesaid in a divition of Lots Called y^e Rate lots." Seven acres.

(Lib. XXVI, fol. 175.)

In the second deed he sold to Josiah Sawyer a similar lot. This seven acre lot bounded northerly on land of Thomas Clark.

(Lib. XXVI, fol. 192.)

On 10 March, 1712/13, he also sold to Archelaus Woodman ten acres in the Rate Lot for £50.

On 25 January, 1713/14, Henry Clark, cooper, exchanged with Nathaniel Clark of Newbury four acres of “marsh or Meadow ground” for four acres of “Salt Marsh or Meadow Ground.”

(Lib. XLI, fol. 103.)

On 16 August, 1728, Henry Clark of Newbury “Gentle” sold to Henry Rolfe, Esq., of Newbury for £154 eleven acres of marsh on Woodbridge Island. Enoch Clark a witness. Wife Mary signed.

(Lib. LIII, fol. 114.)

On 7 September, 1728, Henry Clark of Newbury, cooper, sold to Joseph Noyes of Newbury for £140 two acres of land. Wife Mary signed.

(Lib. LIII, fol. 102.)

On 2 April, 1729, “Henry Clark of Hampton in his Majesties province of New hampshire in New England Gent” sold for £54 “in passable bills of Crdit of New England” paid by Makepeace Horton of Newbury the south half of a certain tract of upland in Newbury, six and one quarter acres, bounded northerly “by y^e heirs of Tho^s Clark late of Newbury Dec^d.” This deed was not acknowledged till 26 December, 1735.

(Lib. LXXIII, fol. 46.)

On 6 July, 1731, Henry Clark “of Hampton in the Province of New Hampshire” sold to John Toppan of Newbury for £272 "three acres of arable land in Newbury." Wife Mary signed.

(Lib. LVIII, fol. 179.)

"Province Bills," then greatly depreciated, were probably the explanation of the seemingly high prices mentioned in the deeds from 1710-1731. Henry Clark appears to have sold most of his lands in Newbury about the time he removed to New Hampshire. He was in one instance at least styled 'Lieutenant' in a deed.

(Lib. CII, fol. 38.)

The following fac-simile of his signature is from the bond given by his nephew Thomas Clark in 1723 as administrator of Thomas Clark, Senior, on which bond Henry Clark was a surety.

(Essex Probate.)

He and his wife Elizabeth were admitted to full communion in the First Church in Newbury 14 February, 1696/7.

Together with his sons Enoch^s and Henry^s he signed the petition to annex Greenland to Massachusetts in 1739. He married 7 November, 1695 (intention 5 October), Elizabeth, born 2 January, 1678/9;* died 20 April, 1723, daughter of Capt. Stephen and Elizabeth (Gerrish) Greenleaf. Capt. Stephen was a prominent citizen of Newbury, and noted in the Indian Wars. He commanded a company at the Indian fight in Wells, Me. His parents were Capt. Stephen* and Elizabeth (Coffin) Greenleaf; the former was second son of Capt. Edmund and Sarah (Dole) Greenleaf, and was drowned off Cape Breton, 31 October, 1690. Sewall's diary states that Capt. Greenleaf was drowned Friday night the last of October. In the notes and queries of the Boston Transcript for 4 April, 1900, are the names of the men who were drowned, and the Island of Anticosti is substituted for Cape Breton as a correction. The drowning occurred on the return of the expedition to Canada.

Elizabeth Coffin was daughter of Tristram and Dionis (Stevens) Coffin of Brixton, near Plymouth, England. Elizabeth's grandparents were Peter and Joan (Thember) Coffin, and Robert Stevens of Brixton. Henry² Clark married secondly, 24 January, 1723/4 (intention 21 (1) December, 1723), Mary Peirce.

In 1768 Jonathan Longfellow with others built a double saw mill on the island at West Falls. He was appointed justice of the peace about 1767, the first east of the Penobscot River, and was moderator of the first proprietors' meeting 11 September, 1770. His will was probated 24 June, 1786. On 24 July, 1788, the Judge of Probate appointed Parker Clark one of three men to set off the widow's dower. She is said to have returned to Cornwallis. (Maine Historical Magazine, Vol. VII, p. 101.) The History of Nottingham, N. H., records that Sarah (Longfellow) Cilley was "a lady of high culture for her times and universally beloved, suffering patiently for twenty years prior to her death." The same volume contains an account of her husband, and a portrait of Senator Joseph⁶ Cilley. The latter's brother, Jonathan, graduated at Bowdoin College in 1825, and was the Congressman who was killed in a duel by the Honorable William J. Graves of Kentucky, 24 February, 1838.

In 1723 Henry lost his wife, eldest son, and three daughters of throat distemper, all within a few days of each other. This affliction was chronicled by a native poet, Mr. John Calef of Newbury, aged nineteen, in eighteen verses, as follows: —

A MOURNFUL RELATION

Of a great Mortality in the Family of Mr. Henry Clark, of Newbury, viz., the Death of his much lamented Wife, his eldest Son, and three Daughters, who all departed this Life in April, anno Domini 1723.

1. We mortals are but lumps of clay,
When God doth take our breath away,
All born to die, none can here stay,
The fairest flower may soon decay.
2. Awake and see this warning be
To none of you in vain;
Unstop your ears that you may hear
What I shall now explain.
3. For in April God show'd his will,
O! what is earthly wealth!
The seventh day alive were they,
And all in usual health.
4. The fourteenth day God call'd away
His daughter from the stage;
Her years we see were twenty three,
The flower of her age.
5. The eighteenth day God call'd away
Stephen his eldest son;
None can deny, but must comply,
God's will it must be done.

NATHANIEL CLARKE

6. So it must be, 'twas God's decree,
His years were twenty seven ;
And when he died was glorified,
We hope, by God in Heaven.
7. Then did display the twentieth day,
Affording him new grief,
Adding double to his trouble,
But yielding no relief.
8. Then did his wife depart this life,
A virtuous wife was she ;
There's none can stay God's hand one day,
Nor hinder his decree.
9. Her forty sixth year God did fix
To be her dying one ;
But happy she whose change may be,
To live with God alone.
10. The twenty fourth did die one more,
And she was twelve years old ;
The hardest heart must tears impart,
When they shall hear it told.
11. On twenty fifth God did deprive
Him of his other daughter,
Lord give him grace to seek thy face,
And live with thee hereafter.
12. She died in youth, but lov'd the truth,
Her years were twenty one ;
And happy she, whose change may be,
To live with God alone.
13. God grant that he may patient be.
Troubles do not arise,
Out of the dust, but God is just,
And sees man's vanities.
14. God doth him meet with troubles great,
We hope it's for the best ;
The sores did cover Job, all over,
Yet now he is at rest.
15. What man could go and see it so,
What man would not have cry'd ;
Two in one day were borne away,
Each coffin side by side.

16. Death spareth none, not even one,
 It takes away the mother;
 And sisters three, we likewise see,
 Also their loving brother.
17. Thus they forsake, and farewell take,
 Of this their house of clay;
 With blessing great we hope they meet,
 To live with God for aye.
18. Let all the living often call to mind,
 That they in short must leave the world behind,
 That so they may, whilst they're alive on earth,
 Remember there will be a day of death;
 And judgment too; at which all must appear,
 To be rewarded as their works were here.*

Enoch³ (*Henry*²) of Greenland, N. H., was born in Newbury, 1 September, 1709, died in Greenland, 16 February, 1759. He was admitted to the church there in 1732 and his wife in 1733. He signed the petition to the Governor and General Court for a bridge between Newmarket and Stratham, 21 November, 1746. The church records mention, November, 1748, the death of a negro child, and 20 February, 1750, that of a negro, both owned by a Mr. Clark. In 1743 his tax was £1, 12s.; in 1748 he was one of a committee to manage the affairs of the parish, and in 1756 he was one of eight "to build a meeting house & steeple," and to settle Rev. Samuel MacClintock. In the meeting house built in 1756 Enoch Clark had pew No. 11 (£152) and pew No. 32 (£151). He was selectman in 1744, 1750-53 (five years), moderator 1756, auditor 1748, 1755-57.

There is a gap in the records prior to 1750, and it is probable that he was a town officer in years not mentioned above. About 1754 Enoch and his brother Henry signed a petition for grants of land where is now the town of Alton, N. H.

On 29 October, 1756, Enoch Clark, Enoch Clark, Jr., and Ebenezer Clark, witnessed the will of William Haines at Greenland.

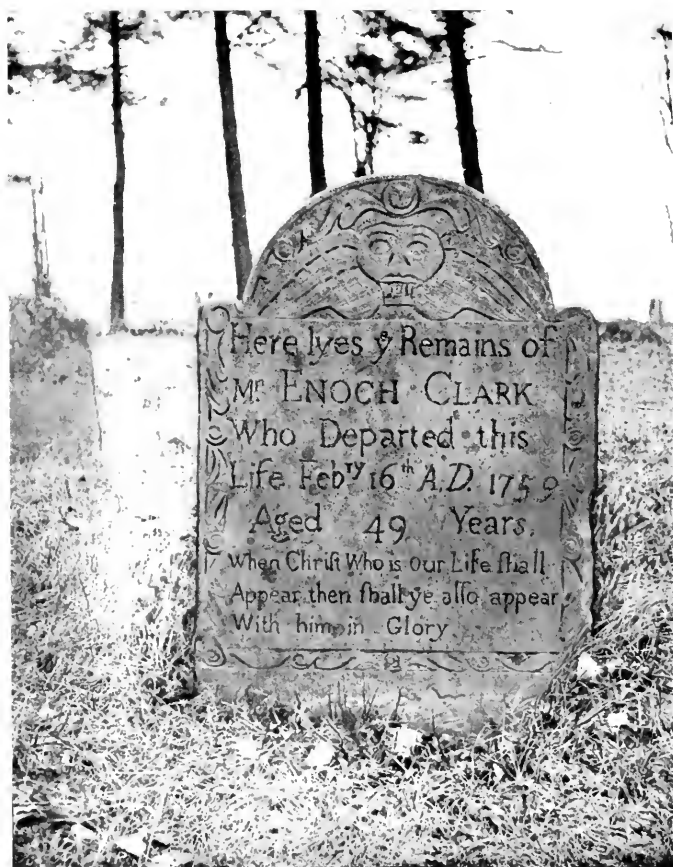

Enoch married in Hampton, 1731, Hannah, born 20 January, 1711/12, died 9 April, 1746, daughter of Ebenezer and Judith (Sanborn) Gove of Hampton. He married secondly, in Kittery, Me., 5 March, 1746/7, Mary Allen, born 28 April, 1710.

His will was dated 23 January, 1759, and proved 28 February, 1759. In it he mentions his wife, Mary, and his five sons.

The children, all born in Greenland, were

HANNAH (GOVE) CLARK'S GRAVESTONE, GREENLAND, N. H.

the church records of Greenland are recorded the deaths of Henry² Clark, of Hannah, wife of Enoch,³ and of Hannah,⁴ child of Enoch.³

In the northwest corner of the graveyard in North Greenland there are seven grave stones in a line, marking the resting places of Enoch Clark, his wife, and of some of his descendants.

The sixth and seventh from the road are those of which there are engravings in this book.

John⁶ (*John*⁵) of Rumney, N. H., was born in Haverhill, N. H., 25 June, 1800, and died in Rumney, 31 August, 1887.

He early united with the Congregational Church in Campton, in which town his family had lived since 1812, and when upward of thirty years of age he studied theology with Rev. George Punchard, a Congregational clergyman, then of Plymouth, N. H. Mr. Clark was ordained 23 January, 1835, and acted as pastor in Wilmot, Danbury, and Enfield, N. H., from 1835 to 1842.

The author of the History of the New Hampshire Churches, writing of that at Wilmot, says: "In 1835 Rev. John Clark was elected pastor, and labored with good success among them until 1842." He was pastor of the Congregational Church in Burke, Vt., from 1842 to 1854, and preached in Bristol, Bridgewater, and Hebron, N. H., from 1855 to 1870. In 1885 he was in full possession of his faculties, and was a good correspondent.

In the last letter, 17 May, 1887, received from him, by the compiler of this genealogy, he wrote: "evidently it is the beginning of the end of my last sickness . . . although I have all that heart could wish—good care—kind children & grandchildren — sympathizing friends — the opening of this beautiful Spring, the pure atmosphere — the singing of birds all the way from the little Phebe & Ground Sparrow up to the Oriole & Bobolink & others, together with vital & mental faculties rendering existence pleasurable even in this world—yet, if I am not deceived, if my Heavenly Father had called me suddenly away soon after my wife died, I should have rejoiced in the exchange of worlds. This world is good. But the future is better."

"I think the letter he wrote you dated May 17 was the last one. His mental faculties he retained until about one hour of his death, always having great strength of mind."

(Letter of Mrs. Sarah Sargent (Gault) Clark, dated 3 October, 1887.)

Until within a week of his death, he had been about his home as usual. The farm in Rumney, N. H., was purchased by him in 1866.

The fac-simile is from his signature in his eighty-fifth year.

He married 3 November, 1825, Abigail, born 6 October, 1804, died in Rumney, 21 October, 1885, daughter of Robert and Abigail (Morse) Mitchell of Bridgewater, N. H. The children of the Rev. John Clark were Edwin⁷ (*John*⁶) of Melrose, Minn., was born in Bridgewater, N. H., 25 February, 1834. He went West when a young man, and was in company with William A. Croffit as a proprietor and financial editor of the Evening News, a daily paper printed at St. Anthony, Minn., from 1857-62. He was afterward Indian agent of the Chippewas and Winnebagoes in Northern Minnesota, with a major's commission, under President Lincoln, and was one of the pioneers in Minnesota politics.

He is now proprietor of the Melrose Flouring Mills, and dealer in merchandise, grain and lumber. Melrose owes its rapid growth in a great measure to his enterprise. At the time he made the purchase of the lands on which his mills now stand he was in business with William H.⁷ Clark.

PART VII.

ENOCH⁴ CLARK OF GREENLAND, N. H., AND HIS DESCENDANTS.

FOURTH GENERATION.

Enoch⁴ (*Enoch*³) of Greenland, N. H., was born there 26 June, 1735, and died there 4 November, 1774 (see p. 296). He bought the homestead of Samuel Haines, 19 February, 1766, for £500, and kept tavern in 1761. There is a locality in Greenland now or formerly known as Clark's Corner. Brackett Academy stands on land that once belonged to Enoch,⁴ or to his son. Hall's "Rambles about Greenland in Rhyme" contains pictures of the Rev. Samuel MacClintock as he appeared in the time of the Revolution, of the meeting-house built in 1756, and other Greenland views, also a plan of the pews in the meeting-house. Enoch Clark, presumably this one, purchased pew No. 38. Enoch signed the petition, dated Newmarket, 1760, to have the Newmarket bridge built at a place called New Fields. He was town clerk 1760, 1771-74 inclusive, selectman 1762, 1763, 1767-70 (six years), auditor 1765, 1772-74 inclusive, moderator 1760, poundkeeper 1768-72 inclusive, 1774 (six years), and in 1768 was on a committee to defend the town in a law suit. His inventory was filed 30 March, 1775.

He married in Greenland, 23 August, 1759, Mary, born 25 March, 1732, died 18 February, 1816, daughter of Dr. Clement and Eleanor (Veazey) March of Greenland. Dr. March represented Greenland in the General Assembly twenty years, and was colonel of the Horse Guards. Rev. Samuel MacClintock officiated at Enoch Clark's wedding.

Enoch's children, all born in Greenland, were

- i. Mary⁵ b. 19 July, 1760, d. 7 May 1846, m. Capt. — Nichols (mariner) and had 1. Robert⁶ Nichols d. in early manhood. 2. Margarct⁶ Nichols. * Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Foster were living in Pottsville late in 1883, and were remarkably well preserved; they had been absent from their native New England for a long period. Of their six daughters and five sons, Thomas born 20 July, 1819, furnished information for this book.

four children.* Near the wall of the Old Hill burying ground, on the Greenleaf Street side, are gravestones in memory of all this family of Toppans, except Sarah and Eliza Ann, and on the lower portion of one of them is the epitaph of Robert Nichols. A small slate stone near by marks the grave of his sister, Peggy G. Nichols.

ii. Hannah⁵ b. 23 Mar. 1762, d. 1 May, 1846, m. — Smith, a merchant in Newmarket, N. H. She m. secondly, Ebenezer Pearson of Newburyport, a hotel keeper, and had one child. Mr. Pearson had charge of the bridge over the Merrimac River.

2. iii. Enoch⁵ b. 9 Nov. 1763, d. 6 Mar. 1844.

iv. Eleanor⁵ b. 18 Mar. 1765, d. 29 Jan. 1830, m. Capt. Edmund Wingate, who d. 19 May, 1829, aged 74, and had 1. *Edmund*⁶ Wingate d. 7 June, 1810. 2. *Maria*⁶ Wingate d. 17 Feb. 1847. 3. *Hannah Smith*⁶ Wingate b. 22 Apr. 1797, d. 3 Sept. 1797. 4. *Augustus C.*⁶ Wingate d. 4 Mar. 1828. In the Old Hill burying ground, near the Toppan lot, is a slate gravestone and three white marble stones inscribed :

(Cherub's head and wings.)

* Two of these children died in infancy, and a boy when near fifteen. The third child, Enoch Clark⁷ Toppan, has had eight children, of whom four are living. (Letter of Mrs. Rebecca Hoyt (Pillsbury) Toppan, dated 31 October, 1883.)

Capt. Wingate was probably the Edmund Wingate bapt. 5 Jan. 1755, son of Simon and Lydia (Hill) Wingate, who lived in Newburyport.

3. v. Thomas March^s b. 24 Mar. 1771, d. 30 Mar. 1850.

Enoch's^t gravestone is the next north of his mother's at Greenland. It reads :

(Um.)

In Memory of | ENOCH CLARK Esq. | he died | Novr 4, 1774 | Æt 39

His house, in which his descendants lived for three generations, is large and comfortable looking, and is about a mile west of the North Greenland railroad station. It is now owned by a Mr. Lord. The photograph from which the engraving was made was taken by Mr. William P. Frink of Greenland in the spring of 1901.

FIFTH GENERATION.

Enoch^s (Enoch^t) of Greenland, N. H., where he was born 9 November, 1763, and died 6 March, 1844. He was town clerk 1787-93 (seven years), selectman 1793, '95, 1804, '08, '10, moderator 1798, 1800-03, '05, '06, '08, '10, '12-16, '20, and '22 (sixteen years), auditor 1797, 1802, '07, '09, '13, '16, '22, collector and constable 1789, sealer of weights and measures 1798, 1805, '15-18 (six years), surveyor of wood 1821, assessor 1824, fence viewer 1834, superintending school committee 1820-22 (three years), prudential school committee 1828. In 1816 he was one of a committee of five "to settle all matters in dispute between the two parishes in this town." He was on the Congregationalist committee in 1809 (Town record), and was one of the three men who attempted to prevent John C. Ingalls from teaching at the academy on account of his strong Methodist sympathies. Enoch was representative in the legislature 1799, 1800 and 1801. In 1824 he was on a committee to examine and lay out the road from Simpson's Hill to James Wedgewood's and over the river, and in 1828 to arrange for the dismissal of Rev. Ephraim Abbot, A. M.

Besides these positions he served on various committees of the town. On 25 December, 1783, he signed the petition that the town might have a representative each year, and 24 December, 1789, that money might be raised by a lottery to build a bridge over "little Harbour River to connect with Newcastle." Enoch M.⁵ and Joseph⁵ Clark also signed the latter petition.

On 27 June, 1799, Enoch was appointed guardian of his minor children Charles Augustus and Mary.

Enoch's will was dated 8 June, 1843, proved 19 March, 1844, and he named therein his wife Betsey, and sons Charles A., Enoch H., and daughters Mary L. Bradley and Elizabeth Clark.

He married Mary Robinson, born 18 August, 1771, died 7 June, 1798, and secondly, 1801, Betsey Huse. Rev. Samuel MacClintock officiated at this marriage. His children, all born in Greenland, were

4. i. Charles Augustus⁶ b. 25 Nov. 1789, d. 4 Dec. 1876.
- ii. Mary L.⁶ b. 5 Sept. 1794, d. Sept. 1877, m. Dr. Abraham Bradley of Utica, N. Y., and had 1. Louisa⁷ Bradley, who m. and went West. 2. Virginia⁷ Bradley. 3. Leonidas⁷ Bradley. Mrs. Bradley m. secondly, Mr. White; thirdly, —.
- iii. Thomas⁶ b. 18 Mar. 1802, d. 12 Nov. 1839, in Florida.

- iv. Elizabeth⁶ b. 2 Feb. 1804, d. 28 Apr. 1844, unmarried. She left a will dated 28 Mar. 1844, proved 12 June.
- v. Emily⁶ b. 10 Feb. 1808, d. 22 Dec. 1831, unmarried.
- vi. Stephen⁶ b. 11 Mar. 1815, d. 24 Apr. 1825.
- 5. vii. Enoch Henry⁶ b. 6 Feb. 1817, d. 25 Dec. 1893.

In the old graveyard at Greenland there is a row of gravestones in memory of this family. The stone nearest the road marks the grave of Emily⁶ Clark who died 1831, and is inscribed as follows :

(Willow and urn.)

EMILY CLARK | Died | Dec. 22, 1831; | aged 25 years.

The next one reads

ENOCH CLARK, Esq. | died March 6, 1844, | Aged 80. | MARY, his wife | died Jan. 1, 1790, | Aged 27.

This is a comparatively modern stone, and the date of Mrs. Mary Clark's death does not agree with the family record.

The third stone in the row is that of Stephen⁶ Clark, who died in 1825, and the fourth is at the grave of Elizabeth⁶ Clark who died in 1844. The inscriptions are as follows :

STEPHEN CLARK. | Died | April 24, 1825, | aged 10 years.

ELIZABETH CLARK, | died | April 28, 1844. | Aged 40.

All the gravestones in Greenland, from which inscriptions were copied for this book, are of marble except those of earlier date than 1800.

Thomas March⁵ (*Enoch*⁴) of Newburyport, Mass., merchant, born in Greenland, N. H., Sunday, 24 March, 1771, and baptized that day. He died in Newburyport, 30 March, 1850, where he had lived since 1788. He attended school in Greenland, and was for a time at Phillips Exeter Academy.

Converted in the revival of 1800, he was later a prominent member of the First Presbyterian Church in Newburyport, and a ruling elder forty years; his wife became a member in 1818. He was much interested in foreign missions, and was president of the Howard Benevolent Society from 1816 until his death. In 1816 a company of missionaries, when about to go to Ceylon, took tea at his house the Friday before their departure, and had religious services.

In 1808 he was a member of the school committee, and also fireward. His wife was president of the Orphan Asylum for more than thirty years. He served on the committee to collect contributions after the great fire at Newburyport, 31 May, 1811; and in 1814 "Captain Thomas M. Clark" was one of the committee to take measures for defence against the British. He was one of the committee appointed to receive President Monroe, 16 June, 1817, and also General Lafayette, 31 August, 1824. In 1829, together with Benjamin W. Hale, he directed the construction of the break-water from Plum Island to Woodbridge Island, and thence to Plum Island Sound. From the History of Lowell, p. 24, by Miles, 1845, the following is quoted: "Purchase of the Canal and Farms. Thomas M. Clark, a merchant of Newburyport, and one of the Directors of the canal round Pawtucket Falls, was taken into the confidence of the gentlemen connected with the Waltham Company, and was by them employed to purchase the shares of the Locks and Canals Corporation. These shares, five hundred in number, were bought at prices varying from eighty to one hundred dollars per share. In the autumn of 1821, Mr. Clark came to East Chelmsford to purchase the farms on which the city of Lowell is now built. The first purchase that was made was the farm of Nathan Tyler."

Mr. Clark was a man of the highest character, and a prominent citizen.

By some strange blunder the Newburyport record of deaths, which gives his birthplace, Greenland, correctly, incorrectly calls his parents "Thomas and Eunise," and the date of his death as 31 March, 1850.

He married in Newburyport, 4 December, 1793 (intention 17 August), Mary, born —, died 15 June, 1810, daughter of Alexander and Mary Caldwell of Newburyport. Rev. John Andrews, minister of the Third Church in Newbury, later the First Church in Newburyport, officiated at the marriage of Thomas M. Clark and Mary Caldwell.

Thomas M. married secondly, 28 (29) May, 1811, Rebecca, born 30 December, 1782, died 31 July, 1865, daughter of Abraham and Rebecca (Knights) Wheelwright of Newbury. Mr. Wheelwright was a prominent sea captain and merchant, and had fought the British on the ocean in the War of the Revolution. There is a picture of him and one of his house in "Ould Newbury." He was descended from Rev. John Wheelwright, born 1594, who received degrees at Sydney College, Cambridge, England, 1614 and 1618; was Vicar of the Church of the Holy Trinity at Bilsby, Lincolnshire, 1623-32, and died in Salisbury, Mass., 15 November, 1679; he was son of Robert Wheelwright of Saleby, Lincolnshire. In 1865 Mrs. Clark was living in Albany, N. Y., according to a church manual. The children of Thomas March⁵ Clark, all born in Newburyport, were

- i. Augustus March⁶ b. Oct. 1794, d. 13 Sept. 1795.
- ii. Harriet⁶ b. 7 Feb. 1796, d. 30 June, 1810.
- iii. Edwin Augustus⁶ b. 15 Mar. 1800, d. 27 Nov. 1827. His brother Thomas March⁶ stated in a letter that he died "in the West Indies, on shipboard," and further, "He was married, but left no children." He m. 29 June, 1825, Henrietta b. 1795, d. 19 June, 1850, dau. of Enoch Colman and Mary⁵ (Clark) Toppan of Newburyport.
6. iv. Thomas March⁶ b. 4 July, 1812.
7. v. Rufus Wheelwright⁶ b. 17 Dec. 1813, d. 9 Aug. 1886.
- vi. Edward Warren⁶ b. 30 Oct. 1815, d. 12 Aug. 1837.
- vii. Abraham Wheelwright⁶ b. 13 Sept. 1817, d. 14 Dec. 1818, in Newburyport.
8. viii. George Henry⁶ b. 7 Nov. 1819.
9. ix. Samuel Adams⁶ b. 27 Jan. 1822, d. 28 Jan. 1875.
- x. Mary Rebecca⁶ b. 1 Aug. 1825, d. 29 (31) Apr. 1843, in Newburyport of consumption.

Close to the wall, on the Greenleaf Street side of the Old Hill burying ground, in Newburyport, is a large white gravestone inscribed :

(Willow and urn.)

the 15th, | June 1810 | Aged 40 Years.

Mrs. Clark's father and mother are buried in the Caldwell lot, a short distance to the west.

Thomas March⁵ Clark was buried in lot 36 in the Oak Hill Cemetery, and the names of several members of the family, whose epitaphs in the Old Hill burying ground have been given, are inscribed on the Clark monument in the new lot.

The family of Capt. Greenleaf⁵ Clark (see p. 90) own lots 195 and 52½ near by.

Enoch Henry⁶ (Enochs) of Greenland, N. H., was born there 6 February, 1817, and was the last of his race there. He died on Christmas Day, 1893, and a handsome stone marks his grave in his lot, which is east of his brother's.

He was hogreave 1841, '47, '50, '53, auditor 1845, and '57, selectman 1846-50 inclusive, '58 and '65, all of the time being chairman, treasurer 1846-50 inclusive, tythingman 1848, fence viewer 1849, '50, '52, postmaster 1851, '52, highway surveyor 1854, assessor 1863, '64, besides various minor offices.

Mr. Clark was an efficient town officer, and a man of strict integrity. On one occasion when he was a candidate for an office he was defeated by one vote, and was urged by his associates on the board of selectmen to throw out one ballot on a technicality. This suggestion aroused Mr. Clark's indignation, and he denounced it as an outrage, and declared his opponents (the entire ticket depended upon one vote) duly elected. On other occasions he showed his determination to have fair play and an honest ballot.

This family almost continuously filled important town offices in Greenland during a period of more than one hundred and forty years.

The following is an extract from a Pastoral Letter from Bishop Clark, read in the Sunday schools of the Episcopal Church in Rhode Island, in the winter of 1899-1900:

My Dear Young Friends—As I am unable any longer to visit our Sunday schools, I wish to address a letter to the young people of the Diocese and tell them some things which it is important for them to know. A long time has passed since I was a child, but I well remember how I stood in a line with the other boys eighty-two years ago and saluted President Monroe, the fifth President of the United States, as he rode by in state on his gayly caparisoned horse. I also recall very distinctly the early morning in 1824 when I was allowed to enter Lafayette's bed chamber before breakfast, and how kindly he drew me to his side and said, "My son, if you live to grow up to be a man, you must be a patriot and love your country."

Great changes have come over the face of the world since my boyhood. I was ten years old before I saw a self-lighting match, and at that time we had no gas in the streets or in our houses, no furnaces to keep us warm, and no coal but charcoal, no water to use but rain water and that which we drew from the well, no railroads, no telegraphs, no telephones, no photographs, no steam mills or steam presses, no street cars, no electricity, no india-rubber clothing, no ether or chloroform to assuage pain.

* The names of Clark and Clarke children are in columns, and are followed in many instances by dates only, but at the beginning of this book it appeared that in some instances it would be necessary, for obvious reasons, to mention in connection with these columns the place of the birth, or death, of one or more children. It seemed to the writer, who has a decided preference for having the name of the place precede the date, that the appearance of the pages would be more pleasing if exceptions were made to his general rule in these instances. This departure from his custom has been strictly adhered to, but has the serious disadvantage of an apparent though not an actual lack of uniformity. The difficulty in observing an absolute rule is illustrated in the use of the words in and at. It is doubtless more correct to say that a person died in Newbury than at Newbury, but if the place chances to be "Three Rivers." at seems to be the better word.

Enoch Moody⁶ (*Joseph*⁵) of Wolfborough, N. H., was born in Greenland, N. H., 12 April, 1802, died 7 August, 1865. He married in Milton, N. H., 8 June, 1826, Sarah Plumer, born 8 (6) July, 1806, daughter of Ichabod and Lydia (Wentworth) Hayes. Mrs. Hayes was daughter of Ephraim and Phebe Wentworth, who were first cousins, Ephraim having married the daughter of his uncle Jonathan. Ephraim and his wife were of the third generation from Elder William Wentworth, the ancestor of a numerous and distinguished race. The children, all born in Wolfborough except Brackett Weeks,⁷ who was born in Milton, were Sarah Elizabeth⁷ b. 30 Apr. 1827, d. 25 Jan. 1886, m. in Wolfborough, 10 Jan. 1850, David Charles Rogers of Wolfborough, b. 22 June, 1827, d. 6 May, 1890, son of Honorable Nathaniel and Martha (Rust) Rogers. Wolfborough and Tuftonborough Academy, now Brewster Free Academy; also one of the first board of directors of the Wolfborough Bank, 1834, of which Augustine D. Avery was cashier. The latter was town clerk 1841, '43, county commissioner two years, and representative in the Legislature 1843, '44, '53. Joseph L. Avery was town clerk in 1849, and at one time town treasurer, and treasurer of the Wolfborough Savings Bank 1872-78. Judging by the list of marriages given in the History of Wolfborough, the dates in the town records, if correctly copied and printed, frequently vary from those in the family Bibles, etc. Probably the latter are usually correct. For instance, the date of the marriage of Sarah Elizabeth⁷ Clark and David C. Rogers is "Jan. 1" in the History, and that of Anne Augusta⁷ Clark and John G. Cate is "Nov. 7." (See p. 347 supra and p. 348.) Many similar examples might be cited. The writer has no doubt that the records furnished by Mrs. Rogers and Mr. Clark are correct. Descendants of Dea. Moses⁵ Clark, as well as of his distant relative, Joseph⁵ Clark, lived in Wolfborough, and intermarried with the Rusts, who seem to have been the principal family in the town.

DANIEL CLARK OF PIERMONT, N. H.

Daniel⁴ (*Enoch*³) of Piermont, N. H., was born in Greenland, N. H., 19 December, 1744 (see p. 296), and died in Piermont, 23 May, 1835. He went to Piermont in the spring of 1774, and began clearing what he supposed to be a settler's lot. He built a small house consisting of a good sized kitchen and two bedrooms, and this with the additions since made is still standing, and is about half a mile from Warren as the division lines now run. Late in the fall he returned to Greenland, and was married, and in the spring of 1775 again went to Piermont, his young wife riding on horseback with the few household goods they possessed, and he walking. He was one of the voters of Warren in 1780, and in 1781 he owned there two acres of arable land, eight of mowing, and ninety unimproved, and also owned one horse, two oxen, one cow, one three-year old, and one one-year old; his tax for 1781 amounted to 3s. 1½*d.*

There is an interesting history of Warren by William Little, which gives an account of the settlement of this mountain village and of its people. In Piermont Daniel owned about six hundred acres of land, and settled his three elder sons there, giving them each a farm.* Enoch remained on the homestead till his father's

He married 8 December, 1774, Alethea Smith, born 28 September, 1754 (perhaps in Hingham, Mass.), died in Wentworth, N. H., 17 October, 1840. The family spell the name Alithea. The children of Daniel⁴ were PART X.

HENRY³ CLARK OF CANDIA, N. H., AND HIS DESCENDANTS.

THIRD GENERATION.

Henry³ (*Henry*²) of Greenland, N. H., was born in Newbury, Mass., 23 April, 1717, and died 27 February, 1804* (see p. 293). He was admitted to the church in Greenland in 1740, and was taxed there £1, os., 6*d.*, in 1743. He was a fence viewer in 1749; removed to Candia in 1763 and bought the farm of Mary Batchelder, on which his descendant Gilman Clark was living thirty years since. He signed the Association Test with Stephen and John Clark in 1776. The test circular was issued by the Committee of Safety of New Hampshire to the selectmen of Candia, 12 April, 1776.

Henry married 13 December, 1738, Kezia, born 1 November, 1717, died 2 September, 1765, daughter of Joshua and Mary (Weeks) Brackett. Joshua Brackett's farm was partly in Stratham and partly in Greenland. Henry Clark married secondly, 10 July,

* Letter of Henry⁴ Clark to his brother John⁴ Clark announcing the death of their father.

1766, Catharine, born in Exeter, 7 April, 1725, died 19 August, 1769, daughter of Jeremiah and Mary (? Fifield) Bean. Henry married thirdly, 10 May, 1770, Abigail Francis, born 6 October, 1738, who survived him.

His children were

- i. Stephen⁺ b. 28 Apr. 1740. He signed the Association Test, and was one of the Revolutionary soldiers from Candia. Mrs. Lydia⁶ (Clark) Hanaford thinks that he had no children, and died prior to 1800, soon after her grandfather, John⁺ Clark, moved to Campton.
- ii. Joshua⁺ b. 1 Jan. 1742, d. 1 Oct. 1758.
2. iii. Nathaniel⁺ b. 19 Mar. 1744.
3. iv. Samuel⁺ b. 18 May, 1746, d. 15 Apr. 1821.
- v. Mary⁺ b. 4 Aug. 1750, d. 30 Sept. 1750.
4. vi. Henry⁺ b. 4 Aug. 1755, d. 28 Nov. 1823.
- vii. Enoch⁺ b. 27 Apr. 1757, d. 10 Feb. 1765.
- viii. Joshua⁺ b. 14 Apr. 1759, d. 10 June, 1759.
5. ix. John⁺ b. 20 May, 1760, d. 21 Dec. 1831.
- x. Ebenezer⁺ b. 29 July, 1769,* it is said in Greenland. His grandfather Bean remembered him in his will. Mr. Bean died in 1780.
- xi. Abigail⁺ b. 25 Aug. 1771.
- xii. Kezia⁺ b. 15 Sept. 1775, m. 1797, William Robie of Candia, who died in 1850. He was son of John and Mehitabel (Hall) Robie.

* Although the Rev. Moses T. Runnels in his History of Sanbornton, N. H., Vol. II, p. 147, in his account of Ebenezer Clark, known as "Master Clark," and of his family, stated that Ebenezer was born 7 June, 1768, it is probable that he was identical with the son of Henry³ Clark. See also, "The Norris Family," by Rev. Leonard Allison Morrison, A. M., pp. 51 and 52, where there is a record of the descendants of Master Ebenezer Clark and his wife, Eunice Norris, to which the writer can only add that John Phillips Clark of Sanbornton and Abigail P. Randlett of Northfield were married in Gilmanton, 4 July, 1822, by John D. Knowles, and that John Bachelder of Gilmanton and Eleanor Clark of Sanbornton were married 28 October, 1819, by Peter Clark. (Gilmanton Town record.)

The baptisms of Henry's older children are recorded in Greenland, N. H. Stephen^t was baptized by the Rev. William Allen in 1740, Joshua^t in 1742, Nathaniel^t in 1744, and Samuel^t in 1746.

FOURTH GENERATION.

Nathaniel^t (Henry^s) of Candia, N. H., was born in Greenland, N. H., 19 March, 1744. His wife is said to have been of Irish descent, and, if so, was probably of the race of Scotch-Irish Protestants from the north of Ireland, many of whom settled in New Hampshire. Nathaniel had five sons :

- i. Joseph^s b. —, d. —, unmarried.
- ii. Nathaniel^s b. —, d. 1845. He m. Sally Miller and had an only child, Martha,⁶ who d. about 1823, aged 18.

He married in Kensington, 4 July, 1764, Mary, born 31 August, 1744, died 4 January, 1814, daughter of Peter and Mary (Folsom) Folsom of Exeter.* Rev. Jeremiah Fogg officiated at the marriage of Samuel Clark and Mary Folsom.

"Joseph Fellows of Vassalborough and Molly Clark of Gilmantown were married September 18th. 1788," by Rev. Isaac Smith. (Gilmanton Church records.) It is said that there are gravestones in memory of Mr. and Mrs. Fellows in Gilmanton or Belmont, and that hers gives her age as 52. A doubtful statement has been made that Mary's parents were married in 1762.
9. ii. Enoch^s b. June, 1765, d. Mar., 1834.
- iii. Anna^s b. —, d. —, m. 17 June, 1790, Daniel Fitzgerald of Bethlehem or Littleton, N. H., and had five children. "Daniel Fitz Gerald of Limerick and Nancy Clark of Gilmantown were married June 17th. 1790," by Rev. Isaac

* Mr. and Mrs. Folsom were both great grandchildren of John Folsom, who was baptized in Hingham, England, in 1615, was selectman of Hingham and Exeter in New England, married Mary, daughter of Edward and Mary (Clark) Gilman, and was the ancestor of the Folsoms who have been prominent in Exeter for generations. His son Lieut. Peter Folsom was the father of Peter, an influential man, who married Catharine, daughter of Honorable John Gilman, and grandfather of Peter, who settled in Gilmanton in 1773, and was father of Mrs. Samuel Clark. Deacon John Folsom, an elder brother of Lieut. Peter, had a son Jonathan, who married Anna Ladd, a granddaughter of Honorable John Gilman. This Jonathan Folsom was the father of Nathaniel Folsom, a captain who distinguished himself at Fort Edward and in a battle with Dieskau in 1755, was a brigadier general at the siege of Boston, commissioned a major general in 1775, member of the First Continental Congress in Philadelphia in 1774, '75, also of the Congresses of 1777-1780. In 1778 he was a councillor, and in 1783 was temporary president of the convention that framed the Constitution of New Hampshire. Col. Samuel Folsom of Exeter, and Mary Folsom, mother of Mrs. Samuel Clark, were brother and sister of Maj. Gen. Nathaniel Folsom.

John⁴ (*Henry*³) of Campton, N. H., was born in Greenland, N. H., 20 May, 1760, died in Campton, 21 December, 1831. Lydia⁶ (Clark) Hanaford stated that an old letter led her to think that her grandfather, John⁴, was born in Candia, N. H. (Her letter of 16 October, 1883.) He served nine months in the Continental army, and was a corporal in Capt. Samuel McConnell's company of Col. David Gilman's regiment. John's name is on the pay roll of December, 1776, as a soldier from Candia, and he was entitled to £150 "for the war." The History of Candia does not give the dates, but he apparently served for several years.

He was paid in Continental money, which became worthless, and he gave it to his grandchildren, who still preserve it. Until 1821 he lived in the west part of the town in what is called Campton Bog, when he bought three hundred acres in the centre of the town and on the Pemigewasset River. This land he divided between his sons John and Leavitt, and lived with the former the remainder of his life. He was one of the first members of the Baptist church. He married 22 December, 1785, Lydia, born in Exeter, N. H., 3 December, 1759, died 6 December, 1830, daughter of Joseph and Love (Leavitt) Leavitt of Exeter. On 27 June, 1720, "The account of Sarah Woodwell (late Clarke) Admin^s on the Estate of her former Husband Josiah Clarke late of Boston Tailor Deceased" was presented, and she prayed allowance for the following expenses among others, which are given here as illustrating the manners of the times, it appearing that wine, gloves, etc., were then considered necessities at a funeral, even when the deceased had died insolvent.

Josiah was married 24 January, 1705/6, by Rev. Benjamin Colman, D. D., to Sarah, born 15 January, 1689, daughter of John and Deborah (Templar) Chamberlain of Hull, Mass. Sarah married secondly, in Boston, 26 May, 1720, Joseph Woodwell of Bridgewater, Rev. Cotton Mather, D. D., officiating. She was then of Hingham. The children of Josiah and Sarah Clarke, both born in Boston, were

- i. John³ b. 21 Oct. 1710.
- ii. Josiah³ b. 1 Jan. 1713.

Nothing further is known of these children by the writer, although he has for years sought some trace of them.

Oh, talk not to me of a name great in story;
The days of our youth are the days of our glory;
And the myrtle and ivy of sweet two-and-twenty
Are worth all your laurels, though ever so plenty.

- p. 44. Notes on the inventory of Nathaniel² Clarke : It is probable that the words "neat Land" should read reat Land, referring to the "Rate Lot," and the word "Card" was intended for Cord. The "Earthen wear" etc. were valued at 4 shillings, not £4, which accounts for the discrepancy between the items and the footing. The "pleate" was "20 qrs." (?)

In November, 1776, "Nathel" Clarke of Salem, N. H., was in Capt. Norris's company, Col. Josiah Bartlett's regiment, and enlisted for the war.

On 10 January, 1778, Nath Clark of New Salem (Salem), was missing from the same company. This roll was dated at Valley Forge, and there were many absentees from the "2^d Battⁿ," Col. Nathan Hale. Clark was described as 21 years of age, 5 feet, 8 inches in height, complexion dark, hair black, eyes black. "Where left H. Town."

On 13 August, 1779, Nath Clark of Walpole, N. H., enlisted for 1 year in Col. Bellow's regiment, and between 1777-80 Nathl Clark was a private in Col. Reid's regiment, (2d) N. On 30 April, 1782, he had served 3 years.

It seems probable that Nathaniel⁵ (*Daniel*⁴) was the Brentwood soldier.

Miss Julia Cogswell⁷ Clarke wrote, under date of 28 November, 1882, "My childish remembrances of my 'Aunt Mary,' with her bright rosy cheeks and soft brown curls, are very pleasant. R. D. p. 262. For George Pierpont⁹ Estes read George Pierpont⁹ Hart.

p. 263. Capt. James Clarkson commanded the schooner Broad Bay and was sailing master of the fleet on which Arnold's expedition against Quebec embarked at Newburyport on 18 September, 1775.

p. 264. John Phillips Clark stated that his brother-in-law, Mr. Lane, died 27 July, 1860. Thus we have three different dates. This is not unusual, although in many instances the family historian receives only two conflicting dates, both of which in some instances prove to be incorrect.

p. 268. Horatio Hammond and Betsey Ann (Goward) Stearns were the parents of Delia A., who was born 18 June, 1853.

p. 298. Love Hutchins was the daughter of John and Frances Hutchins, and wife of Capt. Samuel Sherburne.

pp. 302-304 and 312. Members of the Congregational Church in Campton, N. H. :

Hannah (Cook) Clark, 5 September, 1824 ; Apphia (Palmer) Clark, 17 July, Joseph Clark and John Clark [Rev.], 2 October, Hepzibah (Palmer) Clark, 20 November, 1825 ; H. Louise (Stevens) Clark, 3 January, 1875.

The Cook family was prominent both in the town and church. Samuel Cook settled in Campton in 1770, and came from Massachusetts ; he brought nine children with him. Other members of the Cook family came to town prior to 1804.

p. 310. Alice L. Clark and Isa M. Hanson were married in Woodstock, 29 December, 1889, by Rev. Thomas Tyrie of Plymouth, N. H.

p. 321. Thomas March⁵ Clark became connected with the First Presbyterian Church, Rev. Daniel Dana, D. D., in 1815, previously he attended the services of the Fourth Religious Society, whose pastor was Rev. Charles William Milton, one of the ministers educated by the Countess of Huntingdon's fund.

p. 328. The American Portrait Gallery, Vol. ii, by Lillian C. Buttre, contains a steel engraving of Bishop Clark when he was in the prime of life, perhaps forty five, also a fac-simile of his autograph and a brief sketch of his life. Lamb's Biographical Dictionary of the United States has a portrait and fac-simile of autograph. The Outlook for 5 October, 1901, has a portrait of him in his old age.

Unless there are two editions of Bishop Clark's book, "Reminiscences," the number of pages it contains should be stated as 226 not iii + 266.

p. 334. Presumably Rev. Rufus Wheelwright Clark is a member of the Society of Colonial Wars in right of Ensign Nathaniel¹ Clarke rather than of Nathaniel,² as the latter is not an ancestor of Rev. Dr. Clark, unless through a female line.

p. 342. In 1827 Joseph Clark bought a pew in the upper story of the academy, which had been fitted up for a chapel.

p. 343. The following are extracts from an excellent sketch of Mary Moody (Clark) Avery in the History of Carroll County, 1892, which also contains a portrait and biography of her husband, Samuel Avery.

“At her marriage she was young, small, and beautiful, but as ever afterwards, full of life and energy. When she settled in Wolfborough (1814) many of her friends thought of her as in a wilderness, of which very little was known except that it was a desolation. In later life she used to amuse her children by telling them of the curiosity which, soon after her coming to Wolfborough, some people had to see Mr. Avery’s young bride.”

“Few men have been so blessed in the marriage relation as Mr. Avery.” “As the eldest daughter in a large family in her early home, a special responsibility was thrown upon her which admirably trained her for her life as a wife and mother. Capable, energetic, prudent, hospitable, kind, sympathetic, are only some of the adjectives that describe her character. After the opening of the academy it seemed to be considered a matter of course that she should board the preceptor, and it seemed to be the special aim of pupils from abroad to secure, if possible, a home in her family.”

“Mrs. Avery never neglected her own family. She was ever watchful over her children, and uniformly prompt in attendance with them upon the Sabbath services.” “Mrs. Avery was peculiarly the friend of the poor.” “Her last sickness was short. At the funeral service, held in the Congregational church, which she had long loved, her pastor, Rev. George H. Tilton, read, in connection with very tenderly appreciative remarks, Proverbs 31 : 10-31.”

Her son, Joseph L. Avery, was on the staff of Governor Weston with the rank of colonel, and has been a director of the Wolfborough railroad for years, and was its treasurer. He succeeded his father as a trustee of Brewster Free Academy, and at one time his brother was chosen a trustee, but did not serve.

p. 344. Everett Leander⁹ Thompson born 12 May, 1884, son of Samuel Avery and Harriet Ella (Carter) Thompson.

p. 352. In 1889 Mrs. Ida M. Clark was one of the executive committee of the Unitarian Society, and also a teacher in its Sunday School. Mr. Clark was then lecturer of Lake Shore Grange.

p. 401. Fannie Belle⁷ Clark became a member of the Congregational Church in Plymouth, N. H., in 1877, and Mrs. Betsey Ann (Colcord) Clark and Mary Cora⁸ Clark (p. 309) in 1881.

In the First Edition there were no descendants of Sarah, Elizabeth or John mentioned, nor in the Second Edition of John, therefore unnecessary columns are omitted. Totals; First Edition, 73. Second Edition, 422. Third Edition, 935.

TABLE III.

Number of persons who have intermarried with the family as enumerated in Tables I and II, including Elizabeth Somerby, our ancestor's wife, viz.: Parts I-III, 386. Part IV, 67. Part V, 10. Parts VI-X, 362. Part XI, 1. Total, 827.

These figures refer to the Third Edition only.

TABLE IV.

Number of parents and other relatives of those persons enumerated in Table III, viz.: Parts I-III, 464. Part IV, 59. Part V, 34. Parts VI-X, 373. Part XI, 9. Total, 939.

Grand total of all persons included in the Third Edition as per Tables I, II, III and IV, with the addition of Nathaniel Clarke, the first, 3,725.

The Index contains the names of more than 4,000 individuals, as there are upward of 300 persons mentioned in this book who are not included in any of the foregoing tables.

The previous editions contained the following numbers of names, classified similarly to those in the tables, viz.:

First Edition. Table I, 624. Table II, 73. Table III, 277. Table IV, 199. Total, 1,173.

Second Edition. Table I, 931. Table II, 422. Table III, 572. Table IV, 489. Total, 2,414.

The Index of the First Edition contained the names of about 1,316 individuals, and the Second Edition about 2,620.

ADDENDA.

THE following interesting items were obtained too late for insertion earlier in the book : —

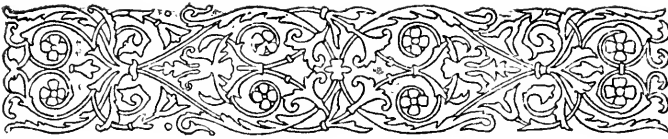

p. 53. Sarah⁴ (Clark) Dole, wife of Benjamin Dole, died 6 May, 1758, in her 43d year, and her gravestone may be seen in the old burying ground on Crane Neck Hill, West Newbury, where are also stones in memory of her husband, son Micah, who was "The first Person Buried | In this Buring Place."; also son Amos, who was a member of the church sixty years, daughter Judith, who was a member of the church seventy one years, son David (the only marble slab in the yard), daughters Jane, Patience and Susanna, sons Oliver and Moses, and daughter Eunice (2 November, 1796). In this yard rest also the remains of Miss Sarah Smith, died 27 February, 1845, aged 85, who was probably the lady from whom Honorable William C. Clarke got genealogical information in 1840. James Smith, died 10 March, 1853, aged 91, was presumably the brother of Sarah, referred to on p. 54 of this book.

p. 122. Apparently the child's name on the monument is Fannie Kimball, although Fanny Kemble, as given on p. 184, is said to be correct.

Attention is called to slight corrections in the text, as follows :

p. 302. Hannah Cook had no middle name, and Cook should be omitted on the last line.

p. 369, thirteenth line. For Belle Glendora Hardy, read Belle Glendora.

INDEX.

In this Index military and other titles are omitted with the exception of that of "Rev." In a few instances, where the Christian name is missing, a military title will appear in the Index. No attempt is made to distinguish between persons of exactly the same name unless "Rev.," "Jr." or "2d" occurs in book.

SECOND ADDENDA.

ALTHOUGH no attempt is made to give adequate biographical sketches of Rt. Rev. Thomas March Clark and his brothers, it seems desirable to add some facts to those stated on pages 327-331, and to correct confusion as to the pastorates of Rev. Rufus W. Clark.

Thomas M. was at Phillips Andover Academy from 25 February 1824 to November, 1824, presumably three terms. After leaving college he was principal of the high school in Lowell, Mass., 1831-33, and in 1833, or the following year, completed his course in the Princeton Theological Seminary. He was licensed to preach by the Presbytery in 1835, and is said to have had temporary charge of the Old South Church in Boston, but was ordained in the Episcopal Church 3 February, 1836, and was the first rector of Grace Church in Boston, 6 (5) November, 1836, where he remained till 1843, when he became rector of St. Andrew's Church in Philadelphia. In 1847 he returned to Boston as the assistant minister of Trinity Church.

The History of the Parish of Christ Church, Hartford, Conn., contains his portrait, that of his brother, Rev. George Henry⁶ Clark, and fac-similes of their autographs. Rev. Thomas M. accepted the invitation to be rector of this church 25 January, 1851, and resigned, as he had been elected Bishop, 3 November, 1854. Rev. George H. was rector of this church 21 June, 1862 (date of acceptance) to 1 March, 1867, when he resigned. For twelve years Bishop Clark was rector of Grace Church, Providence, in addition to his duties as head of the Episcopal Church in Rhode Island.

Rev. Rufus Wheelwright⁶ Clark was at Phillips Exeter Academy in 1828, and later was a clerk in a mercantile establishment in New York city. He was of the class of 1841 at Andover Theological Seminary, and was afterward at Yale Divinity School.

On 7 January, 1842, he was ordained and installed in Washington, resigned the following November, and was installed at Portsmouth, N. H., the 16th of that month and remained there till 1851; installed minister of the Maverick Church, East Boston, 3 December, 1851, "and at his own request, dismissed, on the 8th of April, 1857, very much to the regret of his church, congregation, and society in general." A few days later he was installed over the South Congregational Church, in Brooklyn, N. Y. (Sumner's History of East Boston.) Mr. Clark was one of the school committee of Boston, 1855 and 1856. His pastorate in Brooklyn was from 14 April, 1857, to 17 November, 1862; that in Albany, First Reformed Protestant Dutch Church, from 10 December, 1862 to 1882, when he resigned.

pp. 87 and 89. The following list of baptisms is from the church records of Byfield Parish, Rev. Moses Parsons, minister, as printed in The Essex Antiquarian for April, 1902. Attention is called to Moses, son of Ebenezer Clark, as a possible addition to the list of children on p. 87; also to date of Susanna's baptism, which, if correct, and the identity of the child assured, would prove that she was born prior to 1760:

1745. Elizabeth, granddaughter of Nath¹ Clark, Oct. 6. [See p. 56.] 1754. Micah, of Eben Clark, Jan. 27; Judith, of Stephen Clark, Nov. 8. 1757. Molly, of Eben Clark, Sept. 11. 1759. Susanna, of Ebeneser Clark, Oct. 7. 1764. Anne, of Eben Clark, March 11. 1766. Paul, of Eben' Clark, May 11. 1768. John, of Ebenesar Clark, May 1. 1769. Judith, of Eben Clark, Dec. 24. 1774. Moses, of Eben Clark, Oct. 23.

p. 152. For Harold⁹ Prescott read Harold Prescott⁹ Pond.

p. 330. For Eliza Walton read Eliza.

p. 394. For Benjamin Eugene⁸ Johnson read Benjamin Eugene⁸ Sanborn.
